Cedars-Sinai Medical Delivery Network Leadership Course with CEO Tom Gordon	2014-2016

Leadership Skills

Program Building

- Co-Founder of Cedars-Sinai Urology Residency Program: Recruited 8 faculty members, developed curriculum, serve as clinical and research mentor (23 abstracts presented at AUA 2020), conduct clinical outreach for the Division.
- Founder and Director of ACGME-accredited fellowship program in FPMRS: Established a multidisciplinary training program with specialists in urology, urogynecology, colorectal surgery, gastroenterology, and physical therapy; Secure research and clinical funding for fellows; Obtained and maintain ACGME accreditation; Develop curriculum and didactic schedule

- Founder and 1st Chair of the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center Robotic Steering Committee: Address barriers to efficiency including block booking, expanded robotic usage. Our site became part of the Da Vinci AMP program (with a lease agreement for 4 robots) and now serves as a national Catalyst teaching site.

Formation of Multidisciplinary Research Teams

- Administrative PI of an ARRA-funded multi-site randomized clinical trial involving research teams in LA and Chicago: Coordinated surgical randomization (robotic vs laparoscopic sacrocolpopexy for pelvic organ prolapse), led comparative effectiveness analysis and statistics
- Lead PI for the Cedars-Sinai site of the NIDDK-funded Multidisciplinary Approach to the Study of Chronic Pelvic Pain (MAPP) Network: I oversaw both proteomics and genomics laboratories, which required coordination, data analysis, and budgeting for 5 years
- PI of 4-site human factors research collaboration to improve robotic safety: As lead clinical PI, I implemented the intervention in three Southern California hospitals, mentor the junior PI and researchers, and coordinate the data analysis and budget with the team in South Carolina.
- Co-PI of large epidemiological study of interstitial cystitis/bladder pain syndrome in the VA healthcare through the Durham VA. From Los Angeles I lead all the clinical training, data collection, patient recruitment, and data analysis for the team.
- 16 years of experience analyzing secondary/claims-based datasets as part of collaborative research teams across the country

Clinical Operations

- Co-manage our division's practice, including staffing, addition of mid-level providers, surgery scheduling, office templates, and incorporation of scribes and telemedicine
- Work closely with CAO of our delivery network in developing RVU targets, budgeting, and bonus structure
- Expansion of our FPMRS division into a second site, Cedars-Sinai Marina Del Rey Hospital, including practice building, staffing, and door-to-door clinical outreach
- Increase market share in a hybrid private/academic health care system
- Primary care interventions for improving management of benign urologic diseases (medical group)
- Hospital QI interventions including streamlining post-operative outpatient voiding trials and standardizing inpatient voiding trials

| Title: Human Factors and Systems Integration in High Technology Surgery (HF-SIgHTS) | |
| Role: Principal Investigator (Catchpole/Anger/Cohen) | |
| We seek to conduct a 4-hospital intervention that applies a human factors research approach to improving safety and efficiency of robotic assisted surgery. The intervention will include testing new approaches to teamwork training, task design, and workspace management, with the goal of improving our understanding of how innovative surgical technologies can be safely integrated within complex clinical work systems. | |

| Title: A practice-based Intervention to Improve Care for Women with Urinary Incontinence | |
| Role: Principal Investigator | |

We developed and pilot tested an office-based intervention to improve incontinence care at the primary care level, with the ultimate goal of improving care, reducing unnecessary specialty referrals, and reducing gender and ethnic disparities in care. The methods apply a combination of one-on-one physician coaching combined with academic detailing.

Title: The Epidemiology of Interstitial Cystitis in a Nationwide Multiethnic VA Cohort

Role: Principal Investigator (Freedland/Anger/Kim)

Our goals in this proposed study are to estimate the US nationwide prevalence and incidence of interstitial cystitis (IC) using a large, heterogeneous cohort from the Veterans Affairs healthcare system, the largest integrated health care system in the US. We are also prospectively enrolling subjects to identify the impact of IC on individual health and test the value of a specific set of urine biomarkers to diagnose IC.

Title: Understanding Bladder Health through Social Media

Role: Principal Investigator (Anger/Spiegel)

We seek to complement the work of the PLUS network and better understand the spectrum of bladder health through the use of digital ethnography, a technique that allows direct access to free-range patient perceptions using social media analytics. Social media digital phenotyping will reveal previously undiscovered information about normal and abnormal bladder behavior that is not currently available in the scientific literature.

Title: Microbiome and Proteome as Predictive Biomarkers of UCPPS

Role: Principal Investigator (Anger/Freeman/Kim)

I am the administrative PI for the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center site for the Multidisciplinary Approach to the Study of Chronic Pelvic Pain (MAPP) Network. At present we are phenotyping patients with urogenital chronic pelvic pain syndromes (UCPPS) using advanced proteomics technologies. We have also begun to identify disease-specific changes in commensal bacterial and fungal communities in urine in UCPPS patients using Next Generation Sequencing.

Title: A Noninvasive Urine Marker of Interstitial Cystitis

Role: Co-Investigator (Kim)

This study seeks to quantify potential biomarkers for IC. We aim to determine the epigenetic regulation on expression of the cannabinoid 2 receptor (CNR2) and to qualify the promoter CpG methylation levels of CNR2 that predict diagnosis of IC.

Title: A Prospective, Non-Randomized, Parallel Cohort, Multi-center Study of the Solyx™ Single Incision Sling System vs. the Obtryx™ II Sling System for the Treatment of Women with Stress Urinary Incontinence

Role: Co-Investigator

This multi-center study sought to compare the treatment device (Solyx) to a different mesh sling or control device (Obtryx II) for the treatment of stress urinary incontinence. Safety information and patient outcomes were collected for three years and evaluated. Recruitment has been completed.

Title: Collection of Long Term Patient Outcomes Data Following Implantation of AMS/ASTORA Surgical Devices

Role: Principal Investigator

This multi-center registry study allowed AMS/ASTORA to track the safety and effectiveness of their products for the treatment of urinary incontinence and pelvic organ prolapse in both the short and long term. We collected information on patient symptoms, physical exam, quality of life, as well as surgical outcomes and complications. Recruitment was completed, though the study was stopped due to company dissolution.

Role: Principal Investigator (Anger/Kenton/Mueller)

This is a multiple PI randomized clinical trial performed at UCLA, Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, and Loyola University Medical Center in Chicago. Patients were randomized to undergo laparoscopic vs. robotic approaches to sacrocolpopexy for vaginal prolapse. Outcomes were compared with respect to costs, convalescence, return to normal activities, post-operative pain, complications, and wound appearance.
