

Limitations: The adverse event and product problem reports contained in this record are not necessarily causally related to (caused by) the reported product, nor do they mean the product was defective. Consumer complaints involving animal foods are received by FDA through voluntary reporting systems. Not all reports undergo follow up actions by FDA; however, each report received is important to FDA as part of our ongoing surveillance efforts related to pet food safety. Trends in reporting can provide an early warning of emerging safety issues of concern.

Other limitations:

- For any given report, there is no certainty that the reported pet food caused the adverse event. The adverse event(s) reported may be more related to an underlying disease, condition, or concomitantly administered medication.
- The report narratives are provided in the form in which we received them, the quality of the information provided about the adverse event/product problem is dependent on the quality of the information received from the veterinarian and/or pet owner.
- Adverse event report numbers should not be used to calculate incidence rates or measures of relative risk. It is not data from a controlled study, and there is no accurate way to know the true size of the population exposed to a product, nor the true population affected with an adverse event.
- Adverse event data should not be used to compare the safety of different products. Many factors can influence reporting, and products that are more widely distributed or sold in greater volume may have more reporting than those with limited distribution or sales. Products for which there has been recent publicity may experience more reporting for a period of time afterwards. Underreporting is also common with adverse event reporting systems.

EON

Displaying 352 issues at 10/Jun/22 08:33 AM.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66787	4/27/2011 0:10	Purina Fit & Trim	(b) (6) diet consists of 2 feedings per day, 1 cup per feeding of Purina Dog Chow however on (b) (6) (b) (6) ingested 2 cups of Purina Fit & Trim from our other dog's (b) (6) bowl. Event: We purchased new bag of Purina Fit and Trim on 4/21/2011 from Walmart (b) (6) (b) (6) on (b) (6) other dog, (b) (6) was taken to the Vet. ill. The morning of (b) (6) we found (b) (6) dead from ingesting the Purina Fit & Trim dog food left behind from (b) (6) bowl. On (b) (6) we called vet. and notified them of the death of (b) (6) and informed them of our suspicion of an adverse event from the dog food and the related illness to (b) (6) We did not take (b) (6) o the Vet.
EON-66786	4/26/2011 23:45	Purina Fit & Trim	(b) (6) diet consists of 2 feedings per day, 2 cups/per feeding of Purina Fit and Trim. Purchased new bag of Purina Fit and Trim on 4/21/2011 from Walmart, (b) (6) (b) (6) was fed 2 cups of food from the newly purchased bag on 4/22/2011. Morning of 4/23/2011 we found (b) (6) very sick and unable to move or get up. We immediately took her to the Vet. where they started her on an I.V., sent blood for testing and injected her with antibiotic and inflammatory medication. (b) (6) remained at the Vet. for 3 full days. On the morning of (b) (6) we found our Australian Shepherd (b) (6) dead. During the previous morning 4/23 we put Purina in (b) (6) bowl however when we found her ill we immediately took her to the Vet. not realizing that (b) (6) would ingest (b) (6) bowl of food.
EON-66776	4/26/2011 11:23	evolve (and many others)	I am (b) (6) at (b) (6) There is an VERY bad mouse/rat infestation problem here. Many of the dog food bags have been ripped into by mice and they are nesting and having babies in the bags of food. If QC does not catch these bags before they get sent out, they will go directly to consumers via mail. I have witnessed this personally. Furthermore, they are defecating/urinating on product that gets sent to consumers. Feeble attempts are made to have "exterminators" come out, yet it is only window dressing. This morning I reached for a bag of dog food, and it had fresh feces on it. It looked like it could have been a cat, a rat, or some form of large rodent. It was very large. Too large to be mice. There are however, mice dropping all over the product in various rooms. (b) (6) caught a skunk in a live trap a few weeks ago, but they don't do anything to clog up the holes where these animals continue to come in. I think it is very appalling, and disgusting. I took photos of MANY piles of feces if you wish to see them. All of (b) (6) are sick of seeing it and smelling it. This can cause potential diseases. We want this stopped before we get ill. thank you.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66687	4/25/2011 12:25	Healthy Hide triple flavor chews, Healthy Hide triple flavor bones	During the two weeks that the animal consumed the product, she began vomiting on occasion, increased her water intake, and decreased her urine output. Within a day of ceasing the dog treats, she began to return to normal.
EON-66665	4/25/2011 7:04	Pedigree Choice Cuts in Gravy with Beef	While opening a can of Pedigree dog food the lid exploded off the can and the bottom of the can expanded outward. The food was bubbling.
EON-66628	4/21/2011 17:15	Vitality Minis Chicken Breast with Flaxseed & Vitamins	(b) (6) was hesitant to eat so we took her to the vet on Saturday, March 12, to have her blood work done. It didn't show any specific problems but the vet put her on antibiotics. (b) (6) started throwing up her pills and food on Tuesday, March 15, so I took her back to the vet on Wednesday, March 16. The vet suspected a blockage, so she took x-rays. The x-rays showed two round shiny objects in her stomach that looked like metal objects. Thinking she ingested something foreign, the vet did emergency surgery. The only contents in (b) (6) stomach were two small round undigested dog treats that had been given to (b) (6) on Monday, March 14. We had been giving her these treats on-and-off for about a month. The vet had never seen treats show up on an x-ray looking like metal. It turned out we did emergency surgery for nothing causing additional unnecessary stress on (b) (6)
EON-66599	4/20/2011 23:38	Hill's Prescription diet dog food W/D for diabetic dogs. My dog was not diabetic but they told me it didn't matter.	(b) (6) woke up as usual...no signs of anything. My dog went to potty and came back in to eat. He ate and then went back out with my husband and went as normal to poop. He normally comes right back inside, but my husband found him lying down. He went to him and he would not get up. My husband helped him up and he got enough strength to get in my Hummer to go to the vet. I rushed him to the vet and he was not breathing well. They took xrays and also took his blood and it came back normal. They said that they needed to do exploratory surgery. They had to get him up on a stretcher as he could not get up. They rushed him back to surgery. About 30-45 minutes later they came back and told us that he didn't make it. They said his spleen was 10x the size it should have been and that he had cancer. They asked if he had any symptoms, and we told them that he was normal and playing the night before. He was normal that day, until this happened. The kicker is that he just had his shots 3 weeks before that and we also paid extra for them to do blood work on him to make sure that he didn't have anything wrong with him...everything came back normal. The vet could not believe that it was (b) (6) lying there, because she said that she just gave him his shots and blood work 3 weeks ago, and that he was a very healthy dog. I know in my heart from doing research that his dog food caused him to have cancer. The first ingredient was corn. I didn't know that corn is a no-no for dogs. Online I read that people who gave their dog the same food thought that their dog died of cancer from the dog food. On the sight every dog died from cancer after awhile of eating this dog food. The name of the food is: Hill's Prescription Diet W/D dog food.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66567	4/20/2011 17:37	Pedigree Dentastix tarter control	I only contacted the manufacturer, not the distributor. I purchased Pedigree Dentastix which is a new product on the market. They come four in a pack, long sticks, not bones but sticks. This was for my medium size dog, shephard mix. I bought the product about two weeks ago. Went inside for a moment and heard choking or hacking. The Dentastix are supposed to help with tarter on the teeth. Pulled open my dogs mouth and there was the stix turned horizontally in my dogs mouth pretty well stuck. Halfway almost to the end of the tongue. I pulled it out and turned out it looked like a glue substance or hard wheat glue based material and it came out as a whole. Then tried to just break it up easily but it did not crumble but had to sort of force it to break up in little pieces. When you chew a carrot or cracker it breaks up right away, in a normal way. This Dentastix has a criss cross on either end and grooves, looks like a concrete barrier? Anyway feel it is dangerous, what if you have a small poodle at the same time where a larger dog is. Noone is home, then somehow the poodle gets ahold of the Dentastix. Then the small tongue gets stuck in back of the Dentastix and the dog chokes, or going down the throat vertical then turns around when stix breaks up? Gets stuck in throat or causes damage to the lining of the throat. What if a child sees the Dentastix and thinks it is to eat because of the look of it? And nobody is home as they buy three or four packs to last awhile. Sits in a cuboard and a child feeds it to his puppy meant for the bigger dog? Does not look like a bone? Also the human teeth in a dogs mouth when you pull up www.pedigree.com on the website, Dentastix pops up. What message is that sending to the public everywhere to see? Look at us and all the profit? Customers who go to pedigree.com and manage to talk to someone, will be given a coupon or want the barcode or package and lot number for that particular one that they bought, for a refund. It goes no further than the customer rep over the phone. Just waiting for a product recall then will try something new. Preservatives, colors, wheat and glue?
EON-66566	4/20/2011 17:02	Wellness Beef & Chicken Formula	Cat (b) (6) was vomiting often, lethargic, bad breath, sore on her abdomen, elevated temperature and had behavior changes. (b) (6) did xrays and blood-work. They found elevated liver levels. With antibiotics, anti nausea meds and antacids they were able to bring (b) (6) back to a normal state of health. Vet advised several cats currently in the hospital had similar symptoms and were all fed Wellness canned cat food. (b) (6) did not believe it was a thiamine deficiency as per Wellness' other recall. (b) (6) filed a claim with FDA: 227807A.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66548	4/20/2011 10:11	Hills Prescription Science Diet UD	We purchased dog food from our vet on January 21, 2011 and I noticed it had a strange odor to it and gave the dog bad breath. Apporximatly 3 weeks after starting the food I took her to be groomed and her groomer called me concerned about her weight loss. Within a few weeks after starting the food she started eating less and less and then started getting severe vomitting and diarrhea. Took her to the vet for exam, had fecal test, blood test, physical exam, found she dropped from 6 lbs to 4.6 lbs. Went thru several weeks of testing and different antibiotics. Approximately 3 weeks into testing I found a little reddish copper worm looking bug in the food dish, upon looking around further, I found several more of the bugs around her bedding and her dish. I took it to the vet and he did not recognize it as anything he has ever seen. He stated it could have come from the food, stop giving her the food and get a new bag. I felt she may have worms of some sort and it turned out she did but it was the tape worm and not the worm found by the food. She was medicated for this. She continued to be sick and he recommended an endoscopy for her at which point I took her to another Vet who did some exams and also did not recognize the little worm bug that was in and around her food. This vet recommended an ultra sound and it does show she has a mass on her bladder but the Vets do not feel this has anything to do with her vomittig and diarrhea. They stated it would affect her Urethra and urination process and not the digestive tract. The internalist who did the ultra sound stated it would not be good to have an endoscopy because she is much to fragile with her illness. We do not know what is causing her illness but with the unidentified bugs around her food I believe it to be with the food.
EON-66536	4/19/2011 19:08	Blue Wilderness	I bought a bag of Blue Wilderness Cat Food on 4/2/11 and on
EON-66520	4/19/2011 15:33	Smokehouse Chicken Breast Strips	Our dog developed a UTI. Vet determined there was glucose in urine, but not blood. Follow-up tests confirmed Fanconi Syndrome. Fanconi Syndrom is not know to affect Akitas (not genetic). In researching the disease, we found out about a link between chicken jerky made in China. We had been feeding the dog Smokehouse brand Chicken Breast Strips made in China for about 3-4 months around 3-4 per day. We have purchased 3 or 4 16oz bags. Smokehouse Chicken Breast Strips (most recent pack is SKU 7856585808 - Lot EJ282 Exp. 04/2012 purchased at a HEB grocery store (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66497	4/18/2011 19:59	Virbac "C.E.T. HEXtra Premium Chews with Chlorhexidine for Dogs"	We purchased Virbac "C.E.T. HEXtra Premium Chews with Chlorhexidine for Dogs" from our veterinarian for our seven year old poodle. She enjoyed the chews until one day while munching on the chew, she seemed to be having a seizure. Upon examination we found a piece of the chew lodged in her throat and we had to manually extract it. We decided to allow her to continue eating the chews but, only during close observation. Today, while attempting to eat the chew she once again exhibited great distress and quickly dislodged a piece of the chew on her own. The piece had a VERY sharp edge which could have caused serious injuries to her esophagus or throughout her GI tract if she had swallowed it. Needless to say, we tossed the remaining chews into the garbage. There are NO warning signs on the package to alert consumers of the potential for choking or other injuries. I sent an e-mail message to the Virbac Corporation Office and hope they take corrective actions. Please investigate this issue and take corrective action before a serious injury or death to an innocent dog occurs. Thank you for your time and consideration of this serious issue. You may contact me via email or phone at anytime.
EON-66458	4/18/2011 13:58	Not on package but in item description when purchased 5 Peanut Butter Apple Cookies with carob drizzle	Purchased several types dog treats online at http://www.etsy.com/shop/FamousPawsBakery. When received them I see that most are not labeled with the ingredients. The treats are in cellophane treat bags and tied with raffia (not sealed). Some of the treat bags simply have a label stating "Famous Paws Bakery 724-689-6993 http://www.etsy.com/shop/FamousPawsBakery."
EON-66454	4/18/2011 9:43	Purina Pro Plan Weight Management	My wife and I returned home from an overnight visit to a relative and our cats were in good spirits. We noticed that they had not eaten much of the food that we left them. It looked as though one of the cats had eaten a few bites and then left the rest alone. The next morning, we were woken up by one of the cats letting us know that the other was in trouble. (b) (6) the effected cat, was vomiting in the litter box and defecating at the same time. He then began to stumble and fell over, urinating and vomiting on himself and then foaming at the mouth. All veterinary hospitals werre closed so we had to just sit and watch out cat as he went through this. Unsure what the problem was, we tried to clean their dishes and refill the food but the other cat knocked the food bowl and water over when the Purina was replaced.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66453	4/18/2011 7:09	Purina One Indoor Advantage Adult Premium Cat Food Helps Minimize Hairballs & Maintain Healthy Weight	A brand new bag of Purina One Indoor Advantage was opened and used to fill food bowl. After eating the new food, both cats vomited it up in a nearby room. Did not think much of it, thought it could be the complications of a possible hairball. Cats ate the dry food again about an hour later and proceeded to vomit throughout the house!!! I've had several cats over the past 35 years and have never seen such a mess! I KNEW something was wrong and the only thing that had changed in the timeframe before them getting sick was a new bag of dry cat food. I removed the dry cat food and purchased a different brand. Have had no trouble. I've used Purina One before several times, same variety/flavor, without a problem. Just thinking maybe this bag is bad?!?! I have kept the bag and its contents if you want it? (Note: Submitted one report for both cats as all information is the same with the exception of weight. Other cat is only about 8 pounds. Same adverse reaction.)
EON-66452	4/18/2011 7:08	Beneful Original	On March 28,2011 we purchased a bag of Beneful Original Dog Food from Petsmart as we have for the past 1 1/2yrs since adopting our two Alaskan Malamutes, (b) (6) male age 9 and (b) (6) female age 4. Almost immediately after purchase our female stopped eating the dog food. Thinking she may be pregnant, we were not concerned of her non eating as dogs typically get "morning sickness". Several trips to the vet determined she was not pregnant but she still wasn't eating. The vet gave her two injections to boost her appetite but nothing would make her eat the dog food. Per our vet's instructions we started giving her Karo syrup to provide her the nutrients she needed. Blood work was also done on her to look for clues as to why she wouldn't eat which came back normal. On Thursday April 14 2011 when our male became ill (see report# 1021728) we became suspicious that maybe the Beneful was making them sick. We gave her a bowl of Purina Dog Chow and she started eating immediately. Since then we have switched to Purina Dog Chow and both dogs are now eating recovering from their bout with what we believe is food poisoning from the Beneful.
EON-66451	4/18/2011 7:08	Beneful Original	On March 28,2011 we purchased a bag of Beneful Original Dog Food from Petsmart as we have for the past 1 1/2yrs since adopting our two Alaskan Malamutes, (b) (6) male age (b) (6) and (b) (6) female age (b) (6). Almost immediately after purchase our female stopped eating the dog food. Thinking she may be pregnant, we were not concerned of her non eating as dogs typically get "morning sickness". However over the next two weeks both dogs eating of the dog food diminished. On the evening of Wednesday April 13 2011 our male began vomiting. On Thursday our male was still vomiting and had diarrhea. Taking him to the vet we found that he was running a fever in addition to being lethargic, vomiting, and diarrhea. The vet put him on a 1000mg/day of antibiotics with a limited intake of food. Since then we have switched to Purina Dog Chow and both dogs are now eating recovering from their bout with what we believe is food poisoning from the Beneful.
EON-66450	4/18/2011 7:08	Everpet Dog Food	My dog was fed everpet food for 6 months and he contracted urinary problems, including stones which eventually led to his final diagnosis of failed liver, kidneys and a mineralized ureter. I've read on my webpages of other dogs having most of the same syptoms included death as my dog has had.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66449	4/18/2011 7:08	Canidae All Life Stages	We started our dog on Canidae dog food about 6months ago, she started to get some GI upset but I never put it together with the food. She was treated for an infection from a GI upset estimate 1 month ago. We recently went out of town for one evening and left our dog in her kennel with a dog sitter to come let her out frequently so she could run around. The evening before we left we bought a new bag of canidae food and gave her a serving before we left. We came back the next day and she we not feeling well. When I woke up the next morning she was vomiting her feces and bleeding out her anus. We immediately took her to the vet where they kept her overnight and gave her antibiotics and fluids. The vet asked us if she had been getting into anything like rat poisoning. We explained that we have small children and that there is no poisoning in our home and that she is supervised outside. At this point I still have not put this sickness connected with the food yet. When we got home and almost gave her more of the dog food, I decided that maybe we should try something else and I should research canidae. We now give Science diet and we have our happy and healthy dog back. I looked online and saw some consumer reports that had the same issues as I did with Canidae. I wanted to turn this in for any chance that this dog food could cause this in dogs and get it off the shelf immediately. It nearly killed my dog and according to some consumer reports, it looks like it almost killed other dogs. We store our dog food in another container so received all the package/label information off another bag with the same shipment received at critters pet store on 3/29/11. Maybe I am wrong, but I ask that someone at least test this food and prove me wrong. Thank you!

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66448	4/18/2011 7:08	Pedigree.com dog food Denta Stix new product	Purchased the new Pedigree Denta Stix, advertised on Pedigree.com. Supposed to remove tarter on dogs teeth over time. First time ever used. Heard my dog choking and opened his mouth, the so called stix was horizontal rather than vertical and stuck. Pulled it out. Came out in pieces, looked like glue. If there is a small dog or otherwise, the tongue can get stuck far back and the Dentastix can get stuck not letting the tongue pull forward and the dog can choke to death, maybe this can happen. Or the Denta Stix can go farther down the throat and get stuck horizontal wise, causing damage to the lining as the dog chews the stix in pieces, some larger or smaller than others. Also made out of wheat and preservative (colors etc.) material that is sticky in nature, not good for a dogs organs over time.
EON-66447	4/18/2011 7:08	Iams Healthy Naturals Adult Dog Food	I purchased a 15.5 lb bag of Iams Healthy Naturals Dog Food from Wal Mart (b) (6) on or about April 7, 2011. I opened the bag and fed approximately 2 cups to my dog on the evening of April 8, 2011 around 6pm. I noticed at around 10pm that my dog was shivering although it was not cold in the house. The next morning I found my dog lying on the floor by the bed shivering, dehydrated, and unable to move. I rushed him immediately to the vet's office. The vet took some blood for tests and a stool sample. The dog was not running a fever nor was he vomiting but he had strange colored diarrhea (orange) and a tender abdominal area. He believed the dog may have gotten into something toxic and urged us to search the apartment for something that may have made him sick. We searched thoroughly but found nothing out of the ordinary. He was slightly improved the following day and we took him to the vet again. His blood work was normal but he was put on some antibiotics as a precaution. I was instructed to feed him boiled chicken and rice for the next few days and then slowly introduce his regular dog food back to him. He was improving and on the evening of Monday April 11, 2011 I gave the dog ¼ cup of dog food. Approximately 15 minutes later he began vomiting and convulsing, I called an emergency vet line and was told to remove the food from the house and report it to my vet and the FDA.
EON-66446	4/18/2011 7:07	Purina Beneful Brand Playful Life	Purchased Beneful Playful Life 15.5lb bag of dog food. Fed to (b) (6) on Sunday evening. Violent projectile red vomiting about 1/2 hour after eating and into the next day. The vomit smelled like poop and when cleaning it up, it was consistency of poop, although red. Put her on gut rest, then tried food again Tuesday morning, again about 1/2 hour after eating the same thing. Repeated cycle again Wednesday, the same thing. I then changed her food to Pedigree Complete. She has not vomitted since starting Pedigree Complete Thursday morning.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-66314	4/14/2011 15:08	waggin train chicken jerky treats	dogs were given these treats as a snack and a few days later developed excessive urination and large consumption of water.
EON-66298	4/14/2011 13:53	Purina Pro Plan Salmon & Rice Entree	I opened a can of dog food yesterday evening (Apr. 13, 2011) to feed my two dogs. I found a small piece of rubber stuck to the top of the food. The piece of rubber has the same appearance as a piece of rubber band and can be rolled/bent like a piece of rubber band. It is flat and is a dark royal blue color. It is about a quarter of the size of the end of a pencil eraser. It is somewhat triangular in shape. The food is a can of Purina Pro Plan Salmon & Rice Entree (13 oz.) with a pull top lid. The can and lid did not appear to be damaged or tampered with prior to opening. On the bottom of the can is Best Before Feb 2013 and underneath that date is a list of the following numbers: 10411159 L2DD11349. The numbers underneath the stripes of the bar code are 3810002689. I did not empty the contents of this can (so I do not know if there are any other pieces of rubber in this particular can). I opened up a different brand of food to feed to my dogs. I called Purina (1-800-776-7526) that same evening. I reported the problem to the representative. He is sending me a coupon to replace the product as well as other coupons. He is also sending a collection bag for me to return the rubber piece to them for their investigation. He said I could throw out the can (they did not need the can or food).
EON-65958	4/11/2011 7:07	Eukanuba Mature Care, Eukanuba Adult Sensitive Stomach	(b) (6) our 14 year old male cat who had renal problems died (b) (6). (b) (6) an 11 year old female in excellent health, had to go to emergency room 3/30 after vomiting, rapid breathing, pupils dilated. (b) (6) litter mate--also female and in very good health, except for slight anemia diagnosed in ER, had to go to emergency room yesterday 4/9 with lethargy and abnormal behavior. I have seen all of the cats, approach and walk away from the food (very odd). Today we switched brands to Science Diet (after 14 years) and (b) (6) is now eating again. I believe that it may have been contaminated food that caused (b) (6) to die and (b) (6) and (b) (6) to become sick. These are the numbers on the back of the Eukanuba bags: 220512 22MAY12 10224173 B2 US30940 010412 01APR12 03354173 D3 US30940
EON-65956	4/11/2011 7:07	Blue Buffalo Dry Food for Puppies Lamb & Oatmeal Recipe	had bag delivered to the house. The dog did not seem her usual eagerness to eat. even leaving food in the bottom of bowl... this is not like her. i noticed it seemed off color. i continued to feed the food to her and our other dog, and have noticed both of them with the runs. i have discontinued the use of food and have samples left. i checked the date on the bag and it was valid.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-65953	4/11/2011 7:06	Orbit Sugar-free Gum	The ShihTzu & Sheltie ate a pack of gum, both dogs were taken to the Emergency Clinic. One dog suffered more issues because of the amount he ate. Dogs were then taken to regular vet where the Sheltie was kept for 2 more nights and given medicine. He now has liver issues due to the xylitol.
EON-65913	4/8/2011 15:55	Whiskas Crunchy Meaty Nuggets Chicken & Turkey	Had been feeding Whiskas Crunchy meaty nuggets-chicken & turkey for about a week, then they cats started dying. All four cats died the next week. The cats each seemed fine the day before they were found dead. The inside cat had no contact with the outside cats. It was playful one day and found dead the next day.
EON-65815	4/7/2011 8:06	Rachael Ray Nutrish	Fed both of my dogs Rachael Ray Nutrish/Ainsworth dog food and they both became violently ill the following day with SEVERE diarrhea (with blood) that has lasted for over 48 hours and is still present. (b) (6) is the Chihuahua and my second dog (b) (6) is a Rat Terrier mix, female, 7yrs old and spayed. This was the first time they ever ate this brand. This was way beyond just a normal upset stomach. There is definitely something very, very wrong with this food. I am going to have to take them to the vet as there is no improvement in their condition tomorrow.
EON-65791	4/6/2011 12:37	Natural Choice	Two consecutive mornings before I left for work, approximately 5:45 a.m., (b) (6) vomited her entire evening meal, Natural Choice dry dog food. The food was only partially digested and had the same consistency as it did when I fed her, just a little soft. The first morning I thought she must have eaten something during her evening walk that affected her stomach. The following evening I closely observed her to ensure she did not eat anything while on her walk. When she vomited her evening meal on the 2nd day I became concerned that her dog food may be bad. Her stools were normal before, during and after the event. I scheduled a veterinary appointment with Pet Dominion, her normal vet. They did a complete abdominal exam, ran lab work and all results normal. They gave her an anti nausea injection and we went home. Concerned her dog food was going bad (dry food has a very long expiration date and I keep it in a closed container after I open the bag). I went to PetCo and purchased a new bag of dog food (same brand), a new dog food container and fed her the new food that evening. The following morning and ever since she has been fine. She may have had some form of stomach flu (if dogs get such things), have eaten something that did not agree with her stomach, or it could have been bad dog food. Of note she had been eating from that bag for approximately 1 week before she became symptomatic. I don't want to falsely report bad dog food but others may be experiencing the same problem. The brand of dog food is Natural Choice lamb & rice mix for large breed dogs. It was purchased from Petco in (b) (6) Because the bag was open I had already discarded the bag and do not have lot or batch number available

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-65775	4/5/2011 17:29	Waggin Train Western Grill Lot # J1CA2193A	Approximately two weeks ago, my husband and I began feeding our dog Waggin Train Western Grill treats. The dog typically received 1-3 treats per day for about ten days. At the end of that time he began experiencing the following symptoms: seizures, lack of appetite, vomiting, lethargy, and weakness. He has always been an extremely healthy and energetic dog until the onset of this problem. He is currently having seizures multiple times a day, refuses to eat, and lacks the energy to climb a flight of stairs. My veterinarian gave him an injection to stop the vomiting. She informed me that his red blood cells count are high, as are his liver and kidney enzymes. My dog is currently in the veterinary hospital receiving IV fluids, antibiotics, and B12. I believe the treats are responsible because they are the only new introduction to his diet, and because other consumers have reported the same symptoms after feeding their dogs these treats. My veterinarian believes that the treats are probably responsible although without testing them, no direct link can be established.
EON-65675	4/4/2011 12:44	Paw Naturaw distinct by instinct	I began feeding both of my five year old cats a raw organic petfood diet manufactured by PawNaturaw, purchased through Amazon.com. I began the transition from dry food to raw gradually last Sept., 2010. (b) (6) the cat who got sick) began losing weight at a healthy rate (she was 22lbs to start). I was purchasing the PawNaturaw Medallions, which came in a large bag but in small pieces. Both cats were doing fine. I then in December decided to order the PawNaturaw in the 12 ounce tube, which was a little cheaper. about two weeks later I noticed (b) (6) appetite decreasing and she began to lose on the average of a pound a week. She then began vomiting and stopped eating and drinking all together. I took her to my vet and after extensive testing was told she had bacterial Hepatitis probably caused from the raw diet. At that point I stopped feed the raw diet to both the cats and the sick cat, (b) (6) stayed at the vets for five days. After five days and $300.00 I decided I needed to treat her at Home. (I am a Registered nurse and felt like I could do it. I've treated sick animals at home before) I began giving her subq boluses of fluid twice daily with injections of penicillin in the morning and injections of B12 in the evening. After one week and a return to the vet for more blood testing, I was told she was not better and to continue what I was doing at home. I continued treatment twice daily for two more week, all the while she neither ate, nor drank, nor had bowel movements. She did however continue to vomit 10-12 times a day. after several weeks of this I came home from work one morning and found her unable to walk. She was also confused and at time would hit her head into the wall. That's part of the encephalopathy caused from the hepatitis. I held her and loved her all night. The next morning I took her to the vet and had to put her to sleep. I don't know if this food killed my cat. Thankfully my other cat is healthy. When I contacted the company I got a short email stating that there were no recalls and that no animals had been harmed from their food. I still have the food in my freezer but I don't have any idea how to get it tested. I just want to make sure this doesn't happen to anyone else's beloved pet. Als both of my cats are house kept and have never been outside except in a carrier to the vet. Please help.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-65660	4/4/2011 7:04	Purina Friskies Turkey and Cheese Dinner in Gravy savory shreds	Vomited, lost hair, stopped drinking, lost appetite, became dehydrated
EON-65659	4/4/2011 7:04	EVO Red Meat Formula small bites	Shortly after switching to new food (EVO Red Meat formula, small bites 13.2 lb. sack), dog developed explosive diarrhea. We put her on diet of canned EN but diarrhea continued and loss of appetite followed. Took her to vet and obtained prescription of metronidazole. Digestive tract empty at this point. Next stool came 38 hours after beginning 7-day course of antibiotic and was soft but mostly normal. Subsequent stools normal. Not suspecting the dog food, we again began feeding the EVO product. Again the dog developed diarrhea with gas. Immediately stopped the EVO food and diarrhea ended within 24 hours.
EON-65615	4/1/2011 12:12	Merrick New England Boil food for cats and kittens	I purchased a case of Merrick "New England Boil" flavor moist cat food from a local pet boutique (b) (6) Upon opening one sealed 5.5 oz can, a large piece of plastic material was found INSIDE the can, mixed with the moist food. This is obviously a contamination that occurred during manufacturing, before the can was sealed. The material was similar to the material that is used to shrink wrap cases of food. The size of the material was approximately 1" x 2". Luckily, this was found before my cat could ingest it. As a veterinarian, I am aware that ingestion of this type of foreign material could cause a serious gastrointestinal obstruction in a cat. It also concerns me that quality control of this product may not be good and I wonder what other foreign material might be ending up in this food.
EON-65524	3/31/2011 14:14	Blue Buffalo Small Breed Chicken and Brown Rice with life source bits	(b) (6) suffered a seizure after being on Blue Buffalo Small breed Chicken and Rice dog food since March 7th, 2011. Prior to this issue she had no medical or health issues and the veterinarian believes the seizure to be a result of toxicity due to her prior health and age.
EON-65336	3/29/2011 14:56	9 Lives Daily Essentials Ocean Whitefish Dinner	Upon opening a can of 9 lives ocean whitefish cat food, the product appeared to be moving. It was liquid, as opposed to it's normal pate' appearance, and literally full of maggot like worms. The can showed no indication of leaking, a dent, or swelling. Upon calling the manufacturer, I was told that it was impossible for anything to be alive in it, and the can had probably been dropped, causing a hairline crack, which caused the problem. If in fact that was the case, I feel that there had to be some unprocessed insect eggs in the product which hatched upon exposure to the air. The code on the can was 1003BCA10WD1101, and the sell by date was 01/03/14
EON-65287	3/28/2011 20:39	Exer-Hides Rawhide Chips	All 3 dogs were healthy. All given rawhide chips (Exer-Hides from Wal Mart, RM 108817) and became sick. All had excessive vomiting and diarrhea and has a loss of appetite for over 24 hours.
EON-65207	3/28/2011 12:43	Pablo's Cilantro	On 2/14/11 We received Salmonella tainted Cilantro from Greehfield Fresh located (b) (6) (b) (6) We contacted them and told them of the problem . Thank you (b) (6) (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-65104	3/25/2011 6:45	Evanger's Organix For Dogs Cooked Chicken	I have owned dogs for at least 40 years and in that time have opened tens of thousands of cans of dog food and have never smelled this sort of metallic or petroleum smell that I recently smelled after opening a can of Evanger's Organix Cooked Chicken. I have had other people smell it and they came up with "tangy", "acid". My concern is that the ONLY thing that should be in this product according to the label is organic chicken and well water. I have been in touch with the owner of the company and here is his response: (b) (6) Thank you for the information. I am always interested in the opinions and comments from customers. This helps us to improve our products and often find an opportunity to develop new products. I would not expect for Evanger's products to smell like any other brands products. Evanger's is unique in that we are the only pet food cannery that manufactures its own products. 90% of all other brands are manufactured by only one company. As a result, I would expect for all of their products to be very similar. Our manufacturing process and procurement of raw materials are different than most others. For example, we actually grind our fresh and frozen meat products at our plant at the time of production. Other plants purchase raw materials that are "pre-processed" and then frozen. In other words the plant that utilize the pre-processed ingredients merely "mix" the food the same as everybody else. We believe that our process is one of the key reasons that makes our products superior to all others. I am confident that your dog will appreciate the difference. Anyway, please notify me whenever you have a comment or question." This is totally unacceptable as far as I am concerned. My original intent was to find a company to test the food for any petroleum residue but I can't seem to find one. I hope this is nothing but as I said I have never noticed this type of odor which is different from a rotten or spoiled odor.
EON-65067	3/24/2011 12:37	EVO Herring and Salmon Formula Dog Food	New bag of EVO Herring and Salmon Formula food purchased on 3/12/2011 and started feeding it that evening. Sunday 3/13, a little slow to eat, but finished meal, Monday slow to eat, but otherwise BAR, Tues appetite worse, now becoming lethargic and pu/pd. Wed am very lethargic, complete anorexia and vomited 5 times, developed diarrhea later that evening. Labs on Wed am show ALT > 500, afebrile, about 5% dehydrated. IV LRS started and maintained for 48 hours, given Cerenia and started on metronidazole. Bile acids normal, last ALT still > 400. Continued diarrhea and is still taking metronidazole.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-65065	3/24/2011 12:17	EVO Herring & Salmon Formula Adult Dog Food	New bag of EVO Herring and Salmon Formula food purchased on Sunday 3/12, transferred to an empty, clean, airtight container and started feeding it that evening. Sunday pm, slow to eat, but finished meal. Monday had to coax to eat, but otherwise BAR. Tues still BAR, but very reluctant to eat am meal and refused pm meal. Did not feed Wed am after other dog in household began vomiting. Wed 3/16, Slight ALT elevation of 133, tbili 1.2, but clearly clinically lethargic. IV LRS started, on fluids for 1 day.
EON-64990	3/22/2011 20:31	Orajin 6 fish plus formula	(b) (6) (1 1/2 yr old MN Boston Terrier, 25 lbs) went to petsitter's house with new bag of dog food. Deveoped diarrhea 12 hours after starting bag of food. (b) (6) was otherwise acting normal and his physical exam was normal. Fecal direct was negative. Not enough feces was available for other tests. On 3/22 (b) (6) diarrhea was unchanged and he was lethargic. Was changed to Baytril by attending veterinarian. (b) (6) (1 1/2 yr old MN Brittany, 60 lbs) got into the bag of food the same evening (b) (6) developed diarrhea, and had vomiting and diarrhea overnight/the following morning. The vomiting was self limiting, the diarrhea continued. (b) (6) was otherwise acting normal and his physical exam was normal. Fecal direct had 1+ campylobacter. There was not enough feces available for other tests. On 3/22 still trying to contact (b) (6) owner. Both dogs were discharged with metronidazole at 20 mg/kg PO BID for 5 days (prior to having results of direct fecal tests).
EON-64985	3/22/2011 20:21	Orajin 6 fish plus formula	(b) (6) (1 1/2 yr old MN Boston Terrier, 25 lbs) went to petsitter's house with new bag of dog food. Deveoped diarrhea 12 hours after starting bag of food. (b) (6) was otherwise acting normal and his physical exam was normal. Fecal direct was negative. Not enough feces was available for other tests. On 3/22 (b) (6) diarrhea was unchanged and he was lethargic. Was changed to Baytril by attending veterinarian. (b) (6) (1 1/2 yr old MN Brittany, 60 lbs) got into the bag of food the same evening (b) (6) developed diarrhea, and had vomiting and diarrhea overnight/the following morning. The vomiting was self limiting, the diarrhea continued. (b) (6) was otherwise acting normal and his physical exam was normal. Fecal direct had 1+ campylobacter. There was not enough feces available for other tests. On 3/22 still trying to contact (b) (6) owner. Both dogs were discharged with metronidazole at 20 mg/kg PO BID for 5 days (prior to having results of direct fecal tests).

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64970	3/22/2011 17:16	Purina Naturals Cat Chow	Purina Naturals dry is our cats' favorite food. We have 17 indoor cats and 6 outdoor cats. We recently (in the last three weeks or so purchased 4 bags of Purina Naturals dry food--large bags) We noticed the cats would not eat the one bag of food. We kept putting Purina Naturals out in their food hopper and bowls but they completely rejected it. They would eat the other brand dry food in the other hopper but not the Naturals. We thought maybe that particular Naturals bag was stale or something wrong with it. We opened a new bag of Purina Naturals--they will not touch it at all either. This is completely strange as this has been their primary food for several years (we supplement with a couple other brands) but this food from these two bag are completely rejected and the bags are brand new. Not even our dog who is a "cat food stealer" will touch the food. The food sits untouched--they walk up to it smell it and back away from it. I noticed when I opened the bags that they smelled "strong" but not what I would describe as foul. We've had a couple cats vomit but I intially attributed to hairballs since we are entering Spring but now I wonder. I am really concerned that there is something wrong with the food. So 17 indoor cats completely rejected the Purina Naturals food, our dog rejected it, and the outdoors/barn cats will eat the other food provided but will eat around the Purina Naturals--we cannot gauge if the outdoor cats eventually do eat it or it the opposums are eating it overnight. Feral/Barn cats don't normally leave food lay around and the plate of Naturals just sits out there. As I said, this is the cats' normal/primary food that they have been eating for years. We called Purina to report this this morning. They told me that they have not changed their "recipe/formula" for Naturals. They did confirm that both bags are from the same plant and were made the beginning of February 2011. The other two unopened bags I returned to Walmart. Purina is sending me envelopes for samples but I had to push for them to test--she didn't seem like she wanted to initially until I said I was going to file a report with the FDA.
EON-64955	3/22/2011 13:00	PetAg Esbilac	I received two baby squirrels from LA County animal control. The person was feeding them Esbilac. They are thin, have diarrhea and smell funny. They gave me the can of Esbilac they were using. It had been stored in the refrigerator. The color is very yellow, it's clumpy and it smells funny. Here is a photo of it compared to a good can http://www.animaladvocates.us/images/esbilacgoodbadcolor.jpg The rancid Esbilac is from Lot HG279OE exp 10/2012. Here is more information I've compiled on this problem. http://www.animaladvocates.us/petagesbilac.htm Note eWildagain's recent lab results. They showed rancid formula besides undissolved particles. I believe they are having the same problems they had in 2009. You already have a few reports on this product. I posted some of your reports in my website linked above.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64877	3/21/2011 7:07	The Goodlife Recipe wholesome biscuits (for SMALL dogs)	In November, bought a bag of Goodlife Recipe wholesome biscuits for small dogs. Found three (3) biscuits connected by/intertwined with two strands of hemp-like rope/strings. Since this purchase I have emailed Goodlife at least six times, called once (never reached a live rep), sent two letters to CEOs (one with an actual treat; the other with a picture of the treats*). Received no response but finally reached someone on the phone (they wanted a picture via email); so I sent the letter with photo enclosed to the "latest" CEO on March 11.* Then on March 12, decided to buy another bag because my dog does like these treats. This time, I found a biscuit with a piece of hard PLASTIC running diagonally through it (you can "slip" it back and forth; I left the biscuit intact). Emailed them of this latest "defect" and the next week, got a call from customer relations regarding THIS issue. Rehashed this whole thing AGAIN and was told I probably wouldn't get a reply from the CEO; I said well, think again. SO, got a call from corporate communications manager (two within two days; one after above conversation, the other after CEO got letter/photo) - Did not talk to her because I'M SO TIRED of repeating this ad nauseam. Also, Mars PetCare has "ignored" me for 4 months so they can wait till I'm good & ready as I get very angry when I talk to these people. As in: corp. comm. mgr. left a message wanting to address "MY" concerns; you'd think it would be THEIR concern. Anyway, that's where we're at right now. But as I told the one girl I talked to, what are the odds that after four months, I am the only person getting two defective bags of biscuits. In other words, just how many more of these dangerous treats are floating around the country. That's all for now; I'm sure I've left off some details but I'm assuming you'll be contacting me?
EON-64713	3/17/2011 19:42	Kirkland brand dry dogfood	Dry dogfood was the only thing fed to the dog per previous owner's vet instructions. Dog had constant diarrhea, gas, bloating, bad smelling B.O. As soon as I discontinued this Kirkland brand of dry kibble, the issue resolved itself overnight.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64705	3/17/2011 16:17	Ware Manufacturing Carrot Salt Lick	my 4 yo female guinea pig choked to death on a piece of salt lick because the salt lick broke into 5 or 6 pieces. The package said that it was safe for guinea pigs to chew. That is only true if: 1) it's too hard to break or 2) it dissolves fast enough in their mouth--neither happened. The guinea pig died on the first day the salt lick was in the cage (it happened in (b) (6), so it didn't take much chewing to break up the salt lick. Ware Manufacturing Carrot Salt Lick, made in China, Ware Mft is in PHoenix AZ, and it was sold to me at a Pet Smart store in (b) (6) Pet Smart and Ware Mfg have been notified, but have not pulled this DEFECTIVE product off the shelf. The product ingredients are not 100% listed, but it does have mineral oil to make the salt hard--but I would presume that would also make it difficult to dissolve in a choking situation, as Pet Smart claims. It did appear hard to me, but it just took a GP pulling it off it's holder and biting into it to break it. Please have this defective and dangerous product pulled off the shelves. I do have the pieces of the salt lick if you would like them.
EON-64703	3/17/2011 15:52	Blue Wilderness Salmon	We usually buy BuleBuffalo Wilderness salmon but the pet store didnt have any so we purchased another blue salmon basic brand. Our dog would not eat it, so we returned it for a new bag of BlueBuffalo Wilderness salmon at a different location of Petco. With in 7 days of the new bag being open we noticed large amounts of drool covering the front part of his kennel and the floor in front of his kennel. I contacted the Vet and was told to make sure he had plenty of water and was not in an area that got too hot. Three days later the drooling was still present and he had developed bad direaha and refused to eat any of his dog food, but would eat other food. I pulled the BlueBuffalo food we were currently giving him and went out and purchased a new bag of dog food, same brand, and picked up some dog medicine for direaha. I contact the VET and they said if it does not clear up in 24 hours to bring him in for testing. I am currently giving him BlueBuffalo Wilderness salmon and he seems to be getting better. I still have the other bag that seemed to be making him sick. I sent BlueBuffalo and email and then later I contacted the BlueBuffalo by phone when there was no response to my email and they said "NO COMMENTS at this time." I provided the following inforamation to Blue - It is the Natural Evolutionay with LifeSource Bits Wilderness Salmon, Best if used by APR 17 B 122218.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64700	3/17/2011 11:46	Gabapentin 100mg capsules/ MFG Amneal	My very old dog (b) (6) was prescribed gabapentin 50mg for neurological pain. The prescription was filled with generic gabapentin and definitely made the dog more comfortable at night as noted by resting/sleeping better rather than being restless and pacing at night, and also licking(a dog sign for pain). We noticed a problem when I got the 2nd refill. The dog was no longer resting well and was up easily 4 to 5 times during the night and pacing. I refilled the prescription on 3/6/11 and started using the medication approximately 3-4 days later. I returned to Walgreens Pharmacy on 3/14/11 and requested name-brand gabapentin and reported the issue to the pharmacist who gave me a partial refill to try the name-brand out. We have used the Neurotin for 3 nights and (b) (6) has rested well, getting up 1 to 2 times per night to stretch or readjust. The medication is once again working. I also emailed the manufacturer on 3/14 regarding the medication (manufactured by Amneal) but have not heard back from them.
EON-64659	3/16/2011 16:38	Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky Treats	After eating the chicken jerkey he became sick, throwing up, very tired, out of energy, and shaking for at least 12 hours the first two times. The third time is when we put it together when a visiting dog, Midnight, and our dog both got sick after eating the treats with the same reactions: throwing up, out of energy and totally down for the count.
EON-64505	3/14/2011 22:11	Wellness canned chicken food for cats	Opened a can of chicken Wellness for my cats and noticed a small square of something. WHen i took the piece out, it appears to clearly be a piece of onion. Onion is extremely toxic to pets and is not on the label.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64504	3/14/2011 21:26	WELLNESS TURKEY & SALMON FORMULA	I purchased the Wellness cat food wanting to avoid another cat food problem. I lost my last cat to the Chinese cat food in 2007. I wanted to be sure I was providing the safest food available this time around and settled on wellness thinking it was the best option. After feeding the wellness cat food to (b) (6) I noticed her one vomiting one morning. She has been very healthy and never goes out of the house. I began to think not again. During that day (b) (6) continued to vomit all day and I stopped feeding her the wellness for a week or so. She got better and so I began feeding her small amounts of the same food with dry food to see what would happen. She was no longer showing any signs of vomiting so I figured that what ever it was must have passed. But later I noticed her gulping or swallowing for no reason while sitting with me. I never noticed her do this in the past 4 years and I spend allot of time with her. She is like my shadow in the house. This gulping has baffled me ever since the vomiting happened. My first purchase of wellness cat food was in a local Petsmart store. The same store that sold the Chinese poison to me that killed my beautiful (b) (6) I will never forgive The Chinese for that and if my (b) (6) falls from this latest revisit to bad pet food I do not know what I will do. I am extremely angry and demand that everything be done by the FDA to punish everybody involved in this new disaster. I paid a high price to protect my cat from cheap and dangerous food and still ended up receiving poison, only this time it is labeled as the best. This cat food is the most expensive on the store shelf. I know the manufacture is making good money off of all the pet owners that had the deadly experience of bad cat food on 2007. There is no excuse for what has happened. Wellness needed better quality control and failed to put it in place. The FDA needs to take a very large bite out of this manufacture's ass and make an example out of them. I and many others believe that wellness knows more and is in damage control. I hope we are wrong and the worst has passed. I will be taking my cat in to my vet to perform tests soon. Also I was asked several questions when I called the manufacture and one was did the cat have other food available besides the food in question. I made the mistake of saying yes. There was a bout a week or so where all (b) (6) ate was the canned food in the recall. She liked it so much that I figured that if it the best food for her I will not give her the dry food any longer. Later I decided to put dry food out again so that she would have something to help keep her teeth clean. I noticed her eating the dry food only if the canned food was not available to her after she finished it. So, I did have a period of about a week or two where (b) (6) ate only the recalled food.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64461	3/14/2011 10:30	Kibbles n' Bits Brushing Bites	For about six months I fed my dog Brushing Bites dog food, to improve his breath. He loved the food so I kept giving it to him. However, after about 2 months, he started having regular seizures. I kept feeding him his food since I assumed the siezures were due to epilepsy or old age. And these were hard siezures -- which he had never had before where he literally would be frozen for an hour and hot, often losing control of his bowels. However, after I found Brushing Bites was not carried by Pick N' Save in my town anymore in (b) (6) around January of 2011, I was forced to switch to a new dog food from Purina -- a fit and trim variant. For two months now, my dog has had not one seizure ever since he stopped eating Brushing Bites -- literally a week after he stopped eating that stuff there was no seizure and still none. My dog however, seems to have a much lower appetite for hard dog food -- but it could just be related to the switch and taking his favorite stuff away. I wanted to lodge a complaint because of the dramatic change in my dog's health coinciding with his dietary change. I suspect there is something in that food causing problems and I want other people to know about it.
EON-64460	3/14/2011 10:25	PURINA Firskies cat food Seafood Sensations	Symptoms: Sneezing and vomiting after eating the cat food

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64455	3/14/2011 7:04	Wellness Healthy Weight	Two days after I started feeding my cat, (b) (6) WellPet's Wellness Healthy Weight dry cat food she exhibited symptoms consistent with thiamine deficiency. She presented on 3/8/11 with ataxia, had no appetite, her vocalization (which had previously been lively though not excessive) decreased to nearly nothing, became extremely lethargic, and had aggressive behavioral changes. Early that evening I took her to emergency care at VCA (b) (6) (b) (6) Animal Hospital where she was examined by (b) (6) and had blood work done. The results of the blood work indicated that she was (and is) in good health so no diagnosis was made though I suspected that her food may have had something to do it; I did relate this to (b) (6) I was given pain medication, Buprenor, to give (b) (6) every 8-12 hours. I fed her Chicken flavored Greenies through the night and into the next morning until I could go to a pet store Healthy Pets Northwest-that carried high-quality dry cat food. Once there I discovered-I saw the posting-that WellPet had recalled some of its canned wet food due to insufficient thiamine in the food. The list of symptoms of thiamine deficiency (vitamin B1) listed were consistent with (b) (6) illness. I purchased Acana dry cat food for her. As soon I returned home I called the VCA hospital and asked if the level of B1 had been tested for in her blood work and was told that it did not. I made an appointment right away with her regular veterinary provider, (b) (6) Veterinary Clinic for the following morning and discussed my suspicion that her illness may be thiamine deficiency. By morning (having eaten the Acana) (b) (6) condition improved; this is another reason why I think that the cause is nutritional and specifically thiamine related. I discussed all of this with (b) (6) during the appointment and she agreed that this was a definite possibility. Before we left, (b) (6) received fluids and an injection of vitamin B complex and I scheduled another appointment for the following morning. In the interim, (b) (6) condition improved greatly: she regained the ability to walk and to climb stairs, her vocalization returned, and her aversion to being picked up disappeared. At the second appointment (today, 3/11/11) (b) (6) noted (b) (6) mprovement and gave her another B complex shot. (b) (6) then gave me a liquid B complex vitamin supplement to give to (b) (6) twice a day.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64285	3/11/2011 12:30	Wellness- Cat Food-Turkey Formula	Began refusing food in first week of December and increasingly lethargic (b) (6) began staying in her bed for long periods of time with blank staring look on face. Her pupils were wide and appeared unfocused. She was taken to veterinarian (b) (6) after three days of refusing food, eating only very small amounts with a great deal of coaxing. Vet. found no temperature or signs of infection, expressed anal glands and administered a vitamin B12 injection. (b) (6) showed some improvement the following day but then relapsed into previous symptoms. (b) (6) referred us to (b) (6) Animal hospital) for Blood tests. The test results were unremarkable showing no detectable issues. (b) (6) thought there may be a possible infection from periodontal issues and administered an anti-biotic and sub-Q fluids again (b) (6) improved somewhat for a day or two. (b) (6) was continuing to refuse food and was now pacing around the house, often in circles, with little awareness of location becoming trapped in corners unaware of simply turning around. Arrangements were made with (b) (6) to address periodontal issues on December 23rd. Following this treatment (b) (6) improved again briefly for two or three days, then again worsened to the point we returned to (b) (6) on an emergency visit. (b) (6) was now experiencing significant neurological issues, unsteady walking and falling. Dr. (b) (6) believed there may be some type of cancer at this point saying little could be done and referred (b) (6) back to (b) (6) for possible holistic treatment. (b) (6) was placed on a mixture of herbs by (b) (6) (b) (6) condition continued to worsen through January she was unable to stand or walk an for days at a time and her head began bending over at her neck. She would then improved for very brief periods standing and walking and demanding food. Her weight however continued to decline and she was down to 5 to 6 pounds. (b) (6) continued to decline into February and on (b) (6) was euthanized. Only after Wellness released it's voluntary recall information on it's cat food products did it become clear what very likely lead to (b) (6) death. She exhibited all the symptoms given(except vomiting)of severe Thiamine deficiency. Both (b) (6) stated that thiamine deficiency is very rare and normal blood tests do not screen for it allowing it to go undetected in (b) (6) case. Wellness cat food had been (b) (6) primary diet for several years and I can not offer lot information on previous cans of food, only the most recent purchase which is within the recall. I am concerned that this thiamine issue may go beyond the lots identified and ask the FDA to investigate this matter.
EON-64269	3/11/2011 10:59	Special Kitty Mixed Grill dinner	I noticed that over the last 3 weeks that within a 1/2' after feeding him he would vomit the food right back up. I stopped giving him the canned food in his dry food and this did not happen, however he really doesn't like all dry food that is why i mix it together. Our dog, (b) (6) also likes the special kitty in hers also. And she started vomiting. This AM they both vomited within 10" of eating. I did notice that when i opened the can of mixed grill yesterday i thought it had an off oder, but then i think all the canned food does. (b) (6) the cat, is an outdoor cat but I do feed him and the dog indoors so i can monitor their eating and we live on a farm so i don't want to attract wild animals.
EON-64243	3/11/2011 0:48	PURINA BUSY ROLLHIDE	OPENED THE PACKAGE OF ROLLHIDE TREATS AND FOUND ONE OF THE 3 HAD PIECES OF PLASTIC ROPING STICKING OUT OF THE BAKED-IN MIDDLE PART.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64206	3/10/2011 14:36	Pur Luv Mini Bones for small dos peanut butter flavor	Called Sargant' s @ 800.224.7387 inquiring about caloric content of their product Pur Luv Mini Bones peanut butter flavor UPC code 0 73091 82288 2. After further checking they advised me they do not do any testing on this product and couldn't provide any specifics. I asked then if they are the supposed manufacturer how do they determine the values of protein, fat, or rank order of ingredients and fiber that they claimed on the package. Again the representative stated they do not test this product. I purchased the product from PetsMart. I contacted PetsMart headquarters and advised them of my experience and they also said they don't know how the values are determined by Sargant's. PetsMart indicated that they would pass on for further review. I believe that pet food manufacturers should report the same kind of information as food products sold for human human consumption. At this point I don't trust either Sargant's or PetsMart to take any action.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64192	3/9/2011 21:54	Wellness Grain Free	On or about February 20, 2011 we noticed that our 16 year old cat, (b) (6) was acting slightly different. She was sneezing, had watery eyes, had less energy, was very unstable in her movement, walking as if "drunk", and was isolating herself which was very uncharacteristic of her normally extroverted social behavior. Prior to and during this time, she was exclusively eating Wellness canned food in different flavors. She was not supplementing her diet with any other food like dry kibble. On February 26, I spoke to my veterinarian and she recommended I bring her in on Monday, February 28 for a check and blood screening since it had been a year since she last had lab work. On February 28, I took her to the doctor. She had dropped 2 lbs since her last appointment 12 months ago. The doctor observed the behavior I had described and also determined that (b) (6) was dehydrated. The doctor was able to get enough blood to do an in-house blood test. The blood test showed that (b) (6) kidney values were elevated, which would not be abnormal in a cat her age. We started (b) (6) on subcutaneous fluids in hopes to flush the kidneys and it was recommended I watch her carefully. (b) (6) still had an appetite so I continued feeding her the Wellness canned food, unaware that the food had been recalled. During the next three days, (b) (6) continued to eat the Wellness canned food when it was placed in front of her. She would not go to her bowl on her own. She continued to isolate herself and would only periodically come out when she had to go to the bathroom. During these times, we observed her health severely deteriorating to the point she could not walk straight. She would shake her head and fall over. At the time, we thought that she was in renal failure and the fluids were not helping her to improve. It got so bad on (b) (6) that we made the heartwrenching decision to euthanize her. Today, March 9, 2011, I was made aware of the Wellness recall. In retrospect, all indications now point to thiamine deficiency as (b) (6) had all the neurological symptoms. Had we known about the recall and had stopped feeding her the Wellness and given her thiamine treatment, we strongly feel she would still be here with us. I have contacted Wellpet, my veterinarian, and the retail store where we purchased the Wellness. Although we no longer have the empty cans of food, I do have a receipt dated February 27, 2011 showing the purchase of Wellness canned food. The retail store has also confirmed they pulled affected cans off their shelves when it was recalled. Had we known of the recall, we would have pursued treatment for thiamine deficiency and not euthanized her until we could conclusively determine the cause of her illness. As I stated, this was the only food that (b) (6) was eating and within a (b) (6) she went from relatively healthy to now deceased. The heartache we feel is indescribable.
EON-64190	3/9/2011 20:18	Fussie Cat Chicken with Vegetables	To Whom It May Concern - I have been referred to the FDA by a state agency in regard to this issue. The purpose of my inquiry comes from concern that a food, brand named Fussie Cat by Pets Global, is misleading consumers with false labeling claims. Their label claims Product of the USA while being made in Thailand. The label also claims "Prevent Urinary Track Infection" with no substantiation on their website. One of my largest concerns is that people will eat it as they claim "Human Grade" on their packaging.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64157	3/9/2011 14:28	(b) (6) (various raw grinds & veggie purées I don't remember the exact names)	I've been purchasing pet food from (b) (6) Naturally in (b) (6) or some time now. Last year they stopped carrying my favorite brand of raw dog food and replaced it with raw food with their own labels. The owner (b) (6) assured me that his food was just as good as the brand he had replaced and I reluctantly agreed to try it. Once I started feeding it, however, my dog started having serious diarrhea and refused to eat, so I stopped feeding any of the (b) (6) label products I had purchased. I wanted to look into what might have caused my dogs diarrhea, but none of the (b) (6) products had proper ingredient labels or nutrition facts. When I started to ask around I discovered that the (b) (6) food was not packaged by a pet food company for them as I had originally thought, put was packaged by (b) (6) employees in the back warehouse, the same warehouse that they keep dogs in for their doggie daycare. The "room" that they process the food in is separated from the dogs by only some wire fencing. I am very concerned about the hygiene of their food processing and that their foods are not up to quality standards. Some of their products are labeled as organic as well, and after hearing all that I'm wondering it is even true. I would appreciate it if this was looked into. My pet didn't get sick enough it required a vet visit, but I feel it is only a matter of time.
EON-64150	3/8/2011 17:19	Greenies Joint Care	We gave (b) (6) one of the Greenie Joint Care Treats on the evening of March 3rd 2011. The very next morning he began vomiting blood and was in distress. We took him to the vet where the xray revealed that part of what appeared to be the treat was stuck in his stomach. After 4 days of IV therapy and special care the obstruction moved in to his small intestine and he started to excrete the object. The first "green piece" was observed by the vet on the Morning of March 8th. He is no off the IV but on a special diet and oral antibiotics.
EON-64148	3/8/2011 16:14	Innova Adult Dog Food - Small Bites	(b) (6) has been eating Innova dry dog food most of his life. He was on Innova puppy as a puppy and switched to Innova small bites dry at age 1.5. Recently he has had serious problems with pancreatitis. At the time the pancreatitis was diagnosed he was eating Innova small bites dry dog food. I read online reports about Innova having black spots and white chunks in the kibble and those spots having tested positive for acetaminophen and cyanuric acid. As soon as I found this out, I checked (b) (6) dry kibble that he was eating and saw it has black spots and white chunks in it. I'm now wondering if his food is contaminated and if that is really the cause of his digestive problems or the cause of his pancreatitis.
EON-64129	3/8/2011 10:53	Hollywood Stars Yogurt Flavored Treats	Animals were given a new treat, Hollywood Stars Yogurt flavor Dog Treats- Joint health formula, that were purchased at Wal-Mart. Within 2-3 hours, 3 of the dogs vomited and had abdominal distension. The Rottweiler suffered a gastric volvulus and was euthanized.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-64079	3/7/2011 7:11	Blue Buffalo Wilderness Dry Dog Food Chicken Formula	Both of my dogs have been on Blue Buffalo Wilderness Chicken formula for about a year. In that time, they have each had concomitant bouts of very bad diarrhea that usually resolves (with medication). This time, on this last batch of food (fed for 3 day and purchased on 2/24/11), each dog became increasingly lethargic and had diarrhea with blood and mucous that would not resolve. The stools samples sent to a lab came back clear of any parasite. The x-rays showed malabsorption and major irritation. Dogs continued to be sick for a week---I combined their BB food with rice, pumpkin, and fresh boiled chicken to calm their GI tracts but so long as I included BB, they remained sick. 24 hours after switching to another food, both dogs had healthy stools. 4 days later, on the new food, still no problems. Other users of BB have reported very similar stories to mine, but there is no recall yet of this food.
EON-64078	3/7/2011 7:11	Wellness Grain Free Turkey Formula - Canned Cat Food	Add'l added information re Wellness canned cat food recall. i had purchased 3 cases of Wellness grain free canned cat turkey flavor over 3 weeks ago. Within one week following, my cat became severely constipated, started having gastrointestinal issues, and although a stabilized diabetic, she began to become hypoglycemic, drunkenness, glossy eyed, lack of energy, fatigue, depressed. Her BG ended up in the low 60s. After starting her on a vitamin supplement to correct the thiamine deficiency in the food, she started to come out of this. In addition, Wellness did nothing to assist me in locating cases of this food that were outside of the expiration dates. You cannot change a diabetic cat's food within one day of a recall without suffering consequences. In addition, my vet and I thought it was the insulin, which I ended up throwing away b/c of her symptoms and purchasing another vial. It was not the insulin, it was the lack of thiamine in the food. Her stools became black and tarry in color, and very small, like pellet sized. Now that we have hopefully stabilized her and corrected some of the vitamin issues, consumers should be aware. Wellness has made no effort to assist me in locating good lots of food and has no reimbursed me for a perfectly good vial of insulin, understandably, the initial report was in fact, a diabetic cat. The wobbly gate, drunkenness, etc., are classic symptoms of hypoglycemia
EON-64076	3/7/2011 7:11	Purina Beneful brand Dog Food Prepared Meals (Chicken Stew)	Has an absessed tooth
EON-64071	3/7/2011 7:10	Ragu old world style tomato & mozzarella	I was eating spaghetti with ragu sauce on top and choked on a piece of glass.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63955	3/3/2011 22:11	Wellness Turkey	(b) (6) vomited food twice and then had four episodes of vomiting clear fluids with some distress in a period of about two hours. I took him to the Veterinary Referral Emergency Center at about 1 am. He was bright and alert and had no fever with some dehydration. He received subcutaneous fluids and in house chemistry was run (CBC was sent out). His ALT was over 2000. I brought him home and then, 8 hours later, I took him to the (b) (6) Emergency specialists for an ultrasound on the advice of my regular vet, (b) (6) of the (b) (6). The emergency specialists noted a normal liver on ultrasound. The CBC came back with all normal values. (b) (6) ALT values were tested on 2/26 and were 240.
EON-63881	3/1/2011 22:39	Four Paws Pet Dental	I purchased "Pet Dental" by Four Paws company at the local store, New York, NY. I use it once a week for my Dog but I found the color of Gel changed Gray on the last week. The color was clear gel in the beginning. When I purchased this @ Petland Discount, it was no inside Seal, NO plastic cover seal. and I was wondering if this is the right way to sold the dental tooth paste. I contacted Four Paws but no response is available. Their site says they got award proudly but very POOR customer Service. I really don't know what to do with this Dental paste. I don't use this for my dog because I'm afraid of this color. Four Paws didn't give any response.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63871	3/1/2011 16:58	Friskies Poultry Variety Pack	On Friday January 28, 2011, (b) (6) acted very depressed. My daughter who is attending College was home for Christmas break until January 10, 2011. (b) (6) bonded well with her.) When she didn't come home that Friday evening (b) (6) started moping. I thought he was missing her. He ate very little. He refused to eat on Tuesday February 1st and we took him to the vet on (b) (6). Diagnosis was possible Liver Cancer, jauntice, muscles were deteriorating, and he had severe fluid retention. He slipped into a coma on (b) (6) and was euthanized. During the month of January, I had bought two 32 can packages of Friskies Poultry variety pack at Target. Each contained 8 cans of Turkey and Cheese dinner in Gravy, (b) (6) favorite. When I opened a can it didn't have the normal color for the product, but I set out 1/3 can for each of our three animals (2 cats and 1 dog--our dog eats anything) None of them would touch it. They also have a dry food so I just threw the canned food away and kept trying each morning and night to offer them a new can, using different varieties from the packages each day. I then bought another 32 can package later in January and started feeding it to them which they ate no problem, until the day (b) (6) refused to eat. When I came home from work on Saturday February 26 and seen two dishes not touched on my kitchen floor (my husband had offered our two remaining pets a can of Turkey and Cheese from the first case and they both walked away) I started researching and found other people are also experiencing similar problems with their pets. I am not sure if this had any effect on (b) (6) but I would rather report the situation and save other families from going through what we just endured. Even though I said none of the other animal had no issues, our dog who is fifteen has been getting weak for some time now and we have attributed it to her age. I'm not sure if diet has had any impact on her issues, but it may be one reason why she had not been feeling well. She also eats other food beside the cat food.
EON-63809	2/27/2011 20:36	Salmon Jerky Treats for Dogs	Name of the product: Salmon Jerky Treats for Dogs Type of container: bag Product intended to be stored at room temperature & re-seal Lot number: AK206 Expiration date: 8/20/11 UPC code: 8 50538 00490 8 Net weight: 6 oz (170g) Purchase date: 2/27/11 Purchased location: Top food & drug Woodinville store, 17641 Garden Way NE Woodinville WA 98072 How the food was handled: sold at store shelf at pet treat section Description of the problem with the product: full of mold in the bag/ discolored products with white mole/ mold odor.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63808	2/27/2011 9:49	Pedigree chopped combo with chicken beef & liver meaty ground dinner	She was fed her evening meal of small amount of dry dog food and canned food. Both types were the same she has eaten for several months. Within approximately 45 minutes she began vomiting multiple times and then approximately 45 minutes later began several bouts of diarrhea.
EON-63806	2/26/2011 22:08	Eukanuba Adult Maintenance Small Bite	On 12/2/10 purchased #0001901426621 Adult small Eukanuba dog food 20lbs sack code 1901426621 # 99543392 dated 100312 10MAR12 03144173. On 12/3/10 started mixing this new food with her other Eukanuba Pure food. On (b) (6) she started throwing up several times all at once. This contained blood and foam. This all happened very fast. She then went into seizures and was rushed to the vet. Tried to give medical treatment to her but this did not work and she had to be put down on (b) (6) A few days later our Standard Schanuzer (b) (6) was given 1/4 cup of this same food mixed her food for 5 days and she started throwing up the same blood and foam (b) (6) did. At that point I called the Vet and they told me to call Eukanuba and report this. I did call Eukanuba on 12/24/10, 12/27/10 and finally reached them on 12/28/10. They said they had no complaints on their dog food. I requested that this dog food be tested and I would send them a sample and the said no.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63805	2/26/2011 22:08	59 Brands of cat and dog food sold in the United States. Specific brands not published but they are known to SPEX CertiPrep. Please contact them directly.	I am writing to you as a constituent to urge you to take part in becoming an ally in reforming the health and safety of our nations pet food supply. A recently published report revealed that pet food is highly contaminated with alarming levels of heavy metals and toxic trace elements. In this landmark report, Analysis of Toxic Trace Metals in Pet Foods, reveals test results of 59 different pet food samples showed significant concentrations of 15 toxic metals. In each of the pet foods, concentrations of many target elements were found to exceed the extrapolated human limit values calculated to pet-size dosages. The analysis revealed that cat and dog foods are contaminated with toxic elements such as arsenic, antimony, cadmium, lead, mercury, nickel, thallium, thorium, vanadium and uranium at levels that exceed human Environmental Protection Agency Reference Dosage (RfD) values and World Health Organization Tolerable Daily Intake (TDI) values. Arsenic, for example, exceeds the EPA and WHO limits for almost every pet food tested. Lead and thallium concentrations in the majority of the dog food samples, likewise, exceeded either the EPA or the WHO limits. Uranium was found in excess of the WHO limit for all but one sample of dog food. Seven samples of pet food contained significant amounts of uranium from 500 ppb to 1 ppm. The highest level of uranium was 60 times the limit set by the WHO. The study found the average pet food contaminated with toxic elements concentrations which exceed 5 times the RfD limit for uranium, 20 times the RfD limit for arsenic and 120 times the RfD limit for mercury. This shocking information provides American pet consumers, who purchased over $18 billion dollars worth of pet food in 2010, with a snapshot of the overall levels of toxic elements that are being consumed by their pets. The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA) requires that pet foods, like human foods, be safe to eat, produced under sanitary conditions, contain no harmful substances, and be truthfully labeled. Failure to meet these requirements can result in a product being deemed adulterated or misbranded. An adulterated food is one that contains any poisonous or any deleterious substance. (Sec. 402. {21 USC 342} Adulterated Food) FDA compliance policies clearly state that the continued manufacture and sale of these adulterated products are a direct violation of Federal law. I strongly urge you to demonstrate your commitment to the health of America's pets by taking action - require the FDA and the AAFCO to take immediate action - our pets lives are depending on it. American consumers and their pets deserve safe and healthy food. Regards (b) (6) Resident of (b) (6) References Analysis of Toxic Trace Metals in Pet Foods, Part I: http://digital.findanalytichem.com/nxtbooks/advanstar/spectroscopy0111_v2/index.php#/48. Analysis of Toxic Trace Metals in Pet Foods, Part II: http://digital.findanalytichem.com/nxtbooks/advanstar/spectroscopy0211/#/48 The SPEX CertiPrep Trace Metal Analysis of Commercial Pet Food for Toxic Metals webinar is available for download at: http://www.spexcertiprep.com/uploads/PetFood_Webinar_20110210_Final.pdf The video presentation of the SPEX CertiPrep Trace Metal Analysis of Commercial Pet Food for Toxic Metals may be viewed here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=M1dGD6YMOzM The poster abstract of the SPEX CertiPrep Trace Metal Analysis of Commercial Pet Food for Toxic Metals is available for viewing here: http://www.petsumerreport.com/petfoodposter.pdf The authors of the study, Patricia Atkins, William Driscoll, Lazlo Ernyei & Ralph Obenauf of SPEX CertiPrep can be contacted at crmsales@spexcsp.com
EON-63789	2/25/2011 2:50	Pedigree Little Champions	I purchased a box of Pedigree Little Champions packets from Publix grocery store in (b) (6) at the (b) (6) I have already given my pets several packets. On 2/25/11 I opened a packet and the foulest smell emitted from the packet. The meat appears to be rancid. I had to throw the food and the kibble down the garbage disposal because the smell was so bad. I have, however, saved the packet. It is the "meaty ground dinner with beef and cheese". 5.3 ounces. The manufacturers information on the back is included: Distributed by Mars, P.O. Box 683003, Franklin, TN 37068. Best by: 012112 21 3; 038F3KKCUB 0136 1.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63734	2/23/2011 14:15	Waggin' Train Wholesome Chicken Jerky Tenders	Mild kidney insufficiency (mild elevation BUN/CREA and insufficient urine concentration)
EON-63715	2/22/2011 15:06	Drs Foster Smith Cod Fishies for Cats and another is Drs Foster Smith Salmon Fishies for Cats	Have been purchasing Drs. Foster Smith Salmon Treats for 5-6 yrs. Container has info indicating Manufactured in the USA AND a paper label on bottom with Made in USA affixed. My purchase of 6 a couple months ago proved to be unsatisfactory w/the condition of the salmon; i.e. skin and small bones thru it that I never had a problem with in the past. I e-mailed the firm and they allegedly checked with their supplier and then told me that no processes had been changed, etc. Since my cat likes them I recently ordered just small container and THIS time altho the salmon container still had the Manufactured by Drs Foster Smith on it, the paper label indicated Made in China! I e-mailed them asking what's going on, I know the fed laws re country of origin and they were misleading. They subsequently informed me that the fish IS from China and they apologized for the "error". I am awaiting a reply to my last question that I sent yesterday: Why did they begin import from China? AND were the fish always coming from China? The reply today was that the Salmon Treats were manufactured in Canada and the Cod treats from China! The cod container just has the pre-printed info on it stated Manufactured in the USA The salmon treats have the same info on the container but a Made In China sticker on the bottom! All this conflicting info violates the law on proper labeling for country of origin. I no longer plan to buy from them because of all this contradictory fluff. I have the emails I sent to them and their replies and can forward them if you give me the correct email address. If you want the containers with the food I would gladly send them to your office. Company is Doctors Foster-Smith, 2253 Air Park Road, Rhinelander, WI 54501. Tel.:1-800-826-7206

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63688	2/21/2011 18:48	Stella and Chewy's natural goodness for dogs Chewy's Chicken Dinner, Stella and Chewy's natural Goodness for Dogs 100%complete and balanced Chewy's Chicken Dinner for dogs	Notice: You have a glitch in your pull down for the breed ...it stops at the letter B. I purchased Stella and Chewy's chicken dinner 3 lbs. at very end of summer 2010(looking for receipt) from a local pet store that was promoting the product. I kept it in the freezer. I fed a partially cooked patty to my Yorkie and he became extremely ill within an hour. He required vet visit on 01/24/11 and the bill was $165.00 for treatments and meds. I did not know at the time that it may have been the patty untilOne week later, I fed him another of the chicken patty partially cooked and again he became very ill requiring more antibiotics. I smelled the frozen patties and it smelled bad. the bar coder is 1 86011 00003 8 and the use by date is 08/04/11 with another number above it which is 194-0813. I dispose of the rest down the garbage disposer.
EON-63671	2/21/2011 7:07	Evanger's Beef and Liver	I have noticed for the past 2 months the canned Beef and Liver dog food by Evangers which I use to give medications to my dog has had a yellow gel to it. BUT Tonight when I opened a new can I fiund an area of BLACK which is not normal I have used this food for years and never found black in it. My husband said it could be mold
EON-63429	2/15/2011 18:40	PURINA ONE PET FOOD	Dear FDA: It is with great concern over the unsanitary and unhealthy conditions and packaging of Purina One dog food line that I write you. Recently, on 2/9/11 at 5pm CST, I had purchased two bags of Purina One dog food. Yet, upon arriving home to feed my pets, the contents of the Purnia One dog food bag was filled with literally hundreds of webs of moths. Additionally, there were moths along the sides of the bag which fell unto my floor. Consequently, I returned these two bags to my local PetCo store (b) (6) where in the store manager of PetCo informed me that finding moth skins within this line of food was quite common. And in fact, that customers for months had been returning to the store over this same issue. I am deeply disturbed and disappointed in the quality of food that Purina One presents to its customers and their pets.
EON-63426	2/15/2011 17:30	Nobivac DAPPv - L4, Nobivac Intra Trac 3, Imrab 1 TF	Immediately after receiving yearly vaccines, pet began vomitting and then went into anaphylactic shock.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63421	2/15/2011 13:55	Canine Carry Outs Beef Flavor	I had purchased Canine Carryouts at the Vons Grocery Store in (b) (6) sometime in early January 2011. Previously I had given 1-2 treats to my toy poodle Bogey on one or two occasions. On 1/21/2011 he seemed particularly hungry so I gave him 5-6 treats. About an hour later, he vomited up the treats. On 1/22/11, he continued vomiting 4-5 times more, until he vomited bright yellow (bile?). I took him to the VCA Emergency Animal Hospital in (b) (6) (b) (6) took a blood test of the dog, told me he was in acute renal failure and immediately started him on a intravenous solutions. He stayed overnight; another blood test was performed on 1/23/11. (b) (6) said his creatinine and BUN levels were even worse than previous and that he should not go home with me but rather be transferred to another animal ER in (b) (6) (my home). On 1/23/11, I took him to Animal ER in (b) (6) where (b) (6) treated him with IV fluids overnight. Another blood test was taken and (b) (6) creatinine and BUN levels were even worse. On 1/24/11, he was transferred to (b) (6) of (b) (6) Animal Hospital, his regular veterinarian, where he was treated with an increased amount of IV fluids during that day and another blood test taken. He returned to Animal ER in (b) (6) for that evening (1/24) where he was given an increased amount of IV fluid. On Tuesday, 1/25/11, he returned to (b) (6) who administered even more IV fluid that previous doctors had done. That evening she informed me that (b) (6) creatinine and BUN levels were even worse and that if they didn't improve by the following day, he should be euthanized to prevent further suffering. Another blood test was taken. He returned home with me. On Wednesday, I got the results of the previous blood test. The doctor expressed extreme surprise; the levels had dropped by half and the dog seemed to be recovering. Another blood test was taken on Friday, 1/28/11 and I learned on Saturday, 1/29/11, that his levels were within normal for a dog. Because of the suddenness of this renal failure in an otherwise healthy young dog, (b) (6) recommended an ultrasound be performed to determine if there was any organic problem with (b) (6) kidneys. On 2/4/11, (b) (6) DVM, of VCA Animal Specialty Group (b) (6) (b) (6) performed the ultrasound and found no evidence of kidney abnormalities. (b) (6) has 2 kidneys, there was no evidence of cysts or tumors. (b) (6) performed a blood test to determine whether he had Addison's disease but the test results were normal for the indicator hormone.
EON-63417	2/15/2011 13:45	Purina ONE SmartBlend Chicken & Rice Formula	Glanced down at the cat's food dish, noticed something unusually... "shiny". Picked up the piece of chow and inspected it, it has a small fragment of metal embedded in it.
EON-63394	2/14/2011 16:26	Wellness Turkey and Salmon Formula	Immediate vomiting after ingestion.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63393	2/14/2011 16:26	Wellness Complete Health Dry Cat Food Salmon Salmon Meal & Deboned Turkey Recipe	Hello, I have been feeding my cat the Wellness Complete health dry cat food for some time now and he's been doing great but when I opened this last bag it had a very strong unpleasant smell to it. Usually it smells like fresh fish this smells more like chemicals or dead fish. I have been to 6 pet stores in the (b) (6) area and I purchased different 6 bags of food all with different expiration dates (May, June, Oct, Nov, Dec 2011) and they all smell very off. Also the kibbles are much dryer than normal. Here is the code off the bag of food I have now 16 Dec 2011 3450 Z11. Can you please make sure to check if this food is safe it just doesn't smell right. Thank you!
EON-63350	2/14/2011 7:06	Zoologic Milk Matrix 42/25 Lot # HJ3140ZF (10:39 3430), MultiMilk® Lot # H1730U	1. Possible issues with Zoologic Milk Matrix 42/25 Lot # HJ3140ZF (10:39 3430) - protein and fat levels not as specified in the product labeling. See following web site for details of laboratory analysis report - http://www.ewildagain.org/ZMM%20Values.htm 2. Rancidity present in MultiMilk® Lot # H1730U. Unidentified particles or contaminants also detected. See following web site for more details - http://www.ewildagain.org/Milk%20Replacers/MultiMilk%20Lot%20H1730U.htm Date stated below (1/17/2011) refers to the date the independent lab report was received relative to item 1. above.
EON-63349	2/14/2011 7:06	Wegmans Bruiser Dog Food Kibble Variety Mix	I purchased Wegmans Bruiser Dry Dog Food last Saturday (b) (6). My dog was diagnosed with kidney and liver issues today. Since she had internal bleeding she passed away today within one week of the new dog food. Her symptoms were loss of appetite, excessive drinking, lethargy, vomiting, diarrhea. She was only 5 and 3/4 years old. She seemed to deteriorate quite rapidly. I cannot say for certain it was the food.
EON-63259	2/10/2011 10:20	Zoologic Milk Matrix 33/40 and 42/25 (lot HJ3140ZF 10:39 3430) and MultiMilk Lot#H1730U	As a wildlife rehabilitator licensed in North Carolina, I've used PetAg products in the past and would like to use them again, but I'm very concerned about this report about low protein and high fat content of Zoologic Milk Matrix 42/25: http://www.ewildagain.org/ZMM%20Values.htm . I'm also concerned about rancidity issues with MultiMilk: http://www.ewildagain.org/Milk%20Replacers/MultiMilk%20Lot%20H1730U.htm
EON-63179	2/8/2011 21:40	Waggin' Train Jerky Tenders	Both dogs, one male, one female, were given the chicken jerky - both animals experienced bloody diarrhea, lethargy, and the female, who was 51 days pregnant, went into early labor, and miscarried the litter - 4 purebred puppies died

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-63151	2/8/2011 16:14	Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bones distributed by Waggin'Train LLC. States Made in China.	No change to canned food diet, schedule or anything other than I purchased and began giving dog one Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bone per day (lot no: J1CA3164A). Starting day 2 dog began reducing her food intake and by day 5 of having one dental bone/day, began vomiting constantly, extremely lethargic/weak, exhibiting virtually all renal impairment symptoms. Suspended everything but fluids. Now, two days later, dog able to tolerate and retain slurry of canned food and water(rehydrating). Package says "made in China". Suspect melamine or similar ingredient "stretcher" in ingredient contents due to country of manufacturing. Symptoms are same as in a different breed dog I gave treats to three or four years ago that were part of the recall. PLEASE CHECK.
EON-63111	2/7/2011 7:06	Sentry HC Petrodex Dental Chews	(b) (6) experienced a seizure approximately 9 hours after ingesting a new treat we bought at Petsmart- Sentry HC Petrodex Dental Chews. During the seizure he favored one side while convulsing with glossed over eyes. We were not sure what was happening at first so we tried to make him stand but he just fell again to the side with more convulsions. The seizure lasted approximately 2 minutes than he became alert again during our ride to the vet hospital. The vet complete an exam and blood work. Everything was normal except for elevated liver enzymes which indicates a possible toxin in his system. They completed more liver blood work but everything was normal except for the original test. They kept him overnight at the hospital for observation and prescribed him a medication to further clean out the liver. We are to monitor him for the next several days and bring him back if another seizure should occur. The vet would like to do another exam with blood work in a month to recheck for liver damage.
EON-62991	2/2/2011 12:55	Innova Evo red meat small bites	I found thin strings of plastic or some other non-food material baked into my dog's kibble. I saved several pieces that had the strings in them. Brand is Innova Evo red meat small bites dog food.
EON-62974	2/1/2011 20:57	Iams Healthy Naturals Weight Control	I purchased two bags of Iams Naturals at King Soopers grocery store in July 2010. The dogs finished one bag and I opened the other. Within a couple of hours, the smaller of the two dogs affected began vomiting and had severe diarrhea. The second dog, (b) (6) started having severe diarrhea. The cat, who also ingested a small amount of the dog food, had diarrhea as well. Initially, I thought they contracted a "bug" of some sorts and figured it would work itself out in 24 hours. (b) (6) the smaller dog, got worse and began having watery, bloody diarrhea and continued vomiting. (b) (6) diarrhea slowed somewhat. The cat had one bout and that was it. On the third day, (b) (6) was still having issues and I called the vet. He prescribed Flagyl. It was at that point I was advised to check the expiration date of the food. It was November 2009, which meant it was months past its expiration date when it was sold to me and should have been pulled from the shelves. My vet believes it was the food that caused the problem since all of the animals that ate it were affected.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62915	1/31/2011 14:59	cesar canine cuisine filet mignon flavor in meaty juices	This morning when I work up I immediately noticed (b) (6) had tufts of hair standing up. It looked like hives of some sort but the skin was not raised or inflamed, the hairs just stood up to make it look that way. I gave her 12mg of benadryl and watched her. After about 3 hours she was back to normal. Then about 5:15 I let her go outside to potty for about 3 minutes, then she came inside and ate her dry dogfood which is a mix of lams rice/lamb mixture & Purina ! weight management. She got 1/4 cup of that. Then about 40 minutes later, as a special treat, I gave her a quarter of Cesar canine cuisine Filet Mignon flavor in Meaty Juices that I purchased at a local Kroger around 12/15/10. The container says best by 082712 21something, something. Then has another number under it 035A1KKCJ0 1220. I will keep the container. I am not sure this is the cause, but the reaction happened within 15 minutes of being fed the cesar product. I hope this message helps.
EON-62862	1/27/2011 16:11	Orijen Six Fish Formula	Three dogs, 1 female German Shepherd (b) (6) age 4 yrs. weight abt. 80lbs), 1 male mixed breed (b) (6) 5yrs, 40lbs) and 1 female White Shepherd (b) (6) 8 yrs, 65lbs) began drinking excessive amts of water throughout the night of 1/10, and (b) (6) threw up in her crate. Morning of 1/11 all three were visibly bloated and showed little interest in favorite foods. Taken to (b) (6) (b) (6) and treated for extremely high kidney enzymes by (b) (6) They were attached to IVs and blood retested the next morning showed enzymes returned to normal. Upon return home, they ate bland, homemade diet for 7-10 days, resumed their usual diet of Orijen Six Fish Formula for 4-5 days until return to vet on 1/25 for recheck of enzymes. There was and "uptick" in the kidney enzymes and the dogs taken off of the Orijen food immediately. The manufacturer was notified by voicemail and email, has not responded beyond acknowledging receipt of email.
EON-62853	1/27/2011 0:33	Nature's Variety Instinct Chicken Meal Formula	Had bought Instinct brand dry dog chicken food at health food store 1/2 off. Fed it to both my dogs. My one dog would not eat it after eating it one time. My other dog will eat anything but would only eat it if she did not get offered any other food that day. Found dead in am after having no signs or symptoms except vomiting and diarrhea prior to that am x 1. Was exposed to no other dog food during the month.
EON-62852	1/26/2011 19:42	Trader Joe's Lamb and Rice dry dog food	both dogs are lethargic and have both thrown up. Their lethargic state has been 3 days. We quit feeding them the food. The only change has been adding the Trader Joe's lamb and rice dog food to their diet starting last week.
EON-62833	1/24/2011 18:50	Purina Whisker Lickin's Tender Moments-chicken and cheese flavor	I gave my cat 3 treats on Tuesday, and within 5 minutes of eating them she vomited and was lethargic the rest of the day. I didn't think anything of it. She was fine the rest of the week. On Sunday I gave her 3 more treats, and she vomited again within 5 minutes of eating the treats.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62820	1/24/2011 10:08	Member's Mark High Performance Premium Dog Food	We purchased on 14 Jan dog food for (b) (6) at a local Sam's Club. After using up another dog food we finally opened the High Performance on/about Jan 21. That Friday night he had his first food from the 50# bag and the next morning around 5 AM we woke up to the sounds of him pooping/throwing up all over the living room. It was awful, we had no idea what caused this occurrence, he had never done this before. We fed him again that night and even though he had been barricaded in the mud room he threw up or pooped runny yellow liquid all over his rug and managed to once again get into the living room and deposit more of the same before he was put outside. I suspected the food after that since that was the first time we had purchased this product. No more of the food was fed to him and he now rests comfortably in his mud room location.
EON-62819	1/24/2011 7:03	Purina Whisker Lickin's crunch lovers tartar control tuna flavor, IAMS original with chicken proactive health, Purina Fancy Feast cod sole & shrimp feast classic	Since Friday 1/14/11 (b) (6) has been having loose stools 2-4 times per day. First few days I noticed mucous and noise during passing of stool. That has not happened over last few days but the stools are still pudding like in texture, he cries before each time. Occasionally there will be a nearly solid looking piece, but the rest is loose and pudding-like. He is eating pretty normally and drinking more than usual. Over the last couple of days his behavior has changed. He is spending time under the bed and not doing all his usual activities with the same enthusiasm. (b) (6) has been to the vet and had bloodwork and stool testing, all negative. He has been eating the same food for quite some time with no problem, but the doctor suggested it could possibly be the food and, because I know of so many cats and dogs who have been made ill by food I thought I should report it in case this could be the problem. These are the foods (b) (6) eats: IAMS original proactive health dry food. The bag I have no exp 12MAR12 with number 0 325 4175 I I1 US30942 printed under expiration date. UPC code is 0 1901402311 0 I did switch from an older bag, now discarded, thinking a new bag might be better but I don't have the old bag. (b) (6) gets about 1/2 cup of this per day. Purina Fancy Feast cod, sole & shrimp feast, classic. Best by: Nov 2012 03231160L11330829 These are the numbers on a particular can. We have used several over the span of the week, as usual. (b) (6) gets 2/3 can per day (1/3 am and 1/3 pm). We reduced from 1/2 can twice a day in the fall because (b) (6) was gaining too much weight. UPD code 0 5000042894 6 (b) (6) gets about 5 pieces daily of Purina Whisker Lickin's crunch lovers tartar control tuna flavor as treats after his asthma treatments, 2 pieces am and 3 pieces pm Best before Feb 2012 02101787 0622L10 0266 is the number under the expiration date. UPC code is 0 1780012087 6 I have no idea if the food is the problem, but I need to know if this is a possibility. Thanks so much for your help and cooperation.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62815	1/21/2011 13:37	AvoDerm Lite Rice and Chicken Canned Dog Food	When feeding AvoDerm Lite Rice and Chicken Canned Dog Food, Lot number 21VYM2 1324, BEST BY AUG 17 2013, both of my Chihuahua's developed vomiting and runny stools. I fed them another brand and they recovered. Thinking they just had a virus, I opened a new can of the same type of AvoDerm Lite Rice and Chicken Canned Dog Food. They once again experienced vomiting and loose stools. When switching them to another type of food a second time, they both recovered and did well for several weeks until they both died. Prior to these episodes, I had been feeding them AvoDerm Lite Rice and Chicken Canned Dog Food for months, but with a different lot number and expiration date. The problems began with this particular lot and expiration. Both Chihuahua's died soon thereafter. One died on (b) (6) and the other on (b) (6). They both had abdominal masses (tumors). It is unknown whether the death resulted from the food.
EON-62710	1/19/2011 12:09	No Name brand 2 in 1 natural & bacon/beef flavour rawhide dounuts product of Columbia imported by Loblaw's Inc. Montreal H4N 3L4 Toronto M4T 2S8 Calgary T2E 759 Canada	This weekend our 53 pound 8 month old mix puppy died suddenly. The cause of death was acute renal failure, but the cause of the renal failure is unknown; an autopsy was performed and tissue samples have been sent to a lab for analysis. The vet, (b) (6) Animal Hospital in (b) (6) encouraged us to seek further information with the FDA. In particular, she ate 2 raw hide donuts that I bought from Ollie's bargain outlet on Friday, Jan 14. We have two dogs and the other dog did not eat that rawhide. The brand is actually called "no name" 2 in 1 natural & bacon/beef flavour rawhide donuts. The lot number is JC08016. It states that it is a product of Columbia and was imported by Loblaw's Inc. Montreal H4N 3L4 Toronto M4T 2S8 Calgary T2E 759, Canada. I have a second unopened package that I would like to have analyzed but I don't know where to go for such an analysis -- we'd appreciate any recommendations you may have. (b) (6) suspects that the poison was either contained in that rawhide or that she ate a rodent that had died from poisoning. I'm very interested in determining the cause of her death so we can ensure that the same thing doesn't happen to our other dog and that our vet can warn other pet owners if we find that the cause could have been prevented.
EON-62707	1/18/2011 23:11	Wellness Lamb & Sweet Potato Formula	I found pieces of blue and green plastic in Wellness canned dog food (Lamb & Sweet Potato formula). This is actually the second time in 2 months that I've discovered pieces of plastic inside the can. I'm not sure where this particular can came from, since I've purchased the same cans from both PetSmart and Whole Foods market (depending on where it's cheaper at the moment). The bottom of the can reads: Best by 30 Mar 13 DOL 0089 93982 0605

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62682	1/18/2011 17:10	1 of 2 that we have left of several differnt ones we fed her. 100% Complete and balanced Nutrition Gravy Sensations with Ocean Whitefish & Tuna in Gravy., 100% Complete and Balanced Nutrition Friskies Gravy Sensations with Chicken in Gravy	(b) (6) was a healthy spunky feline who always had a healthy appetite. Husband went to Walmart in (b) (6) a bought a different brand of wet food for her. He bought a box of Friskies "Complete and Balanced" wet food. After feeding it to her she started throwing up. A few days later she is still throwing up but now it's foam and bile. She wouldn't eat anymore, wouldn't drink and go to the bathroom. She seemed really out of it. We took her to the vet on (b) (6) and they asked what has changed and we told them the only thing we changed was her food. They ran a bunch of labs to check for several things including cancer and diabetes. The labs came back with Kidney Failure. We had to put her to sleep. I feel that the food has done this to her. I didn't know where to start with this so I started with the news in my area. A women posted on it giving me your website to report it and look into it. I do have two packets left of what we were feeding her in case it is needed to be tested. We are just devastated as she was still so young. Can you please please look into this and do some testing. I can even send you what I have left. Thank you, (b) (6)
EON-62681	1/18/2011 16:10	Purina Busy Bone Dental	My dog ate a purina busy bone dental on 1/17/11 at 3:00pm at a normal rate of speed and at 3:00am on 1/18/11 he had a siezure. This is the only thing he ate that was not his normal diet. This was the first time I ever purchased or fed him one of these bones, he usually eats milk bones. He has never had any health issues or siezures in his life and I have owned him since he was 7 weeks old. He is now 7 almost 8 years old.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62664	1/18/2011 9:31	Wellness Turkey Formula	On Thursday, Decemeber 16th, 2010 I gave my two cats, one a one and half year old female persian and the other a six and half month year old male domestic shorthair, each a 1/2 of a can of the wet Wellness Turkey brand cat food. I had given this food to my cats as a treat a handful of times before, as their normal food is dry Purina Pro Health brand. As each time before, they each ate up their individual bowls and went on about their way. It wasn't until the next morning that I noticed one of the cats, I wasn't sure which one, had urinated outside of the litter box, which I had never seen either one of them do before. Although it was unusual behavior, I decided to not worry about it unless it happened again or more symptoms occurred. Later that afternoon, after returning home from some errands, I noticed vomit throughout the house. Still unsure of which cat was sick, I monitored them both until I was sure of which one it was. It wasn't until the next morning (Saturday December 18th) that I woke up to even more vomit in the downstairs portion of my home. Although I was still unsure of whom had done it, I assumed it to be my persian, (b) (6) as she was the one closest to the vomit at that time. That morning, I took her into my veterinarian where they gave her a convenia injection in case of any bacterial infection and administered subcutaneous fluids. I took her home that afternoon where she did not vomit the rest of the evening but also refused to eat. The next morning, I woke up to more vomit but because it was a Sunday I was unable to take her anywhere. On Monday, I woke to vomit yet again and went to my vet right away. On this day, they continued to monitor her and did another convenia injection and administered subcutaneous fluids. They also sent us home with cerenia tablets to help prevent more vomitting so that if (b) (6) were to eat that night, she would be able to keep it down. On Tuesday, December 21st (day 5 of no eating/continued vomitting) I woke up and physically saw not only (b) (6) vomit but also my other cat, (b) (6) vomit as well. I immediately went to my vet where they did a barium series on (b) (6) to see if there was an intestinal blockage that was not allowing anything to pass through her system and did the standard convenia injection and sub Q fluids for (b) (6) Fortunately, the barium series went quickly through (b) (6) intestines, indicating that there was no obstruction, or at least not a full obstruction of the intestines. However, my vet reminded me that there could still be a chance of a partial obstruction. They continued to with sub Q fluids on (b) (6) so that she could remain hydrated but with her going on day 6 with no food intake, I began to feel desperate. My vet, knowing how desperate I was becoming suggested we try doing an abdominal ultrasound to see if they could see anything with that. My vet called in an ultrasound specialist to the hospital and although the high-tech machinery was very impressive, nothing was found. The next and only other option my vet and myself could think of was to do exploratory surgery. On Wednesday, December 22nd, (b) (6) went in for exploratory surgery, while (b) (6) went back to the hospital as well for monitoring although he had not vomitted again since the first time and was continuing to eat. The exploratory surgery was both successful and unsuccessful. Although the vet did not find any foreign object or obstruction in the intestines, the day after surgery, (b) (6) did begin to eat in small amounts again and has since made a full recovery. The blood work indicated that there was, however, a severe reaction to antigen of unknown origin which irritated her intestines in such a way that inflamed her intestines and caused her organs to swell. Having not only one cat, but both my cats, react in this way after eating the Wellness turkey wet food has lead me to believe that this food was the cause of their sudden il
EON-62662	1/18/2011 9:31	Hill's Prescription Diet i/d Canine Gastrointestinal Health	The title of this product tell us that it is to promote gastrointestinal health. After finding pieces, chunks of what appear to be corn, pits-like a small olive, and tiny white hard plastic type pieces I contacted Hills. The representative was minimally concernred , explaining that the FDA monitors the production of their factory. I have a chihuahua and have to weigh his food. he's recovering from pancreatitis. Had he eaten these items he'd be back in the hospital. I only ask that this be checked out and ensure their equipment is cleaned properly and regularly, and that the ingredients are safe. Many thanks. Sincerely.. (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62661	1/18/2011 9:30	Smokehouse Duck Tenders	after being fed 2 small strips of the 'jerky' she had onset of watery diarrhea
EON-62652	1/14/2011 13:49	Purina ONE Healthy Weight Management	On 1-13-2011, I bought an 18lb bag of Purina ONE Healthy Weight Management at Petsmart (b) (6). This morning, 1-14-2011 at 6:30am, I opened the bag. I saw spider web type material in the bag all throughout the food. I also saw a cricket / moth type insect crawling around.
EON-62635	1/14/2011 12:05	Champion Breed Chicken Flavored Rawhide munchy strips	Diarrea with some blood,vomitting,lethargy,lack of appetite
EON-62634	1/14/2011 12:05	Champion Breed Chicken Flavored Rawhide munchy strips	I have been giving my 2 small dogs,a Scottish Terrior & a Terrior Poodle Mix,Champion Breed Chicken Flavored Rawhide munchy strips for several months.About 10 days ago the Scotty bgan haveing diarrea and vomitting and has not been eating very well.I have been giving her imodium and it helped a little but she still has very little appetite and is very lethargic.The terrior mix had diarrea for a couple days but hers went away.My groomer just made me aware that chicken jerky products made in China,which these are have been causing serious health problems and death in dogs.I am taking the product back to the K-Mart where I purchased it and calling my vet.Hopefully my (b) (6) will get better.These types of chicken products from China should be recalled immediately.My (b) (6)is almost 13 years old and weighs about 20 lbs and has been very healthy.
EON-62628	1/13/2011 18:56	Purina Beneful - Original	I purchased a new bag of Purina Beneful Original from Dominicks in (b) (6) Both of my dogs immediately refused to eat this product and have not eaten in 3 days. Upon allowing them to sniff the food, they run away as if they are afraid of it. Unfortunately, we use a dog food holder and threw away the original bag so I cannot provide lot # or other specific information. I have had to purchase other dog food to get my dogs to eat and they are ready and willing to eat anything but THAT batch!
EON-62625	1/13/2011 16:25	Wellness Complete Health Turkey and Salmon Formula and Wellness Complete Health Chicken and Herring Formula	After 2 weeks of eating a new batch of food, both cats had decreased appetite and presented with neurological symptoms: (b) (6) had seizures and was unsteady and wobbly on his feet; Snowball could not stand up, his head was tilted forward and down and he was favoring and turning to his left side.
EON-62614	1/13/2011 14:50	Wellness Complete Health Chicken and Herring Formula and Wellness Complete Health Turkey and Salmon Formula	Both cats presented with neurological symptoms: (b) (6)experienced seizures and was unsteady and wobbly on his feet; Snowball was unable to move, his head was tilted down and he was favoring his left side and turning left.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62609	1/12/2011 19:37	original milk bone brand puppy	i was feeding my dog a milk bone that i had purchased form a local sobeys and i pulled one out to feed it to my dog .. i broken it in half , feed him one of the halves and relised that there was plastic inbeded into the peice i stiull had in my hands .. i looks down to check on my dog and he stared choaking .. luckily the choaked passed but this is not so,ething that i will take lightly .. my dog is my life and this is just not right
EON-62560	1/11/2011 11:27	Waggin' Train Wholesome Chicken Jerky Tenders	(b) (6) started vomiting his food first, then started vomiting bile and blood. He was extremely gassy and lethargic. After I stopped giving him the Chicken Jerky treats, he slowly recoved, the vomiting stopped and he gained his appetite back. My other dog Hunter, who is a 20 pound Dachshund mix (neutered) has been eating the treats for over a year. He also became sick with vomiting and lethargic. After he recovered, I gave him a small piece of the Chicken jerky to see if that was the cause and he once again became ill with gas, vomiting and no appetite. Both dogs also had loose stools/diarrhea. The severe symptoms lasted for 48 hours after the last treat was given to them.
EON-62513	1/10/2011 7:08	Wellness Complete Health	After starting Wellness food one cat had diarrhea after every meal within 2 hours. The only cat would not eat the dry food. Diarrhea stopped after immediately after I discontinued this dry food.
EON-62512	1/10/2011 7:08	Wellness Kitten Health Dry Cat Food	After I started feeding my kitten Wellness Kitten Health Dry Cat Food 5 lb. 14 oz.(2.66kg) he had diarrhea after every meal until I discontinued that dry food.
EON-62510	1/10/2011 7:08	Old Yeller Chunk Style Dog Food	(b) (6)(b) (6)was given his usual amount of dog food (4 cups) at about 7:00pm (normal time). At about 2:00am on (b) (6)he began violent vomiting and bloody diarrhea. My husband and I cleaned large amounts of vomit and diarrhea from inside the house and put (b) (6)outside in his doghouse. I was getting ready to go work at about 7:00 am (b) (6)and went outside to check on (b) (6) He was in his doghouse still, lying on his side. He was having very labored breathing and not responding. I got my husband to come and check him. I went to work and my husband called a friend to help him get (b) (6) to the Vet. By the time my husband got to the vet's office (b) (6)had died.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62509	1/10/2011 7:07	Dick Van Pattens Natural Balance Dog food	To whom it may concern: I purchased a bag of Natural Balance Dog Food, Potato & Duck formula, and my pet has become severly sick. She had all the symptoms listed for the Salmonela poisoning. She had to be hospitalized because of the vomiting and diarrhea and became dehydrated. She also became very lethargic and weak. The only thing she ate was this Dog food at 7pm and by midnight she had black Diarreha and vomiting for 12 hours. She could not even drink water as she would then vomit the water. She is an extremely healthy dog, never at the vets for anything, and has eaten this brand for years. This bag seems to be contaminated. Have you had any other complaints or people notifying you of this? I will also be notifying the Natural Balance company of this. The expiration date is 20-Sept 2011 and # is : NBP0905LA 5 Lb Dry Dog Food
EON-62508	1/10/2011 7:07	IAMS PROACTIVE HEALTH LARGE BISCUITS CHICKEN FLAVOR	Diarrhea started on 12/09/10 vomiting on 12/10/10,Would not eat until 12/12/10,this is what happened after feeding the dog from a new box of iams biscuits..
EON-62502	1/7/2011 10:06	Evanger's Pheasant and Brown rice	I opened a new 33lb bag of Evanger's Pheasant and Brwon rice dry dog food. The pellets appeared larger than normal ,and when I put a scoop into my dogs bowl there were white pieces in the pellets that I hadn't seen before. When I looked at them more closesly they seemed to be maybe feathers or quills, but I can' 100% identify what they are. some of these are very sharp and protrude out from the pellets 1-2mm. If my dog had eaten this food I have not doubt we would have been at the veterinarian this evening. I put 4 cupfulls into my dog bowl and the foreign objects were throughout the pellets.
EON-62499	1/6/2011 21:44	Hill's Science Diet (Veterinian Recommended) Adult Light	Threw up yellow substance approximately 18 to 24 hours after eating 1/2 of can of tobacco smelling Hill's Science Diet Adult Light Mature

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62497	1/6/2011 16:43	healthy biscuits for dogs	Mars Petcare in (b) (6) Cleans the diecuts for making treats by sand blasting not soda blasting. Even after being told of the fda food safety regulations. The fumigant packages used to fumigate trailers are removed by un licensed associates and thrown in a pile behind the building. there is noone at the plant licensed to remove the packets. the shaker boxes that go to the rotex machines (which makes the petfood) are steel not wood that ware and are in constant need of repair therefore slithers of undetectable steel goes into the petfood. incoming raw materials are not probed for testing, the use a red bucket to dip product from the top. probe is only used for show when auditors or inspectors are present. the enviromental swabs sent out for testing of salmonella are sprayed with sanitizer and dried before taken. same is done for finished product samples.
EON-62486	1/5/2011 18:14	Blue Buffalo Wilderness Salmon	Bought new dog food on December 28, 2010. She showed mild symptoms Jan 2 & 3rd. Got really bad the night of January 3rd and planned on taking her to vet first thing in the morning of the 4th. She did not make it through the night and believe this was previously recalled. It shouldn't have been on the shelves or that company did not take care of their prior situation. Either way I am looking into getting the food tested ASAP. Also want to let people know about this serious situation and to not let this happen to any other loved pets of anyone in the future. Very disappointed in finding out that there had been previous problems with this exact food (8 other states, via internet) The other dog is larger and a mixed lab. But noticed she wasn't eating the food and replaced her food immediately. This needs to be addressed immediately and I don't want to see any other dogs injured or end up like mine.
EON-62484	1/5/2011 14:59	cesar	find the rock on cesar dog food
EON-62473	1/4/2011 18:35	Wellness Turkey Formula and Wellness Chicken Formula	I am an RVT and receptionist (b) (6) I am not reporting as an employee of this hospital, but as a pet owner. I purchased a new batch of Wellness Feline Turkey(5.5oz) and Chicken(5.5oz) and began feeding it to my cats. They all begin having acute diarrhea and vomitting, all within two days of starting the new batch. I switched my cats to Science Diet Feline Canned I/D and the diarrhea/vomitting resolved. Not attributing it to the Wellness....I began to transition them back to Wellness from I/D and immediately they all began having severe diarrhea and vomitting again. I started them back on I/D, began Metronidazole, and Nutrigest(a probiotic supplement). The symptoms resolved with two of my cats (b) (6) and (b) (6) it continued with (b) (6) Per my vet, I increased the Metronidazole dosage, started a new probiotic(Proviale), and continued feeding I/D. Slowly I am starting to see improvements with their GI issues.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62468	1/4/2011 11:59	Iams Healthy Naturals Wholesome Chicken	(b) (6) was being fed Iams Healthy Naturals Chicken and on Friday, November 19th 2010 our dog started bleeding out of his rectum and couldn't hold up his own weight. We rushed him to the ER at (b) (6). He had many tests performed and the result was that he had liver failure. After more tests, it was roughly determined to have been a unknown toxin. We live in a 9th story condo in (b) (6) with a very pet friendly community, I am on the board and asked any residents if their dogs had been ill to determine if it was environmental. No other dog in our community was ill. We had our condo reviewed and there's no toxins within that could have caused the type of liver failure. We brought the dog food in and it was determined that another dog with similar liver failure was also ingesting the same dog food. At this time, we called Iams to determine any recalls on the product and any similar circumstances with the product. We currently have a case open with Iams and have not heard of anything.
EON-62460	1/3/2011 7:05	Wellness Turkey Formula Grain Free	All cats had severe vomiting and hypersalivation within 1-4 hours of eating effected food. They continued to have severe diarrhea for almost two days. I switched them to a different brand of canned food and all symptoms stopped immediately. The day after the vomiting and diarrhea, I tried to offer them the same food and all cats smelled the food and walked away, not even wanting to be near it. Then I offered a different brand of food and they readily ate it.
EON-62459	1/3/2011 7:05	Nutro Natural Choice Lamb meal and rice formula	3 week history of pu/pd followed by acute onset of vomiting, anorexia, and listlessness all reported after opening a new bag of dog food. No other changes have been noted at home, although historical intermittent vomiting has been chronically when stressed. Acute clinical signs began Dec 23rd with multiple episodes of vomiting. Other clinical signs reported include restless behavior and abdominal discomfort. Abnormal gait and disorientation noted for past 12-24 hrs.
EON-62458	12/31/2010 13:29	Kibbles N Bits	On 12/27/2010 I purchased a bag of Kibbles N Bits dog food for my dogs. Within 24 hours both of my dogs began having trouble with vomiting at various times during the day. I personally just thought that it was caused by different dog food. As of yesterday morning, my Boston Terrier began having very rapid eye movement, will not stand on her own, will not eat or drink. As of approx 7 PM 12/30/2010 she was admitted into the pet emergency hospital in (b) (6). (b) (6) She is now on IV fluids and the exact problem with her is unknown to the Vets, but at this time they refuse to admit that it could possibly be the food, even after I informed them of the start of problems after the change in food.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62445	12/29/2010 17:11	WELLNESS SENIOR FORMULA	We mix dry food with some wet or canned food of the same brand. We opened a can of the Wellness Senior Canned Dog Food and a black substance was throughout a good portion of the can. We did not use the food but kept it refrigerated and notified the manufacturer. They suggested we send pictures of the food and the bottom numbers on the can which showed the "Best if used by date" and the lot numbers. We submitted the pictures and info as requested by email. The customer service rep was going to present to Wellness Quality Control (b) (6) and the thought was as they cook the food in the cans it could be a harmless protein. This was several weeks ago. Since then we found the same substance in yet another can with a different lot number. This can as well has been refrigerated. We contacted Wellness yet again to find out the possible conclusion from the first set of pictures we sent however the (b) (6) said the (b) (6) couldn't identify the substance and suggested we send a full unopened can with the same lot number as the problem can. We don't have any with the same lot number. We asked why they wouldn't want the problem can sent to them and they said it would spoil while in route. We offered to overnight to them but have yet to receive a respond. Although they couldn't id the problem by picture and don't seem to want the can with the problem, they said whatever it is, is probably an isolated problem. At that point we told them of the second can, different lot number to which they had no real respond. We have stopped using the canned food although still have the two problem cans. I'm frustrated and quite honestly disgusted with their apparent lack of concern which is why I decided to file a complaint with your offices. I do have pictures of the substances in the two respective cans which I can forward to your offices.
EON-62442	12/29/2010 14:52	Science Diet for Seniors	We got (b) (6) in 1998 and she was given the same food as (b) (6) Science Diet for Seniors. Within about a year of being on the food, she began to experience a few joint problems but had developed several tumors that our vet dismissed as fat lipoma's and said was nothing to worry about. In the meantime she also went blind due to what we were told a genetic predisposition in the breed. We took her in for a dental treatment in 2003, during this treatment she had to be put under anesthesia for comfort and safety. The vet called me and said that during intubation she had scraped the fatty lipoma in her neck and that it was in fact cancer and the cells had begun to multiply at a rate that they could not be controlled and she was on a breathing machine. It was at this point that we had to have her euthanized as she could no longer breathe on her own.
EON-62441	12/29/2010 14:52	Science Diet for Large Breed	(b) (6) has started to develop tumors that the vet has said are just fatty lipomas and are nothing to worry about. But given our history with this diagnosis I am not very inclined to believe this.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62440	12/29/2010 14:51	Science Diet for Large Breed	We have had (b) (6) since 2003, he was 6weeks old when we got him. He has been fed nothing but Science Diet dog food since we got him. We started him on Science Diet for large Breed puppy food with a mix of Science diet canned puppy food and progressed into just dry kibble. At approx 6months of age the vet was doing routine exams and x-rays and told us that he had hip dysplasia and that the breed was pre disposed to this and it would be nothing to worry about. The vet did recommend that we continue to use the science diet food for large breed as it has essential vitamins in it that would assist in helping him walk and stay pain free from the hip dysplasia. In May of 2010, (b) (6) laid down and refused to get back up. We immediately took him to the vet and the vet told us that he had developed severe arthritis in his knees and gave us medications of Rimydal and Tramadol to assist us in helping with the swelling and get him back functional. This regimen has worked for a while and Science Diet released a new type of food, Science Diet Joint Relief with added glucoimene and condrotion and our vet strongly suggested we put both our rotties on it. We did and he refused to eat the food so we put him back on Science Diet for Large Breed dogs. In Dec of 2010, (b) (6) again has had a deterioration of usage of his back legs. He can no longer support his weight on his left leg and his right legs doesn't function at all sometimes. We have had an increase in his medications. We are getting to the point that we are now having to consider euthanization.
EON-62439	12/29/2010 14:51	Science Diet for Seniors	we began to feed (b) (6) Science Diet Dog Food based on a recommendation from our vet when he was approx 13 years old. Until then he had no health issues and was able to move around just fine. After about 6 months of eating the food he began to develop hip and joint problems. The Vet told us it was common in the breed and prescribed pain medication and a steroid antiinflammatory drug. After several years of this regimen, he developed a very severe loss of usage of his hind legs and began a decline in his life quality. He was 17 years of age and the vet told us that he had a tumor that had grown between his intestines and that it was inoperable on a dog of his age. We made the decision to have him euthanized when he could no longer hold his bladder or his bowels.
EON-62400	12/28/2010 14:37	Iams large puppy breed (yellow bag) and also Iams Healthy lamb and rice (red and brown bag)	I have 3 dogs, my 9yr old shep/dob mix had severe skin reaction itching, hives, diarrhea. My 5yr old lab had horrible ear infections lack of eating and loose stools off and on. Our 1yr old english mastiff had skin, and ear infection, the ear was so bad she had to have surgery. all three dogs are on meds and our vet said it was from the food they were eating. All three dogs have had symptoms off and on for awhile but I never imagined it could be from the food. It sickens me.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62398	12/28/2010 11:52	WHISKAS® For Kittens With Chicken and Turkey Flavors.	All three cats have recently developed all signs of salmonella poisoning in the last two weeks. Signs include: diareaha, vomiting, loss of appetite, loss of weight, lethargic, overall only lays around. I have witnessed all of their defication being uncontrollable and the color of green algae, (b) (6) seems to have the worst symptoms and has urinated on herself. I administered Amoxicillian and after three days of that and not noticing a big change I took their cat food from them for 24 hrs and then changed to a total new brand by a different manufacturer. They are somewhat doing a little better each day, although (b) (6) who was the worse is still only about 75% better. For the past 4 years I have only purchased one brand of cat food from the same location because it is so hard to find. The dry cat food is by Mars Company and is called Whiskas Kitten formula in a purple bag about 3 lbs. I purchase this cat food at WalMart locally. Both have been notified. Mars is sending me a bag requesting to test the food that I have left. I always buy four bags at a time and have a remaining two full bags left plus about two - three cups of the food they were eating.
EON-62391	12/27/2010 14:53	AlphaTrak Blood Glucose Monitoring System	Please note I was directed to this portal from (b) (6) at FDA VET Compliance and this is NOT a food issue, however this issue pertains to Abbott Laboratories Alpha Trak Animal glucose monitoring system. I did not have the option as a consumer to report a problem with a device, only food issues, I apologize for any inconvenience this may cause. My diabetic dog has recently been running very high numbers at his vet supervised BG testings (never below 300 once and then never below 200 one week apart) so my vet ordered me this meter to run a series of tests on him at home where he would feel more comfortable and possibly give more accurate numbers. At the time the dog was receiving 22 units, twice a day. Before the morning shots he would range anywhere from mid-200's to low 300's. Then we started to notice that his numbers were dangerously low before his evening shot (low 50's to low 40's) he would be given additional food and honey when numbers were this low and the meter would never get higher than high 70's up to 4 hours later. The vet was concerned and we stopped the evening dose but the meter kept giving these types of numbers. Then we discovered that (b) (6) was having similiar issues with some of its human test strips giving low numbers and since the dog was not showing signs of hypoglycemia when the numbers where significantly lower decided to contact (b) (6) and the FDA. After this happened I went back to montoring him with both his Alpha trak and his human meter the Breeze2. Number variations have been as significant as the following: Alpha Trak Breeze 2 375 520 277 342 258 378 Please note I have all of this numbers since December 17th before we suspected any problems with his AlphaTrak meter

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62357	12/27/2010 7:08	Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bone by Waggin Train LLC	After ingesting one Supreme Green Dental Bone, dog became lethargic in about 2 hours, then had diarrhea and vomiting for 2 days continuing into day 3 with lesser symptoms.
EON-62349	12/24/2010 12:06	Wellness Complete Health Super5Mix Senior	My dog lost significant weight then he had a seizure. He has been and is in excelent health. I have been feeding him this food for almost two months. His starting weight was around 8lbs. I decided to purchase the food for the benefits listed and thought that a small amount of weight loss may be due to being on a healthier food. Then he had a seizure two nights ago after I noticed this last week that he seemed really skinny.
EON-62348	12/24/2010 12:06	Purina Friskies Ocean Whitefish Dinner Special Diet Classic Pate	(b) (6) became lethargic and began drooling, stopped eating and drinking after eating Friskies canned cat food (white fish puree). I took her to the veterinarian, who did blood work and placed her on medications and IV fluids after finding kidney and liver damage. She remained at the veterinarian's for 3 days. I brought her home Wednesday evening with medications. She took the meds, but could not eat. I hand fed her chicken broth and water and remained in contact with the vet. On Friday morning between 430 am and 630 am, she died.
EON-62347	12/24/2010 11:31	Iams Proactive Health Original with Chicken	He started throwing up every time he would eat without any other symptoms. Then he stopped eating and was so weak he could barely stand up. We took him to the vet, and they said he had an infection and the blood work showed his liver readings were very very bad, but no other readings were "off". They gave him an antibiotic and we gave him milk thistle and Sam-E to help his liver and an appetite stimulant to try and get him to eat. The vet said he had either eaten something that made him sick or he had FIP, and if he started to get better then we would know if was something he'd eaten, but if he didn't, then it was FIP. Every time he would start to eat again he would throw up the Iams dry food, but we noticed he kept down everything else we tried...wet cat food the vet had given us, canned tuna, scrambled eggs. We finally took away the Iams cat food completely and he started to get better. We then went back to feeding him a different brand of dry cat food, which he's had before, and he has been fine and hasn't thrown up since. He's now slowly getting back to normal. We took him back to the vet today for follow-up blood work and mentioned that we were puzzled that every time we fed him the Iams over the last 2 weeks he would throw up but he was keeping everything else down. The vet said there had been a recall a couple of months ago and we should call them, so I googled Iams recall and I found that there was a recall in September of the kind of Iams cat food I bought sold in Walmart, which is where I bought mine at. I'm in (b) (6) which I didn't see on the recall list, but I wonder if it's possible I ended up with a bad bag. It just seems a little too coincidental. If other bags of cat food are out there someone needs to know because my cat almost died.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62325	12/23/2010 3:56	Pedigree Little Champions meaty ground dinner with chicken.	For the last three years that I have been a dog owner, I have always purchased pedigree products. I always purchase wet and dry food. Today I opened a pouch of Pedigree Little Champions meaty ground dinner with chicken. When I poured the contents of the pouch onto my dogs dish I noticed a foul smell. I put the dog bowl down and continued to dispose of the pouch. When I did, noticed the foul smell had become stronger. I removed the food away from my dog and began to inspect it. Indeed the the foul smell was coming from the wet food. The food is normally pink with a little red. This time, it was a bit gray with a little pink. This smell was so awful my entire home stunk and it made everyone sick. I threw out the remaining food from the bowl. I went back to my trash and retrieved the pouch in which the food came in. The pouch was not completely empty so I stored it in my refrigerator just in case it is needed later.
EON-62305	12/22/2010 13:55	ORGANIX® ADULT CANINE FORMULA	We have been feeding our dogs Castor & Pollux Organix Dry Chicken flavored food for years. Last Friday we opened a new bag and they got sick with diarrhea and vomiting within a few hours. We thought they had gotten into something and the vet prescribed anti-diarrhea medicine and a bland diet for a couple of days. Once they got back to normal, we returned to the food but they are now sick again. So, I'm pretty sure it's the food. Lot 20210 B32 1916 Best Used by Setp 21, 2011.
EON-62302	12/22/2010 13:55	Merrick Thanksgiving Day Dinner 5 Star Entrees for Dogs	(b) (6) has experience mucous-based, watery stools since 3p on 12/11/2010. As the evening progressed her diarrhea became worse. On 12/21/2010, she has 10-11 accidents in my home over a 4-5 hour period between 6:00a and 12:00p CST. At 12:00p CST, I notice that she was bleeding profusely from her anus. I rushed her to my vet immediately. He ran a series of tests, along with radiographs, and determined that she had hemorrhagic gastroenteritis. She is currently in ICU and being administered fluids, pain medicine, and antibiotics. The vet asked me what type of food had been changed or introduced to her diet. The only recent addition was Merrick Canned Dog Food, Thanksgiving Day Dinner. The product was purchased at PetCo in (b) (6) on 12/19/2010. The product expiration is dated 10/27/2012. The code is 10300 CL3 216661124.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62300	12/22/2010 13:54	Hills Prescription diet (can label = l/d case label i/d)	Was given a prescription of i/d Hills Prescription Diet for my dog due to her sensitive stomach. Went to shelf and picked up a full case of what I thought was i/d cans of wet food. The product was placed on the shelf prior to going on a trip in preparation for my dog sitter that stays at my home to watch the dogs. Left on December 11 and returned on the evening on December 14. Noticed after coming from work on December 15 that my dog was not feeling well and had diarrhea. Waited a few days to see if she had recovered but got worse so took my dog to the Banfield Hospital in (b) (6) (b) (6) (b) (6) was diagnosed with gastroenteritis and pancreatitis, she was given antibiotics as well as other medication but recommended that the dog return the next day for fluid therapy due to dehydration. Returned the next day at 7:00 am and did not pick my dog up until 6:00 pm. Questioned dog sitter on if she was given anything outside of her food and he stated no only what was in the cabinet in the case. When I went to the case on 12/21 to check noticed that the case stated i/d but the cans in the holding case were l/d a different prescription. The dog sitter would have never noticed since his expectation was this was the food and did not know his prescription. (b) (6) called since she was not on during the weekend and returned on Tuesday, asked that I bring (b) (6) in for a quick check. I showed her the case and the contents and she was surprised and stated she would contact the manufacturer that this was not supposed to happen. I left the remaining food with the pet hospital and did not require a refund from PetSmart since I was not sure that it would need to be returned to the manufacturer for investigation and root cause analysis.
EON-62125	12/20/2010 22:07	Home style London Grill in gravy Purina ALPO prime cuts net wt 22 oz dog food	Over about a week she began to drink more water, she urinated clear not yellow, stools became dark. The day before she died she vomited undigested Alpo canned food from 2 previous meals. After that she would not drink or eat. She had 3 or more huge heme positive, blood smelling slick black stools. Taken to the vet that day we were told she was in renal failure and critical. 24 hours later she died.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-62102	12/20/2010 15:06	IAMS weight control for large dogs	(b) (6) We are reporting a problem which we believe came from the use of IAMS dog food. Background information: Dog # 1 (b) (6) German Shepherd and Greyhoundish mix. Normal weight about 40 pounds and she has a greyhound-like build. She was born around 2/98, is almost as tall as a standard German Shepherd but with a very thin build normally. She was spayed as a puppy and had no health problems of which we were aware. Dog # 2 (b) (6) Black and Tan Coon Hound. Adopted 3/07 at which time she was said to be about 3 years of age. She was spayed just before we adopted her and had a history of Lymes disease. She has been healthy since 3/07 except for being somewhat overweight at about 75 pounds before eating the IAMS food. We have fed both dogs: IAMS Weight control dry food for large dogs purchased in 40 lb bags for the last three years. They normally don't get much other food, although occasionally get an apple or some table food. Both dogs go into a fenced back yard unsupervised at times. We did not keep the bag after transferring the food into our normal container so cannot provide specific information. The food at issue: IAMS weight control dry dog food for large dogs purchased around September 2010 at (b) (6) (b) (6) For the first time, there were two different colored pellets. One was a light brown and the other a darker brown. As soon as we gave it to them, the dogs started spitting out one color and trying to only eat the other color, leaving a trail of dog food through the house. Dog # 1 who was 12 ½ years old, got ill, vomiting and having diarrhea. We took her to the veterinarian who gave her an antibiotic for a urinary tract infection. We were not able to get a stool sample that date and never brought one to the vet. She improved somewhat but became lethargic and was hardly eating. Dog # 2, who was 6 ½ years old had loose stools but no other signs of illness. Both dogs were awakening us to go out at night which they had not been previously doing. After a month, we took Dog # 1 to the vet again because she was losing so much weight, but did not bring a stool sample as it was her urine that concerned us. The vet could not figure out what was wrong and suggested expensive tests which we declined because of her age and concern that she would not survive anesthesia given her low weight. She had lost 5 pounds in that month. We decided to put her on an antibiotic, which she received for another several weeks, with some improvement. We also put Dog #1 on canned IAMS food, thinking her teeth might be bothering her and she began to improve. Our daughter came home after a two month absence and commented that dog # 2 had lost a lot of weight. We then went on the internet and discovered others mentioning similar problems with their dogs who were eating the IAMS dog food. We put the remainder of the dry food in a sealed plastic bag and disposed of it so as not to sicken other animals and disinfected the dog food container we use. We switched to Wellness dry food and both dogs immediately improved. However, we still had some IAMS canned food which we decided to finish. After feeding the dogs the last can of food in the evening last week, along with Wellness dry food, Dog # 1 had very smelly diarrhea during the night which smelled very foul and a lot like the food as it was coming out of the can. We have only fed the dogs Wellness food since then and both are doing well without any signs of illness. Both have a good appetite, have become playful again and are no longer lethargic. We will no longer purchase IAMS products for our dogs and have sent an e-mail to IAMS alerting it to the problem. We are reporting it here as well, with the understanding that we are not giving sufficient information for you to investigate the complain

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61980	12/15/2010 9:16	Purina Beggin Strips Bacon Flavored	Purchased a new bag of Purina "Beggin Strips" Bacon flavored. Gave one strip to my dog that evening. The next day she seemed lethargic but she ate breakfast and had 1/2 strip. When I returned home from work I found 15 or more puddles of vomit, 1 regular stool and 2 areas of diarrhea, my dog was in pain with abdominal cramps, chills, lethargy, and refused to eat. I put a heating pad on her, the chills subsided, she was passing a lot of gas. Stopped giving her the strips, The following day she ate a few bites of food, still had diarrhea all day. The next day she ate normally, stools were firm. My husband gave her a small piece of a beggin strip and she became sick immediately. Instantly she had cramping and gas, then diarrhea for 3 days a small amount of fresh blood was observed in one of her piles of diarrhea. She was very sick but did not vomit. She is eating again with regular stools now but she is still recovering.
EON-61948	12/13/2010 9:05	PURINA ONE SMARTBLEND LAMB & RICE FORMULA	As I was handfeeding Purina One SmartBlend Lamb & Rice to my dog, I noticed that many of the little nuggets had one or more embedded sharp white spikey things that were sticking out that look like plastic--kind of like the plastic wire that is used to attach price tags to garments in stores, except these pieces are pointy. So far my dog seems fine, so maybe he didn't get any chunks with the plastic, but I am reporting this because I do not want my dog, or any other dog to be hurt. Obviously, I am holding off on giving my dog any more of this food, even though this is his favorite dry dog food. If this is helpful, on the bag it says: BEST BY: JAN 2012 02056001 1429L04 And the UPC Code was: 0 17800 57309 2 I am saving the bag, and the chunks of food in question, in case they would be helpful to you. Thank you for looking out for the health and safety of dogs.
EON-61938	12/10/2010 17:21	Science Diet Kennel Pack Adult Original Dog food #6735	Immediately after opening the bag of canine science diet adult food one of the two dogs only nibbled at the food taking a few bite then refusing it altogether while the other dog ate the food. I still continued to feed the food for the next few days both dog not eating the food very well only nibbling at it after 4 or 5 days both dogs became ill with vomiting I stopped feeding the food and ran complete blood work on both dogs with the results all coming back normal, fluids and anti-vomiting injection were given to both dogs.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61896	12/8/2010 18:41	Eukanuba Large Breed Puppy Dry Dog Food 40 Pound	Vomiting bile and blood, explosive diarrhea, High ALT (SGPT) and low magnesium. Lethargy, no longer interested in food or drink. No presence of obstruction after surgery was performed to rule that out. Liver failure and Salmonella typhimurium infection suspected. Puppy has lost 16 lbs to date.
EON-61849	12/6/2010 9:20	Wellness Senior Formula	I purchased cans of Wellness Senior Dog Food at (b) (6) Several of the cans had dried barley on the top of the food and on the sides of the food and the overall consistency was very dry. More worrisome was that in the middle of each can was a piece of plastic about the size of a dime to a quarter. The plastic pieces were either green or blue and appeared to be the type of plastic found in a plastic bag. Each of the defective cans began with the letters/numbers D089. My daughter reported the problem to Wellness by phone in early October and we then filed a follow up e-mail report with photos of the defective cans to (b) (6) at Wellness (reference # 198312). We were sent (3) $5 coupons for a future Wellness purchase but received no follow up on the problem. On 11/15/10 I purchased 24 cans of Wellness Senior Food from (b) (6) again. The manager had packed the cans for me in advance as they special order the Wellness Food for us. We finished the cans of Senior Wellness we already had on hand before opening the new cans. When we did open the new cans, we found the same defect as noted above. I examined the 24 new cans and discovered that all 24 cans began with the same D089 series of letters/numbers. We opened one more can and found the exact same defect. I e-mailed (b) (6) (b) (6) at Wellness again on 11/30/10 advising her of the continuing problem with the cans of food with the D089 starting letters/numbers. I said that I was disappointed that the cans of food had not been recalled as I had just purchased 24 new cans which had the same defect. I added that I did not want any more coupons as I was switching to a different brand of Senior canned dog food because I had lost confidence in Wellness. I stated that I was disappointed that I had never received an explanation or follow up to the problem with the above mentioned cans. In response we received an auto reply stating that (b) (6) was no longer with Wellness as of 10/17/10. I then e-mailed info at wellpet.com with all of the above information. They responded to my daughter's e-mail address (b) (6) as she was the first one to contact Wellness about the problem and she forwarded the response to me. The response was from (b) (6) at Consumer Affairs at Wellness instructing us to return the dog food to (b) (6) for a complete refund. I returned the 22 unopened cans to (b) (6) on 12/3/10 and received a full refund. The manager, (b) (6) stated that (b) (6) had not been made aware of any problem by Wellness but that she was going to e-mail the other (b) (6) stores to advise them of the problem. As of your last update, I see no evidence of any recall by Wellness of the above described defective food. We have discontinued purchasing Wellness products as we are disappointed that they are evidently not concerned about the potential choking hazard due to the pieces of plastic in the food, not to mention the poor overall quality of that particular product. I am not sure of the exact date that the problem started as requested below but will put the first of October.
EON-61841	12/6/2010 7:17	Poochie Chews	(b) (6) choked on a soft rawhide chew bone manufactured under the name of Poochie Chews.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61839	12/6/2010 7:16	Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky	Shortly after purchasing and giving Costco's "Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky treats" to our 15 plus pound dogs, they both had diarrhea and one began vomiting yellowish foamy liquid. I didn't realize it was from the "100% natural" treats until a week or so later and began investigating. This lead to an internet search where I found numerous other warnings from pet owners.
EON-61838	12/6/2010 7:15	Hills Prescription Diet r/d canine	My dog has had pancreatitis since July 2008. Since then, he has been prescribed Hills Prescription Diet r/d for canines by his vet, (b) (6) of (b) (6). Since then, there have been numerous issues with cans smelling of chemicals, metals and other odd smells. The consistency, color and texture of the food have also not been consistent. My vet's clinic has been very good at returning the bad food but that does not, however, solve the problem. I had been willing to "put up" with the periodic returns until tonight. I should note that my dog cannot eat other food, so I am stuck with this. Tonight, I opened one can from the new batch I just received this morning (12-03-10) from my vet. I dare anyone to smell the contents of this can, or rather these cans, and not smell ground up cigarette butts. It was disgusting. There's no mistaking that smell. This is beyond unethical. Food should smell like FOOD. There is pork, rice and soy in the food. It doesn't smell like any of those, not even those foods after they've been burned. Here are the item #'s from this batch of food: 11 2012 T281 1949 301 (1 case) 11 2012 T281 1948 301 (4 cases) 11 2012 T281 1947 301 (1 case) I opened one can from each case. They ALL smell like cigarette butts, with a hint of a chemical smell too. I used to work in the food industry in branding and there is no way these are normal food smells. I have other case numbers from the past, such as T2212 224 7014 05-2012, where my dog had a flare of his pancreatitis and then was better off of it. Considering how many dogs need this diet to LIVE, I hope you will look into this situation immediately.
EON-61757	12/1/2010 8:31	Iams Minichunks ProActive Health 1+years	Purchased a new bag of Iams Minichunks Proactive Health for 1+ years. She developed severe diarrhea. She vomited a large amount of food once then the next day vomited blood. She had an extensive work up at the ERVet with a follow up to her primary vet. Primary vet also treated a 14 year old lab who had began with Diarrhea and discovered that the same rods were showing up in the stool samples of both this dog and the lab.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61733	11/29/2010 22:36	Natural Balance Duck & Potato formula	I use Natural Balance Duck & Potato formula, with the last case I purchased, the food is somewhat runny. Of course with the runny food my dog know has runny stool as well. When I opened the last can the top of the food was darker than the bottom of the can. I had this problem last year with this food as well and probably should have changed then, but when I email the company they told me that their formula has not changed and that was that. So I decided not to go that route again.
EON-61732	11/29/2010 18:35	Pro-Treat 100% pure beef liver treats for dogs	I ordered a 21oz can of Gimborn Pro-Treat Freeze Dried Beef Liver Treats from amazon.com on 9/27/2010 via 2 day express shipping. At first, everything looks fine as before (Have used this product in various sizes between 2 different dogs for almost 20 years) My mother usually cut the treats in half or fours because its rather large for a miniature dachshund. Then on 11/16/2010, she pour out a bunch from the can to cut them down in size and out comes 2 live bugs, then when she check inside the can, there are more live bugs and worms/larvae crawling inside, there are also what appears to be shredded larvae skins/shells. They're mostly at the bottom of the can, makes it hard to spot at first if not paying attention, and the beef liver treat have obvious holes on them, I would assume the bugs have been feeding on them. I'm very certain that the lid on the liver treat can has never been left partially or completely opened in the house, nor did it arrived from amazon.com with the lid opened, so I'll have to assume it was contaminated either during the manufacturing or distributing process. To date, my voice mails to Gimborn's customer service or quality assurance department have not been returned after a week. The expiration date on the bottom of the can is 8/6/2012.
EON-61721	11/29/2010 7:30	Purina Adult Cat Chow Full Formula	I went to the local Chevron in (b) (6) to buy a small box of cat food until I could get to the grocery store. I brought home Purina Dry Cat Food and filled their bowl and put my cat up there to eat. I came back in the room about 30 minutes later and the whole container was infested with maggots.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61686	11/26/2010 0:07	Mini Dingo (Chicken Meat in the Middle)	I purchased a product "Mini Dingo" Rawhide and gave one to my pet. The next day she was sick to her stomach two times but otherwise did not appear to show any other symptoms. The following 2 - 3 days I gave her one each day and she again was sick to her stomach. The next two days I didn't give her one and on the 4th day I gave her another "Mini Dingo" Rawhide. The following day she was sick and on the 6th day continued to vomit and she had a bowel movement with blood in her stool. I took her to the vet for diagnosis. They took blood and examined her. No diagnosis was made. The next day she continued to be sick and lethargic, no appetite and could not keep liquids down and was visibly very ill. I took her to emergency vet and they put her on interveinus. The next morning I took her to her regular vet and they kept her on intervenus. By 12:00 p.m. the doctor said she was gravely ill and he did not have hope. He said she was probably not very comfortable and upon discussion with the doctor it was decided to have her euthanized. This pet was a healthy animal and had yearly visits to her vet. She had no illness prior to giving her this product. Upon her eating this rawhide it appeared she had a toxic reaction.
EON-61656	11/24/2010 1:41	Freshies Supreme Green Dental Bones. Waggin Train Dental Treats for Dogs.	The product of complaint was purchased at the Wal-Mart on (b) (6) (b) (6) on/around November 10th, 2010. As per the bag's instructions, one bone per day was given until the fourth day, when she started exhibiting lethargic and depressed behavior, and refused to eat her dog food. After a day and a half of not eating, I brought her into my work (b) (6) When examined by the vet, her physical was normal, but her bloodwork was abnormal. Her ALKP and ALT were extremely high, which mean that her liver was functioning abnormally. This prompted an ultrasound where the vet found no evidence of tumors, but suspected that she may have had an infection or abscess in her liver. He sent off blood to do a CBC (Complete Blood Count) in order to determine if her body was fighting an infection/abscess (in which case, her white blood cells would be high), and it came back normal. She was put on Zentonil, a liver supplement, and started to improve during the week until my mother gave her another Freshies dental bone. Later that night she began acting lethargic and depressed and did not want to go outside or eat. That morning she hung her head over her food bowl and drooled, but could not force herself to eat anything. This is when I knew for certain that the treats were the cause of my dog's liver problem. Her liver values were retested today, and they are still abnormally high, but less than what they were the first time she was tested. The vet is hopeful that her liver will return to normal after another week or two on the Zentonil, but also suspects that the treats are to blame for the sudden liver problem. Also, other internet accounts and reports of Waggin Train brand dog products making their animals very ill, sometimes fatally, heighten my concern that this brand should be pulled off the shelves.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61643	11/22/2010 19:46	Great Life Performance Pet Products: Wild Salmon	I think you should be aware that I recently switched my 2 dogs to Great Life salmon and it was a disaster. Both dogs ended with with terrible diarrhea and vomiting. I spent 1.5 weeks swapping them over and I was so convinced this was a good food that I never thought it was the food. I put them on chicken and rice till they were OK and then back to the food. Again very sick. Once again I put them on chicken and rice until they improved and again they got very sick. I took them to the vet thinking it was parasites, but nothing was wrong and $200 later they assured me it was environmental. With nothing else to take away I finally concluded it was the food. I have kept them off it for 2 weeks now and they are fine. After eliminating everything else the only problem could be the food and since it affected 2 unrelated dogs an allergy is not likely. I can send a sample of the food for you to test if you are interested.
EON-61635	11/22/2010 7:22	ZiwiPeak Natural New Zealand Pet Nutrition Daily Cat Cuisine Venison Recipe	In August 2010 I ordered 4 bags of ZiwiPeak Daily Cat Cuisine Venison food from (b) (6). In mid-September, 2010, (b) (6) developed what appeared to acne on his chin. Called the veterinarian and followed recommendation to clean chin daily with mild soap and water. Acne became persistently worse. Another cat in the house was having the same symptoms with more severity. The other cat was given a a ringworm culture to rule out ringworm. The culture was negative. Treated both cats' chins with Duoxo pads prescribed by the vet. No improvement. (b) (6) was then seen by the vet and given a Convenia antibiotic shot by the vet. The vet recommended I inspect the environment and food for anything unusual/expired. Upon inspection, discovered that an unopened bag of ZiwiPeak, with the same expiration date and batch number as the food currently being fed to the cats, has a strange, white substance on it that appears to be some type of mold. I have the half-empty bag and the unopened bag in my possession. Discontinued use of the food. Chin infections are now improving. Made a report for the other cat, (b) (6) Report Key: 2B08649C-D2C6DAC4-C50BA7C5-F3E5B15F-02A67225-D6D77AE8-1941E3BD-4E9F5A77.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61634	11/22/2010 7:21	ZiwiPeak Natural New Zealand Pet Nutrition Daily Cat Cuisine Venison	In August 2010 I ordered 4 bags of ZiwiPeak Daily Cat Cuisine Venison food from (b) (6). In mid-September, 2010, (b) (6) developed what appeared to be acne on her chin. She then developed a sore between her toes. The acne became very pervasive on (b) (6) chin and lips. The veterinarian did a ringworm culture to rule out ringworm. The culture was negative. Treated her chin with Duoxo pads prescribed by the vet. No improvement. (b) (6) was then given a Convenia antibiotic shot by the vet. A second cat in the household is also affected with the same symptoms. The vet recommended I inspect the environment and food for anything unusual/expired. Upon inspection, discovered that an unopened bag of ZiwiPeak, with the same expiration date and batch number as the food currently being fed to the cats, has a strange, white substance on it that appears to be some type of mold. I have the half-empty bag and the unopened bag in my possession. Discontinued use of the food. Chin infections are now improving.
EON-61626	11/19/2010 14:12	Cesar Canine Cuisine-Grilled Chicken wet dog food 100 g (individual portions)	(b) (6) ate dog food that my mom's dog wouldn't eat and (b) (6) threw it up immediately. After that, my mom said that her dog did the same thing and she put the food up. She just thought her dog was sick. Now we know it was the food.
EON-61616	11/19/2010 11:42	The O'Neill Cat Colony Website Test	This is a test. I received an Ask CVM e-mail that the SRP is not working so I am testing it before contacting (b) (6).
EON-61569	11/17/2010 14:51	Blue Buffalo Life Protection	I purchased a medium size bag of BLUE BUFFALO LIFE PROTECTION SENIOR FORMULA dog food on 10/20/10 and my dog had extreme bloody diarrhea by 10/27/10. This food product is not specified in the product recall. Previous to this episode my dog had finished her first small bag of the weight control chicken & brown rice formula without incident. My vet in (b) (6) reported seeing several dogs with similar symptoms that had recently purchased a new bag of blue buffalo dog food. Apparently my dog had the most severe reaction, with diarrhea lasting 2 weeks and an intestinal tract infection, resulting in vet bills totaling $478.13. PetsMart took the product back for a full refund (without the bag) and took a full report of the incident and copies of my vet bills to file a report with their corporate office.
EON-61556	11/16/2010 15:40	Newman's Own Organics: Chicken Formula for Dogs	Acute onset seizures (4-5 in a single night), generalized ataxia and dull mentation
EON-61554	11/16/2010 12:15	Everpet Cat Food	Cats were started on a new bag of cat food. They became sick within hours and over the next few days 40 plus cats have died.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61545	11/16/2010 6:50	Hills J/D , Pure Fjordpet salmon oil for dogs, Pedigree sticks joint care	Hi RE-it should be stated that Omega 3/6 acids can have adverse reactions with some dogs The vet advised to introduce omega 3 to him. He had Pure Fjordpet salmon oil for dogs and after gradually going from 5 ml to 10ml he was sick once-should go up to 15 ml per day. [Stopped it solved the problem]. The shop -zooplus.co.uk -said try introducing it gradually as I did. I do not know why they do not state that this reaction could occur. Tried Pedigree sticks joint care after 4 days/sticks he started to make vomiting noises but did not vomit [Stopped it solved the problem]. Pedigree said try gradually increasing dose - I do not know why they do not state that this reaction could occur. He started Hills J/D gradually [50 mg daily] he again had an episode of making loud vomiting noises without vomiting, for a few seconds. [Stopped it solved the problem]. Hills said this is not a known reaction. Try giving him 25 grams a day then increase. I do not know why they do not state that this reaction could occur In addition is Omega 3 clinically proven to help joint care in dogs?
EON-61534	11/14/2010 13:05	Wellness Core Ocean Formula	My dog is on a limited diet due to allergies. As I was scooping out his breakfast, I noticed pieces of fish-shaped kibble that were of a different color and texture than the dog kibble. It is obvious that the pieces were typical of cat food. The food he is on is supposed to be grain-free and have fish as the single protien source. He has allergic reactions to chicken and turkey which are key ingredients in the manufacturer's cat food varieties. I noticed that he has been scratching more frequently. I picked the pieces of cat food out of his food and saved one in a baggie so that I can show the store of purchase Monday when they are open.
EON-61533	11/14/2010 12:10	Nature's Recipe Toy Breed Chicken Barley & Rice Recipe	Maggots were found in a 5 lb. bag of Nature's Recipe dog food that was recently purchased from Petco. Best Buy date: 03/31/11. # 00293F 10640 Bar Code: 7 30521 77050 1 Toy Breed Chicken, Barley & Rice Recipe. There were no holes in the bag or contents sprinkling out, but the maggots had eaten some of the plastic liner in the bag. The maggots were white and about an inch long stretched out.
EON-61503	11/12/2010 12:07	Blue Basics Salmon and Potato	The owner began feeding a new bag of Blue Buffalo basic Salmon. Approximately 1 week later (b) (6) became markedly Pu/PD. Urinalysis showed isosthenuria (sp. gr. - 1.011). Serum chemistry showed a calcium =14.4, Phos = 3.6.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61496	11/12/2010 0:22	Waggin Train Wholesome Chicken Jerky Teders	I gave (b) (6) a portion of a treat during lunch. When I returned home from work that evening at approximately 5:30 pm, she had thrown up and was ill. She then proceeded to have diarrhea and was low on energy. I fed her small portions of rice after talking with my vet. Later that night, her diarrhea had blood in it. She also threw up the rice at 2:30 am. I took her to the vet the next morning and they determined there was not blockage from a foreign object and her blood count appeared normal. They determined she had a severe bacterial infection and prescribed antibiotics.
EON-61495	11/11/2010 21:12	Natural Harmony Farms Healthy & Holistic Chicken and Brown Rice Recipe	Purchased a 3.5 -lb bag of Natural Harmony Farms Chicken and Brown Rice Recipe in August 2010. Put the opened bag in an airtight container from which I have been feeding my dog small amounts over the last 2.5 months. Three days ago I removed the bag from the container and dumped the food back into the container. The next morning I noticed a little bit of what looked like very fine sawdust on the outside of the container lid. There were more of the particles inside. I dumped the food in a colander and looked at it carefully for bugs--I could see nothing. So I cleaned the canister and lid. This morning the "sawdust" was all over the inside of the lid. I looked at it with a magnifying glass. There were thousands of swarming light tan-colored bugs--too tiny to see without the magnifying glass. I suspect the bugs were happily eating in the bottom half of the storage container until I opened the bag and dumped the dog food back into the container.
EON-61494	11/11/2010 20:57	IAMS Healthy Naturals with Wholesome Chicken, IAMS ProActive Health	I fed my dog IAMS dog food, starting when we got him back in December 2009. In July/August 2010, he started having severe diarrhea, vomiting, dehydration and hacking up bile. His veterinarian could not find anything wrong with him. After one of my relatives told me that their dog had been made severely ill by IAMS dog food, I did some on-line research and found that hundreds if not thousands, of other dogs and cats have been made ill by IAMS. So I stopped feeding my dog IAMS, and he got better. I switched to a different brand of dog food and he has been fine ever since. Proctor & Gamble IAMS should be investigated and all their dog food banned.
EON-61482	11/9/2010 20:01	Holistic Select with Select Actives Radiant Adult health Anchovy Sardine and Salmon Meal Recipe	My dog has been eating Holistic Select Radiant Adult Health Anchovy, Sardine and Salmon Meal recipe for several years. The company changed ownership fairly recently (formerly Eagle Pak Holistic Select), and the recipe was modified slightly at that time, but my dog has consumed several bags of the new recipe with no issues. When I started feeding him from the most recent bag I purchased (lot #2351 1, best by 12 July 2011), he started experiencing severe diarrhea and occasional vomiting. I fed him a bland diet (rice and chicken) and the symptoms stopped, but they immediately resumed when I transitioned him back to the Holistic Select. I switched to another brand of dog food and he has not experienced any further symptoms.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61462	11/8/2010 21:30	9 Lives Daily Essentials Real Flaked Tuna In Sauce	Hello, Here is the information regarding these pieces I found in two different cans. I still have more cans that I could go through and I'll most likely find more pieces as I go through them. These pieces are not the small soft or breakable pieces that I found throughout the food, these are hard and sharp Attached are two pictures that have a tape measure for size reference and the information from the bottom of one can. These pieces are sharp and could definitely injure a cats mouth, gums, intestinal track, etc. These were purchased in four packs at a Walmart in, (b) (6) These should be pulled from shelves immediately. Regards, (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61430	11/8/2010 10:31	Basics limited ingredient formula salmon and potato recipe	I switched (b) (6) to a "basic" food recipe as a precaution following a few random stomach issues over an extended period of time. She was being fed Wellness Salmon & Rice for several years (and Solid Gold prior) with mainly good results. I chose BB's salmon and potato formula and she responded very favorably to the new food. Matter of fact we were astonished at how much she enjoyed the new diet and even my 16+ year old cat, (b) (6) ate a few bites here and there out of the dogs bowl. (this might also explain an increase in her water consumption and a couple of accidents that were totally out of the norm) Goodness my guilt is overwhelming this evening. Do you require a second report for her since it was a little here and there but same symptoms? We have an exceptionally hectic home life at the moment and I lamented many times over just how many times it seemed like I had to fill the (3) bowls in the house with water. (b) (6) has required many more trips to go to the bathroom and has recently had accidents in the house. This is in NO WAY normal for her and we decided tonight that she must go to the vet to get checked. My husband feared she might be diabetic due to the symptoms or have an UTI, etc. When we came home tonight (and she had urinated (3) times within a 2 1/2 hour period) I decided to at least look again at the ingredient list of her food to make sure there was no possible salt listed (with the excess thirst). It was only by accident that on my second search attempt I added the word "thirst" and came up with the recall. Needless to say I am devastated and will take her to her Doctor first thing tomorrow. I struggled quite a lot in making the decision to change her dog food and now I am very concerned what ramifications and long term problems might we face due to the vitamin D issue. We purchased (2) 24 lb bags of the S & P Bascis formula on September 8, 2010. Within the last week we had just opened the second bag and THANKFULLY did not have the opportunity to throw away the bag yet (trash day is tomorrow, very close). Our date code is Aug 21 11 B 12 2033. I would assume that both bags had the same date code but of course the other is long gone. We live just around the corner from the Petco, (b) (6) warehouse so that is where our packing slip shows the food originated from. I did go to the Blue Buffalo and found it difficult to find their recall information. I would give them an "F" for that issue. I only hope they are more helpful when I phone the customer support number in the morning. Thank you for your help in keeping both human and beloved pets safe. Very best regards, (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61425	11/6/2010 13:03	California Natural Lamb Meal & Rice HealthBars - small bars	I purchased a bag of California Natural Lamb Meal and Rice Health Bars (Small Bar size) for my dogs on October 8, 2010 from a retailer called (b) (6). About a week after purchase, I opened the bag and poured it into my cookie jar. Upon reaching into the jar to grab some dog biscuits, one of the biscuits caught my eye because it contained something red in it. Upon further examination, the red object was found to be plastic that was baked into the biscuit. Next to the red plastic, I noticed black hair, which was also baked into the biscuit. I found another biscuit with hair baked into it. I placed these two biscuits into a plastic baggie and plan on returning them to the store where I purchased them. When I called the manufacturer (Natura...now owned by Proctor and Gamble) on 10/15/10, there was absolutely no concern on their part about the plastic baked into the biscuit. I was also told the hair in the biscuit was 'natural'. I found this answer by this manufacturer to be completely UNSATISFACTORY!!!!
EON-61422	11/5/2010 21:47	Plato Salmon Treats	Opened a new bag of Plato Salmon Strips that I bought last week. Dogs were active. Gave the dogs a Salmon treat. Within 2 hours, all 3 dogs vomited.
EON-61376	11/3/2010 13:56	Purina - I am not sure of the name serial number from bag: 02811085 1844L02	Cat was fine according to owner, was eating this food for awhile. On Sunday, 10-31-10, a new bag was opened. Patient ate a meal sunday evening and monday am and became very ill shortly thereafter. By Monday afternoon, he was very ill, severe vomiting and very uncomfortable. Bloodwork showed that his ALT was over 1000 indicating some form of liver disease or damage. He did not respond to treatment and was euthanized on the following day. He was an indoor cat and did not get into any other toxins that we are aware of. We do not know it was the food, but it is a suspicion based on the fact that it was a newly opened bag and we do not have any other known source.
EON-61374	11/3/2010 12:06	Vitalife Plus Healthy Hips & Joints Chicken Tenders	We bought the chicken tendera at Wal Mart Monday 1-25-10 and gave my two dogs 2 piceses each (b) (6) was they only one that ate the chicken tenders (b) (6) did not eat hers. the extra pieces were picked up for later use. Wensday morning 10-27-10 Squirt was acting sick by Wensday night she had diarha and bloody stool and was vomiting. We called the vet and he said to bring her in at 9:00 am on thursday 10-28-10. Whwen we got to the vet (b) (6) was in shock from loss of blood and dehydration and under went emergency procedures to save her life.
EON-61345	11/2/2010 12:16	Natural Life Nutritional Pet. . .Chciken & TURkey Platter	I opened an totally intact can (ring top tightly sealed, no dents or other damage to the can) of Natural Life chichen and turkey platter cat food and the food was half covered with thick white and green mold. I have photographs of the contaminated food and the can.
EON-61274	10/29/2010 11:32	Nutro Natural Choice small bites Lamb Meal and Rice Formula	cough and lethrgy, recovered.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61271	10/28/2010 19:42	Blue Buffalo Adult Weight Control with lifeSource bits- Chicken & Brown Rice	Cat had vomiting/bloody vomiting after eating Blue Buffalo Chicken and Rice cat food.
EON-61267	10/28/2010 17:57	Gameday Tailgate by Merrick	Pieces of broken chicken bones were found in the food.
EON-61239	10/27/2010 20:36	Chicken Jerky Dog Treats	Within 12 hours of consumption of product, both dogs had violent diaharrea (with blood), vomiting, lethargy, little interest in food. Discontued use of product, fed pumpkin, yogure and pedalyte and symptoms disappeared for the most part with 24 hours. Both dogs survived.
EON-61237	10/27/2010 15:56	Meow Mix Market Select with Real Salmon & Crab Meat in Sauce	After giving my cat, (b) (6) a cup of Meow Mix Market Select with Real Salmon & Crab Meat in Sauce, he stopped eating the product. When I went over to find out why, I found a large object in the bowl. Upon closer look it is a large 1.5 inch hunk of fish that is uncleaned. When I originally opened the cup it was covered by sauce, but I now saw that all the small chunks were almost gone and left was an unappetizing shiny looking fish piece. I immediately took the cup away, gathered my receipt, contacted the FDA and called 1-877-MeowMix. It is too early to tell if my pet has had any adverse side effects so I am only reporting a product problem at this time. I tried to be as detailed and thorough as possible, so I hope my concern is taken seriously and is properly addressed.
EON-61198	10/26/2010 13:41	Kingdom Pets Chicke Jerky	Several bags of Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerrky were purchased from Costco and dispensed among our dogs. Within one day, and one by one, 7 or our 13 HOUSE DOGS began to vomit and cease eating normal meals. Once off of the product, appetites increased and vomiting stopped. Of the 7 affected dogs, vomiting occured withing 24 hours of receiving the product, the time of vomiting then increased within 1/2 an hours of receiving the product. At that time, just the chicken jerky was vomited. Bag 1 Lot #AKKPCK)38126 (BIUB 1/7/12 Bag 2,3,4,5 Lot # AKKPCK038133 (BIUB) 1/25/12
EON-61181	10/25/2010 9:46	Natural Balance LIT Sweet Potato and Fish treats	Male and female dogs started vomiting and acute diarrhea. Female recovered and has now relapsed with bloody diarrhea and gastric disturbance. Male has diarrhea only after treatment one day in patient. Female had the product after male and I isolated cause. Absolutely sure it is this product. I am having stool tested for bacteria. This manufacturer has recently had problems with possible salmonella contamination and numerous other dog owners have comaplined on the internet recently.
EON-61180	10/25/2010 9:45	GREENIES	Purchased box of 96 aluminum lined bagged Teenie GREENIES. dental cleansing treats. My dog was given most of the bagged Greenies. At bottom of bag, perhaps the last 20, I found the treats were coated with a sandy soil & a maggot, plus flying moth like bug appeared out of the bag. I have a clean home. I found this very upsetting.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61174	10/21/2010 22:37	Nutro Venison and Brown Rice	I have bought our miniature schnauzer Nutro Venison and Brown Rice for over 2 years and never had a problem until we bought a new 30lb bag this week. After two days of eating food from the new bag my dog has developed lethargy, abdominal pain and tenderness, and vomiting with constipation. I am wondering if anyone else has had problems, and if this food is under recall?
EON-61156	10/19/2010 14:56	BLUE Large Breed Adult Chicken or BLUE Large Breed Adult Lamb or BLUE Wilderness Chicken (Dog)	I had a 9 year old Great Dane female (b) (6) who was in excellent health. Over the course of the past few months, we began noticing that she was very thirsty all of the time and also she was more frequently urinating. Occasionally, she would also vomit sort of out of no where. We took her to the vet, explained the symptoms, and there was nothing that appeared to be wrong with her. The vet mentioned that due to the increased heat indexes, these are normal symptoms leading to minor heat exhaustion. (b) (6) was very much an inside dog, well cared for, and would participate in normal everyday play/exercise. On (b) (6) I came home from work to find my (b) (6) on the floor by my bed unable to stand. She was not coherent and her eyes were glazed over. In about a minutes time, she began to seize. She had a bowel movement on the floor and died in my arms. This all occurred in a matter of 10 minutes time maybe. There was nothing I could do to help her. She was healthy and running around that morning and dead that evening. We attempted to rush her to the emergency vet in a small glimmer of hope they could save her but I knew she had passed before we even loaded her into the car. The vet called time of death when we arrived. We explained everything to the vet and without an autopsy, we wouldnt know the exact cause. However, they were pretty confident it was due to old age. So, we had her cremated. Today, I just came across the details on the Blue Buffalo dog food recall. (b) (6) has only eaten Blue Buffalo since she was a pup. She ate the Blue Buffalo Large Breed Chicken and sometime Blue Buffalo Large Breed lamb. Her symptoms are the same as those described in the various articles I have read. However, all have noted that to date, no deaths have been reported. I would like for someone to review my story and hold Blue Buffalo accountable for such a huge oversight with their pet food production. I would also like to spread the word in hopes to save someone else's beloved pet as mine is gone forever. I will be contacting (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61145	10/18/2010 13:20	Sergeant's Flea and Tick Squeeze On	On October 14, I bought this medication for my ten pound Yorkie Poo. I put it on her, and two hours later, she became violently ill. Hives, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, lethargy, redness.... You name it, she had it. Normally, my two year old is extremely healthy. Never been sick a day in her life. But, after applying this medication, I began to fear for her life. I called the company, and they advised me to give her a bath in dish soap. I complied, and she did not seem to be any better, so I was scared to go to sleep for fear that something would happen to her, so I was up all night with her, cleaning up her numerous vomitings on my carpet, and took her to the vet this morning. Immediately after we walked in, the vet knew what was wrong with her by the extreme redness of her skin, and the itchiness of her ears, eyes, and paws. The vet charged me for her services, and I called Sargeant's to file a complaint with them, and they gave me the runaround. I was repeatedly hung up on, harassed, transferred and disconnected, and no one would help me. I filed a claim with them last night at 3AM, but they told me it could be weeks before they get back to me if they get back to me at all. My dog could've died, and I'm scared for other people's pets as long as this product is on the shelves. I also plan to file a complaint with the local media, and the authorities. Also, try googling "Seargant's flea treatment" and look at all the complaints from people all over.
EON-61139	10/18/2010 11:00	Meow Mix Market Select with Real Turkey & Giblets in Gravy	MeowMix Market Select 2.75 oz cat food labeled "with Real Turkey & Giblets in Gravy" is has fish broth and tuna as the first 2 ingredients on the label. Tuna is mentioned NOWHERE on the foil lid on the product!. My cat hates fish. I then found that all the Chichen/Turkey Market Select products that I purchased had fish broth and tuna as the main ingredient. I returned the unused ones to the store but feel that it is misleading the consumer.
EON-61136	10/17/2010 10:05	PINNACLE Duck and Potatoe Formula Holistic Puppy/Adult dog food by Breeder's Choice. STOCK # BC 60890	excessive vomiting
EON-61135	10/15/2010 23:07	PEDIGREE CHOICE CUTS IN GRAVY (WITH BEEF)	OPENED CAN SLIGHTLY TO POUR GRAVY OVER SICK DOGS MEDICINE SO HE WOULD EAT IT BETTER. WENT TO FEED OTHER DOGS AND WHEN I OPENED THE CAN FULLY, I SAW A BLACK SUBSTANCE ON THE FOOD.
EON-61133	10/15/2010 19:17	Blue Buffolo Blue basics chicken and brown rice	presented pu/pd inappropriate urination labs indicated hyper Ca and further testing found excessive Vit D

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61127	10/15/2010 14:42	BLUE - Puppy Chicken & Brown Rice Recipe	(b) (6) has been eating Blue Buffalo Puppy Dry food for over 2 months. She has had constant loose stools. She has been taken to the vet numerous times. They have found no evidence of parasites or worms. Upon hearing of the recent recall I became concerned. I told owner it could be the food. (b) (6) was immediately switched to Fromm puppy and the loose stools stopped overnight. I am convinced there is more wrong with this food than what the current recall suggests. I googled loose stools and Blue Buffalo. There were more owner discussions than I could read. All said the same thing, when the food was switched the problem corrected itself. Someone needs to look into it, before a dog dies from organ failure or dehydration.
EON-61121	10/15/2010 10:57	Eukanuba Puppy Natural Lamb & Rice Formula	On September 2nd, 2010 I've purchased 15 lb bag of Eukanuba Puppy Natural Lamb & Rice Formula. Two days after I opened a bag and gave food to my puppy she started having diarrhea and vomiting. I put her on bland diet (boiled chicken and rice) for a few days and her condition improved. I put her back on Eukanuba formula and her symptoms returned with increased severity, there was a lot of mucus in her stool. I also noticed that my puppy gets tired very quickly. Still not connecting her condition to the dry food I took my dog to the Vet. The dog was checked and nothing was found, her Fecal float test came back negative and there was no parasites found in her stool. Back on chicken and rice my dog seems to recover again. I started adding the dry food again, my dog barely touched the food, believing that she liked natural chicken I was giving her better I kept adding Eukanuba Puppy Natural Lamb & Rice Formula. For the third time her symptoms returned and she refused to touch dry food. That is when I went online and read numerous posts on http://www.aspca.org/blog/pet-food-recall-iams.html Although Eukanuba Puppy Natural Lamb & Rice Formula was not on the recall list it made my dog sick for month and a half. She is now on different food, all symptoms are gone. I'm surprised that there is no media coverage about this recall. Please take actions!

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61109	10/14/2010 13:06	Nutro Ultra Holistic Superfood Adult	Sept 25- 5:30-6:00-I gave (b) (6) a 3oz sample of Nutro Ultra Holistic Superfood-Adult and 1.5-2 hours later he began vomiting pcs of the dog food. I called the vet and they said it upset his stomach and not to give him any food or water just ice cubes for 12-24 hrs after that I could give him boiled chicken or scrambled eggs. I did that but he was still throwing up the next day. I took him to the Vet on Sept 28th and they said he had gastritis. They gave him SQ Fluids and some shots, took his blood and sent him home. Sept 29 in the am he started to throw up brown fluids and was very out of it. I called the vet and they said it was old blood and to bring him in. They didn't think that morning that he was going to make it. They told me I might want to make a decision about putting him to sleep. I asked them if there was anything else they could do and the vet said they could hook him up to a IV but that he would need it 24/7. I asked them to hook (b) (6) up there during the day and we would see if there were any improvements by this evening. If there where I asked them to continue giving fluids there during the day and then give him the SQ fluids at night and I would take him home. The doctor was having problems running his organ profile due to it being lipid which he couldn't understand because (b) (6) was not over weight or anything and was healthy. They even let it sit in the fridge over night and tried again on the morning on the (b) (6) The results of the Hematology blood work came back normal for a dog with dehydration. By the end of the (b) (6) and being on fluids all day (b) (6) didn't seem so out of it and was paying attention to what was going on around him and he was sitting up. We all thought he made some improvements and decided to keep doing this until he got better. He also had a bowel movement which hasn't happened since the 25 in the am. It was also normal. They took a urine sample from him and tested it . It also came back normal for a dog with dehydration. That night when I took him home he only vomited 1 time. I couldn't give him even ice cubes anymore because any liquid on his stomach would make him vomit. The Dr now has reason to believe that (b) (6) has pacentias due to his symptoms. He also found a heart murmur that wasn't ever there until this. Pancreatias can also cause this. The vet said this wasn't a ongoing sickness due to urine/blood results. On (b) (6) I checked on him every 2 hours. Between 5-7am he passed away.
EON-61095	10/13/2010 16:01	Blue Buffalo Salmon and Potato Basics Dog Food	Eating Blue Buffalo Salmon Basics (part of the recall) and developed polydipsia and polyuria and vomiting acutely. Blood chemistries revealed hypercalcemia and hyperphosphatemia. Housemates were also PU/PD and also eating Blue Buffalo. Blood chemistries revealed hypercalcemia only. All were treated with intravenous fluids (0.9% NaCl). All have recovered.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61084	10/12/2010 22:21	Purina Dog Chow	Have been feeding all 4 of my dogs, St. Bernard, German Shepard, Lhasa Ahpsa, Pomeranian Purina dog chow for 7 years without any problems. Bought 34lb bag on Tuesday October 5th 2010. Within 2 days they all refused to eat the food, they have suffered vommiting & diahrea. The lot number is 17800-12913, 58321, Purchased Tuesday October 5th, 2010 at the (b) (6) Dog food is dated 06/09. Item:00347153. Began feeding from this bag Wednesday October 6th, 2010. St bernard ate only a portion of her food & has become unwilling to eat, she has had constant loose bowels, german Shepard has stopped eating and has been throwing up all over the house, and has also had very loose bowels, the Lhasa apsa is eating a few pieces but then going out with loose bowels, the pomeranian has been eating my cat food instead. There must be something wrong with this particular bag or lot because as I said I haven't experienced any problems for more than 7 years
EON-61082	10/12/2010 15:16	GNC ULTRA MEGA PREMIUN MILK REPLACER ENRICHED FORMULA POWDER	I found an abandoned kitten around 3 weeks old on 10/03/10. I began feeding her infant formula for humans, and she was doing great and was very active. On Friday 10/08/10 I went to Petsmart looking for a nursing bottle to make it easier for her to feed and inquired about kitten formula. The sales associate recommended a product called "GNC ULTRA MEGA PREMIUM MILK REPLACER" for my kitten to try. I purchased it. I came home, followed the instructions and my kitten refused to eat. I assumed it was because it may have not tasted as good to her as the previous formula she was used to. I continued to try to get her to eat it and she did. Shortly thereafter, I started noticing diarrhea and developed a rash on her bottom and became increasing fussy. The next day she was constantly sleeping and crying, I never thought the formula could be the cause as she was showing signs of her teeth coming in. On Sunday she began having difficulties, such as loose stool that smelled very unusual and had blood in it, crying constantly, moving very little to no movement for hours and she began to have difficulty breathing and then after many hours of this she passed away. I assumed at the time she was just sick considering her mother was no longer there to care for her, but later that night I started trying to figure out what went wrong, after all she was striving fine for me and then took a sudden turn for the worst. The oly thing new was the formula. I contacted the company via email and never received a reply back.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61079	10/11/2010 12:40	Kirkland brand dry cat food. I dont know the rest of this the bag was thrown away.	We began feeding our cat kirkland brand dry cat food. He started to lose weight. He had been slightly over weight so we didn't worry too much. Then wednesday morning october 6th he would not eat cat treats in the morning and threw up. He was also lethargic. thursday the vet did blood work that confirmed that he had liver damage. My sisters cat cosmo who lives in another state developed the same symptoms the same day. He also was diagnosed with liver damage. The only things these cats have in common is kirkland brand dry cat food. Our other cat did not like to eat it and did lose some weight. I cant be completely certain but strongly suspect a problem with the cat food.
EON-61078	10/11/2010 12:30	Purina Beneful Healthy Radiance Dog Food	Over the last few months we noticed our two dogs itching more, sleeping more, and vomiting more. On Wednesday October 6th, 2010 my son pulled his drum stand out from behind where we store our dog food container. He noticed there was an awful lot of "dust" on it. Then a few minutes later he realized the dust was moving. He called us in to look at it. They were tiny white specks of dust and sure enough they were moving. We went downstairs (not a basement, a split entry house) to look where the stand had been and realized the container with the food, the bowls, our patio doors, the cabinet next to the container, and part of our computer desk were covered with this "dust" that moves. We took everything out side, cleaned it all with hot soapy water, threw away all the dog food and started over with a brand new bag. As soon as we opened that bag and poured it into the container we realized that bag also had "dust" that moved. We jumped online to do some research and learned they were grain mites. If you google in "grain mites in dog food" you will get thousands of hits all with one brand name...Beneful Dog Food, dating back at least four years. Many blogs state they contacted Purina to complain, so I can only assume they have been aware of the situation for at least that long and have done nothing to prevent it. I called Beneful on Thursday October 7th, received a case number, and put in a complaint. I have also taken the precautionary measure of letting the last two retail establishments I have purchased this product from so they may be aware of the situation and look into it if they so design. We have been scrubbing our house down for 5 days and have yet to get them under control. I have contacted 4 different pest control companies who have given me advice on how to get rid of these mites. They seem to have slowed down, but they are still active in my home. I called Purina again on Friday, October 8th, 2010 and formally opened a claim. They stated they will be in touch with us in 3-5 business days. On Friday, October 8th 2010 at approximately 11:00am Purina contacted me to ask if they may get a sample of the product. I said absoutly as I have all of the new bag and some of the bag we purchased previously. We are keeping a sample of each for ourselves and the FDA if they so choose to ask for one. We also took the precautionary measure of letting our home owners insurance document the issue also. We are unsure of how long these things have been in our home as we have used Beneful for the last five years. We always noticed a slight dust, just assumed it was residue from the food. We only know the date we noticed it.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61077	10/10/2010 23:30	Blue Wilderness Natural Evolutionary Diet with LifeSource Bits Chicken	In June 2010, I added Blue Buffalo Wilderness Chicken dry cat food to my cat's diet in a 50-50 mix with his prior dry food, which he has eaten for many years prior. He ate an entire bag of the Blue Wilderness food over the course of a month or two with no ill effects, so I purchased another bag. I continued to feed him a 50-50 mixture of his prior and the Blue Wilderness foods, and within a week he began to develop symptoms of a mysterious illness. He was lethargic at first, and then additionally began exhibiting signs of ano-genital irritation. He was defecating and urinating away from his cat box 90% of the time, licking his ano-genital area excessively, and yowling in pain on occasion in conjunction with this licking. His excreted urine volume was also elevated to at least 3-4 times his usual amount. I took him to an emergency vet upon my observance of his yowling and licking on August 8, 2010, and subsequently to his regular vet for repeated visits to evaluate his illness until I was able to deduce that it was likely the Blue Wilderness cat food that was causing the problems. Given that he had no issues with the initial change to Blue Wilderness cat food, it wasn't obvious that the new bag could be the culprit. The first suggestion of my veterinarian was that perhaps my cat was constipated given that the X-ray, bloodwork, and fecal tests revealed no obvious reasons for the changes in his health. I added wet food to his diet on the vet's recommendation, and the incidence of his defecating outside of the box decreased and he seemed to be feeling slightly better. When I stopped giving him soft food, and he was eating only the prior 50-50 mix of dry food, his health issues returned, again yeowling in pain while licking his ano-genital area. I took him back to the vet for repeated exams and testing, and reintroduced wet food into his diet. Again, no clear answers from exams or testing (the vet at that point suspected an undetermined urinary tract issue), but his symptoms again improved with a reduction in his consumption of the dry food. I took him off of the dry food entirely, and he improved drastically. Then, in an effort to determine whether it could have been his food that was causing the problems, I began feeding him the 50-50 mix of dry food only. His symptoms again returned, so I immediately switched him back to his original diet of Hills W/D dry cat food. Shortly thereafter, he returned to his normal self, urinating and defecating only in his cat box. The excessive grooming and yeowling ceased entirely, as did his lethargy. His urine volume returned to his typical pre-illness levels.
EON-61074	10/9/2010 14:07	Weruva Meow Luau	I was shopping for Weruva canned cat food online and noticed that one of their formulations - Meow Luau - has Aloe in it. Aloe is poisonous to cats, according to many lists I've seen. Also, they claim to be "grain-free," but have peas and potatoes in some of their canned foods. I was told by vet that a products is not really grain-free if it contains peas or other vegetables.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61072	10/9/2010 13:02	Royal Canin Veterinary Limited Ingredient Diets Green Pea and Rabbit formula	I started my male cat (b) (6) on Royal Canine Limited Ingredient Veterinary Diet, Green Peas and Rabbit formula because of diarrhea. Once both my cats were completely on this food exclusively they started vomiting multiple times per day. My male cat had no vomiting prior to starting this diet. My female cat (b) (6) had no prior health problems. She was only getting this diet because I need to feed them the same thing. I am the owner and a veterinarian. I consulted with a boarded veterinary nutritionist who confirmed that this is NOT an expected response when changing to this diet. I am therefore reporting the adverse reaction. Since stopping the food, the vomiting immediately lessened.
EON-61059	10/8/2010 12:17	Wellness Lamb and Sweet Potato Dog food	About 3 months ago I noticed a small, dark blue piece of plastic in a can of Wellness canned dog food. I assumed it was something that dropped in as I was preparing the food. I could not figure out what or where it came from so I threw the whole can away. On Oct 6th I opened a can of Wellness Lamb & Sweet Potato and found several pieces of the same dark blue plastic along with several pieces of green plastic. On Oct 7 I called the number on the can and the girl offered to mail me some coupons. (i dont want coupons) I explained to her I need to know what this is because I am not sure if my dogs have ingested this over the last few months. She gave me her email address. I sent the numbers on the can along with a picture of the plastic pieces. She told me she would call me back today, She never called back. This morning which is Oct 8, I called her back. She said her distributing facility viewed the picture and said it looks like the "pieces of raw material ingredient bags". She said they were sorry and they take every effort to scan for foreign objects. I asked if I should take my dogs to the Veterinarian and she said if it would make me feel better. This happened to me twice in just a few months and feel this needs to be investigated this is a premium quality dog food with a premium price, and nowhere on the ingredients label does it list plastic. Please feel free to contact me. my home number is (b) (6) / daytime (b) (6) (b) (6)
EON-61057	10/8/2010 11:27	IAM RX WEIGHT CONTROL DOG FOOD	See Report ID 2025 ICSR 1020582 -- I want the FDA to be aware my dog DIED because of IAMS incompetence -- PLEASE DO SOMETHING TO STOP THEM FROM DOING THIS ANY MORE -- PLEASE!!! IAM RX WEIGHT CONTROL IS THE DOG FOOD THAT DID THIS!!!

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-61022	10/6/2010 23:41	PurinaOne Smart Blend Lamb and Rice Lot # 02071087 2125L02	(b) (6) has eaten nothing but PurinaOne Lamb and Rice all his life; the same food the breeder fed him. Always enthusidastic about eating. Fed about 3/4 cup twice a day. Purchased new bag of food on 9/22/2010 and 4 days later, Monday, he would not eat and seemed to be in pain. He vomited yellow bile twice that morning and I took him to his regular vet. The doctor did radiographs but did not show any obstruction or injuries. Vet gave subqutaneous fluids, and prescribed a bland diet and an antacid, famotidine 10mg and to give 5mg about 30 minutes before meal time. Pet didn't eat and continued to vomit yellow bile every 1-2 hours. Tuesday, pet still refused to eat and could barely keep water down, vomited bile every 2-4 hours. Wednesday, gums and eyes began turning yellow and took to the vet I work at for convenience for recommended bloodwork and fluids. Blood results showed acute liver failure and pet was hospitalized for 3 nights on IV fluids. Ultrasound showed liver was inflamed but all other organs are healthy. Continued to vomit and not eating. Ate small amount of food Friday night and by Saturday, hadn't vomited for about 24 hours, attitude improved and pet okayed to go home Saturday evening. Doctor prescribed liver supplement, Amoxicillin 100mg twice daily (antibiotic), Metronidazole 250mg once a day (antibiotic), and prescription bland diet until pet can tolerate solid food. Since back home, has improved getting back on solid food and taking medication okay. Attitudue and energy level continued to improve with each day. Now he's back on solid food and wants nothing to do with this original food but will eat other dog's dry food. They are on different food brands. Let both Doctors know I was looking into this food brand and submitting a claim.
EON-61019	10/6/2010 14:11	lams proactive health mini chunks	My dog a shih-tzu mix has been on lams since she was a puppy and now she is 4. Last Tuesday 9/21/10, she woke up panting and shaking in severe pain distress. I rushed her to her Vet. They did a complete blood work up a urinalysis stool samples xrays. Nothing came back to say what is going on. She was prescribed Novox tramadol and an antibiotic. Over the coarse of the next 5 days being Sunday 9/26/10 she was almost like she had not been Ill. She ate no lams until Sunday night first time since this mystery illness started. Monday morning all symptoms are back. I called the Vet and asked for her feces to be tested for salmonella even though my dog has not been vomiting her stools are not right there is mucus in them. I need a piece of mind with this lams issue and my dog to get better we are now not feeding her the lams anymore. She has not ate the lams that is listed on the voluntary recall but something is not right with this food! I have been reading all these stories on various websites of other peoples pets suffering the same mystery illness and my dog being so ill, I hope and pray if there is something wrong with the lams food that P&G speaks up and alerts the public. Many people are having their dogs euthanized because they cant afford the vet treatment. Please look into this mystery.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60997	10/4/2010 21:05	Iams® Healthy Naturals; Adult with Wholesome Chicken	On August 14, 2010 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (b) (6) suddenly starting vomiting. We knew she had not ate anything foreign or ingested anything poisonous because one of us had been home with the our dogs for the past several days so we decided to contacted our Vet. We were asked a series of questions & then told to bring her in to be evaluated by the doctor. While at the vet it was determined by the doctor & I that we would inject (b) (6) with fluids, give her anti-nausea medication to try & control the vomiting, feed her a bland diet for the couple of days & no water for the first 24 hours. It was a Saturday afternoon & due to the fact we could not conclude to why she was vomiting, except for the fact it was a new bag of food & treats we had just bought at the store, we decided this was the best way to proceed so that not to put the her through unnecessary & costly procedures. By the following afternoon she was able to drink water & hold down ground beef & rice. Within a couple of days we introduced to dry food back into her diet & she seemed to be okay but over the past two months she still has occasional vomiting & her bowel movements have been soft or diarrhea-like. On the August 15, 2010, I was woken up by my other dog (b) (6) who had severe diarrhea all over my living room carpets. At this point I was thinking the sickness between the both dogs had to be related in some sort of way. These were both healthy, active dogs days before. The severe diarrhea continued throughout the day. We gave stopped all liquid for 24 hours & then gave her a bland diet of ground beef & rice for the next couple of days. The dry dog food was then again introduced into her diet but she also has been having bowel movement problems, soft stools & cramping the past few months. If it wasn't for Petsmart not having the food in stock today when we went to purchase another bag & the store clerk telling me about the recall, We wouldn't have known that there was a recall.
EON-60977	10/4/2010 14:20	kibbles and bits orginial	after eating the kibbles and bits my dogs began sleeping alot, throwing up, not wanting to eat, having what I call seizures. I fed them again today and the same thing
EON-60970	10/3/2010 19:55	Wellness Super5Mix Large Breed Puppy Health	Bag was contaminated with moth larvae.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60969	10/3/2010 17:40	Iams Weight Control Proactive Health 1 years+	Feeding (b) (6) Iams Proactive Health Weight Control for approx 8 months without any problem. Purchased a new bag in September 2010, within one week of serving her the new bag of food, she began to slowly avoid eating with the exception of a few bites here and there when she hadn't eaten for a long period of time. Periodically she would eat a few bites if she was really starving. After 1.5 weeks of serving new food, (b) (6) began acting very lethargic, vomiting, drinking lots of water and had frequent stools. (b) (6) is an indoor dog, who eats no table scraps, nor anything outside since I am with her when she is outside at all times. The only food (b) (6) eats is her dry dog food. I pulled the food and stopped giving it to (b) (6) after two full weeks or purchasing the bag. I began making her hamburger and rice attempting to go easy on her digestive tract. After two days on hamburger and rice, (b) (6) began acting and feeling much better. So I returned her on the Iams weight control for one day (morning and night feeding) the next day (b) (6) was very ill again, probably the worst she has been. This event caused me to realize it was the food. Even though this particular product was not part of the recent recall, it SHOULD be. I began looking on the internet and found MANY people in this situation. Their particular Iams pet food was not on the recall list but their dogs were as sick or even sicker than (b) (6). Many of whom were on the exact same product! I sent an email to our local news station urging them to report that even though these items were not on the recall list, many, many dogs are becoming ill from Iams foods. I have tried to call Iams recall phone number but it is constantly busy. Walmart says that they have had no report from Iams to pull any food from its shelves.
EON-60968	10/2/2010 17:28	Naturals plus vitamins & minerals from Purina Cat Chow	In the morning on 9/27/10, (b) (6) was given Purina Naturals for the first time. He seemed to like it and ate it at his normal rate. The next evening (9/28/10), I found him very uncomfortable and straining to defecate, with evidence of loose mucoid stools and vomit. He was in a lot of pain and was taken to the veterinary ER. They found that he was febrile and becoming dehydrated. X-rays showed no blockages in the GI tract, but he refused/was unable to eat or drink. He was given fluids and started on two antibiotics plus a probiotic, but his fever continued to rise and peaked at 106.6. He is currently still febrile, although his temperature has gone down to 104.0. He has not eaten or drunk on his own since 9/28/10, and is receiving supportive care.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60953	9/30/2010 21:12	Purina Beneful Healthy Weight	I bought a large (34 lb) bag of Purina Beneful Healthy Weight dry dog food from Petsmart in (b) (6) approximately 4-5 weeks ago. The entire bag does not fit in my sealed plastic bin so the majority of the bag went into my bin and the remaining few pounds stayed in the original bag, folded up in my pantry. Today when I went to feed my dog, I opened the bin and there were at least 12 moths flying around in the bin. I closed my bin up and took it outside. I went to my pantry to check the bag and when I opened it up - it was full of moths too! I called the store and told them about the problem. They were very nice and told me they would be happy to replace the product or give me a refund but I want to be sure that an appropriate course of action is taken, since either the store, distributor, the manufacturer themselves, or potentially all three have an infestation problem. I have also contacted the manufacturer and the retailer and will be bringing the product back to the store tomorrow. I have kept a sample of the product in a zipper bag, and a sample of the moths should you need it. In my 20+ years as a pet owner, I have never had this happen. It's disappointing and frankly disgusting. The idea that my pet has consumed contaminated food is very upsetting and the idea that some of this product has been in my pantry with my family's food is even worse. The UPC number is 017800139335 with best by date of May 2011. The code underneath the ¿Best By¿ date is difficult to read but appears to be: 01411085 0201L04
EON-60952	9/30/2010 17:52	Blue Buffalo Wilderness	Presented pu/pd labs confirmed hypercalcemia. Special tests showed hypervit D Problem resolved when dit changed. Owner gave us a sample of food she was using (blue buffalo Chicken) which was submitted to (b) (6) lab adn was found to contain toxic levels of Vit D. A similar case came in this week but confirmation tests pending same diet

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60949	9/30/2010 11:37	IAMS mini chunks proactive dog food	A few weeks ago we purchased a new bag of IAMS mini chunks dry dog food (in the green bag). Late last week I noticed that my dog was having loose bowls. I didn't attribute it to anything serious and fed him some pumpkin, which is a common remedy. I felt something was just not right with him, and I watched him for a few more days. He started panting for no reason and then his diarrhea became very bloody. I was horrified!! We immediately contacted the vet and took in a stool sample. The vet found no parasites, but said that the amount of mucous/slime in the stool was a result of an inflamed colon which most likely indicates a food problem. At the same time, I started doing internet research and saw recent identical stories to mine after dogs had eaten the same IAMS dog food!! I'm also reading that some dogs have died! Also, one owner put their dog down, before they knew it was the IAMS, because they couldn't bare to see their dog suffering. I only want to get the word out there that there is something very WRONG with this food so that other dogs/owners don't have to go through this.
EON-60930	9/29/2010 20:32	Premium Dog Food with Beef	3 of our dogs had cancerous, abdominal tumors that were diagnosed by a veterinarian. The 4th we suspect had the same but died at home and we had no autopsy performed. All are now deceased. Their ages at death ranged from 7 to 12. Weights ranged from 40 to 75 pounds. All ate this food and lived in the same house. They were confined to our yard by a fence. The last never was left outside alone. We had a father and mother (not related to each other), their son, and another of no relation.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60927	9/29/2010 19:57	IAM PRESCRIPTION WEIGHT CONTROL DOG FOOD	AS INDICATED IN # F5946921-E7239E93-0EC0D070-94ECD47A-1753824F-4D58E3E8-F3182BAC-E7027263 WITH # 2025 and Individual Case Safety Report Number (ICSR) of 1020582 UPDATE -- (b) (6) passed away yesterday and my heart is beyond broken. I am not looking for money since no money in the world could replaced what this sweet love is to me. IAMS continues to do the following and threaten and intimidate -- Page Two of this nightmare For over thirty (30) days Proctor & Gamble had permission to contact my vet, but did they do so? No, they did not. Additionally, I made numerous calls to them (Proctor & Gamble/IAMS), yet I never received a call back, even after I informed them that ALL FOUR OF MY DOGS were getting ill from the recalled food. Once I finally did connect with Proctor & Gamble/IAMS, they attempted to intimidate me by saying they would close the case if I would not give them permission to contact my vet. They had over thirty days to do so, and they think they can strong-arm me into giving them more time? How can this be a credible organization,? I wonder how their shareholders would feel if this information was made public? I withdrew my permission for them to contact my vet, since not only did they not follow through with what they said they would do. I did not receive one ounce of compassion for the situation THEY CAUSED. Three of my four dogs recovered recovered from Proctor & Gamble's/IAM's incompetence, sadly my sweet (b) (6) did not recover. (b) (6) was on the regimen with the deplorable food and had to be put down yesterday (b) (6) since he could not recover from the damage Proctor & Gamble/IAMS caused with their product. IN NO WAY WILL I ACCEPT THIS!!! IAMS informed me that they have lost my paperwork. Seriously?! This only goes to show how grossly inadequate they are as a company, however, I realize that this is THEIR PROBLEM NOT MINE. My issue lies in the severity of the illness they INFLICTED on my poor (b) (6) which ultimately lead to the LOSS OF HIS LIFE!! Proctor & Gamble/IAMS MUST BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE for the damage they have caused; not only to my family, but the numerous people affected by their inferior products. Additionally, they threatened to close my case if I withdrew my permission for them to to speak to my vet, after they had over 30 days to do so. CLEARLY having my case open did me no good in the OVER 30 DAYS they did have the access. Nor did it help my sweet (b) (6) -- may he rest in peace. I was also told by the inadequate corporation this is an "unfortunate" thing. UNFORTUNATE?! UNFORTUNATE -- they KILLED my PET! I in no way accept this. IAMS cannot threaten people who give permission to them and they don't follow through with what they say they will do. I have a copies of ALL medical records NOW that will be RELEASED at the proper time for the DAMAGES THEY ARE RESPONSIBLE for. I realize that none of it will bring back my sweet love (b) (6) however, I WANT CONSUMERS and PETS PROTECTED from such GROSS INCOMPETENCE. I HOLD IAMS SOLELY accountable for the death of my dog due to the salmonella contamination he consumed from their product, which caused a WEAKENING of his immune system. In addition, MY VET had referred to me a specialist after WEEKS of illness. I have contacted the FDA about the incident CAUSED by this WORTHLESS company, and informed them of the INJURIES to families and animals and the DEPLORABLE and CRUEL customer service I received. My sweet (b) (6) was hospitalized THREE TIMES and developed aspiration pneumonia as a result of IAMS FOOD MAKING HIM SO SICK. He consumed the RECALLED food and my HEART IS BROKEN BEYOND any reasonable means of expression; and NEEDLESSLY because of the IAMS -- PROCTOR & GAMBLE. For clarity, allow me to reiterate that I DO NOT ACCEPT THIS!!! PROCTOR & GAMBLE/IAMS KILLED MY BELOVED PET who was laid to rest YESTERDAY after MONTHS of suffering at the hand of IAMS / PROCTOR & GAMBLE! This

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60908	9/29/2010 14:02	Eukanuba Canine Low Residue 5 lb. (made by Proctor & Gamble)	I am filing this complaint on behalf of my elderly parents who are on a fixed income. Their dog didn't have health problems, but over a period of 5 years he had been to the veterinarian approx. 2 times for an upset stomach. On Feb. 20, 2010 the veterinarian gave their dog, (b) (6) Eukanuba Canine Low Residue dog food. (b) (6) had never stayed sick for any length of time, but he stayed sick for three months getting worse and worse and even became listless. They stopped giving him the dog food on their own, and within a day or two he was better. After spending $1,435.36 in veterinarian bills, they received a phone call telling them to throw away the Eukanuba dog food because it was contaminated with salmonella. They were also offered a reimbursement on the bag of dog food. We contacted Proctor & Gamble via e-mail this morning to put in a claim for reimbursement for medical bills incurred.
EON-60854	9/28/2010 17:31	Yip Yaps	I have a question: Are there currently any laws for Pet Food Manufacturers that require them to change their packaging when they change the formula of their product? I have a pet with a sensitive stomach and taste buds. The Yip Yap company (Sentry Pet Care) has changed their formula (including the look&feel of their treats) 3 times over the last couple of years and doesn't let the customer know (nothing on tin had changes -- they're using the same ones that the old ingredients came in, doesn't list the new ingredients either). Royal Canin (non-vet formula) changed their puppy dry food mix during the pet food scare a couple of years ago -- they started spraying vitamin B on their food. Dog wouldn't touch it. Couldn't figure out what was going on (was dog sick, food bad, etc.). Canin's package was identical to the old formula, nothing noted on it about the vitamin B sparying on it. Very frustrating for pet owners. Thank you ahead for any information on this.
EON-60848	9/28/2010 8:57	Wellnes Just for Puppy and WellnesSuper5Mix, Wellness Just for Puppy	Friday September 24, 2010 (at 5:00 am) I opened a can of Wellness Just For Puppy can food product code 76344 08885 1 best before date 25 June 13. It smelled different. I mixed a small portion of the food with Wellness Super5Mix Just For Puppy dry food, Bar Code 76344 08960 Enjoy by June 23 2011. My daughter's puppy was very hesitant to eat. After being encouraged she ate a small portion for breakfast but refused to eat lunch or dinner. Saturday morning I opened a different can of Wellness Just for Puppy and mixed it with the dry food mentioned above. Again she only ate a small portion for breakfast and continued to refuse lunch and dinner. Sunday she refused to eat at all but had severe diarrhea all day and night.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60836	9/27/2010 13:36	Pedigree dog food (yellow bag)	Pedigree dry dog food seem to be making dogs sick, the dogs that get sick just as mine did start by throwing up small amount of the food and having a cough. Then they will stop eating the food and become lethargic. The vet and myself felt that the dog may have eaten part of a toy or something. Her food was switch after a expletory surgery to check out her stomach, the vet found nothing in her stomach but the post surgical food was a change in food and she is back on her feet and doing well. What brought it all to the surface was that one of my other dogs started to show the same symptoms, I changed his food at once and the coughing and throwing up stopped. It seems that Pedigree has something bad in its food. Others have posted similar complaint over the last, http://www.consumeraffairs.com/pets/pedigree.html
EON-60834	9/27/2010 13:16	Blue Buffalo Wilderness Chicken	Dog was eating Blue Buffalo Wilderness Chicken Recipe, manufactured in April 2010 with a best-used-by date of July 2011 for approx. 2 weeks. Learned of problems with the food on 9/21/10 and brought to her vet on 9/22/10 for lab work. High levels of Vitamin D and Calcium were found. This is consistent with other problems/concerns. On 9/4/10 she had lab work done with her calcium levels in the normal range. Stopped food and placed on meds to lower the high calcium levels.
EON-60773	9/24/2010 15:17	Purina Moist and Meaty Burger and Cheese	We have bought Purina Moist and Meaty for years for our dachshund. The last very large box we bought seems to have serious problems. Our dog has gotten sick and vomited the past week after he ate it. We switched to Pedigree and he is fine. When we again gave him the Moist and Meaty, he vomited. There must be something in it which is a contaminate. This is very bad for your business. I do not have the code because we put the packs in our storage container and discarded the box. We do still have most of the packs from this bad batch.
EON-60727	9/23/2010 11:01	Beneful Original Dog Food	We just purchased a bag of Beneful Dog Food (original) from Sam's Club on 09/19/2010. To date, we have found at least 2 dozen mealworms that have crawled out of the dog food and have infested our laundry room. This is the 3rd time that we believe that we have found insects in our Beneful Dog Food. The other 2 times the insects were some type of moth larvae that later hatched into moths. It took us a bit to realize that the source was from the dog food as these moth larvae spread much faster throughout the house away from the dog food container.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60675	9/22/2010 18:21	Fancy Feast	We fed Tip, our female cat, some Fancy feast cat food, on 09 /15 / 2010. she was having some to eat, in the evening, and when she got through eating the same, she was indicating that she did NOT like it, by burying it, for 10 or 15 minutes, as if there was something wrong, with the food? Bury, as in like the cats do, in their litter box? Then, very early the next morning, I had to rush her to the Animal Hospital, when we found out that she had, Feline Leukaemia! But, I am seriously wondering, if she did not get some kind of food poisoning on top of that, if there was not something wrong, with the Fancy Feast Cat Food?
EON-60663	9/22/2010 8:26	Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky	Our puppy was very sick twice in 3 months. The first time she had extreme diarrhea. She would wake up about 5 times in the middle of the night to go. We took here to the vet all tests were negative for any parasite or bacteria that could be causing this. We did not know at that time why she was getting sick so we continued feeding her the jerky treats, we never thought it could be from the treats. The second time she started with excessive drinking of water, vomiting, diarrhea, it progressed into bloody diarrhea. Blood was actually dripping out of her rectum. I felt so bad for her. We took here to the vet again and again the test showed negative but they gave here medicine and she is starting to get better but she still has soft stools and is drinking a lot of water. Our puppy did have a spading and extraction of her stomach for something she ate but that was on august 10 she was off her medicine and doing great a couple of weeks before the second time she got very sick. I do not think the surgery was the cause. I think the jerky treats were the cause.
EON-60657	9/21/2010 10:26	Ice cream	testing - test testing followup
EON-60619	9/20/2010 22:50	Nutro Natural Choice Chops	I purchased a 60oz box of Nutro Chops dog biscuits at 7:52PM CT on Monday, Sept 20,2010. When I got home and opened the box, I found several live larvae of some sort living on the box, and in the biscuits. I returned the product to the store at 8:50PM CT the same day. I wanted to get my dog some treats, so I asked to inspect a different box. I found a smaller 23oz box from a different part of the store, which had other live insects inside. Both containers did not appear to have any damage to the outer plastic wrapping. Im concerned that if two completely different boxes of different sizes had the same issue, the problem may be widespread. I have photos if you like.
EON-60525	9/20/2010 13:55	Kingdom pets chicken jerky	I started using this product as a training treat. She started acting very sluggish after train and would hide in her crate with her ears back like something was wrong. After day three she was urinating very frequently and i noticed blood in her urine. I took her to the vet and she has a very bad UTI.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60524	9/20/2010 13:50	Purina Alpo Prime Slices in Gravy with chicken, Purina Alpo Prime Cuts in Gravy. With Beef	Fed dogs at 830. New Dog food purchased at Rite Aid. Alpo Beef Prime Cuts and Gravy, and Chicken with Gravy. Within 2 hours of eating Moose was hardly breathing, his mouth was blue, tongue was purple, Hyper sensitive to light and sound, non-responsive. Rushed him to the ER VET. Stated he had a fever, needed IV fluids, antibiotics, charcoal for the stomach, etc. It was unsure if Moose would live. He threw up several times during his overnight stay to the vet. The vet office indicated the only things in his stomach was the food and a little bit of grass. I called Rite Aid and told them to remove this product; my dogs had had food poisoning.
EON-60523	9/20/2010 12:00	Iams Weight Control Large Breed- 40lbs sack (Blue bag)	I purchased a 40lb sack of Iams weight control food 9/7/10. We were heading out on vacation with the dog. Our dog has been eating this food for about a year. He is not a picky eater and hence the switch to a weight control feed about a year ago. The dog would not eat the food from this sack. We either had to prime the food with other items to get him interested in eating or give him other food items. He has not gotten sick but it is strange for him not to eat. When we returned home, I contacted Iams 9/20 and they advised I dump the food and get another sack of food. I was surprised to learn on their website about recalls for their foods from time to time. I always imagined that they were a reputable source of food given their cost and other claims. While it may be an isolated event, I was advised to let you folks know about the problem. The vendor of the food claims that they have not received any other complaints. I am leary about using Iams food at this point. FYI the production info is 061211 06DEC11 02184175 B6 US30941
EON-60510	9/19/2010 22:50	quick release nylon collar	My pekingese and Boston terrier were playing in the back yard. My Boston terrier's bottom jaw got caught under the collar of my pekingese. The collar became twisted and my pekingese strangled to death. This happened in a matter of 3 minutes. The collar was a nylon quick release collar from Wal-Mart. The collar was put on properly as directed two fingers could fit under the collar. I know this was a freak accident but after reading internet reports this happens quite often. There is no warning label on collars. A consumer has a right to know that collars pose a hazard.
EON-60509	9/18/2010 19:41	Iams proactive health multi-pack ground dinner with lamb and rice 6 cans	(b) (6) Our dachshund got sick 1st and we took her to vet. Our other dogs followed in the illness of vomiting, diarrhea with blood, fever. My daughter's dog came to visit. We fed him the food before we figured what the problem was and he became ill also.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60454	9/15/2010 10:36	Hill's Science Diet - Adult - Sensitive Stomach	I purchased a discounted bag of Hill's Science Diet Sensitive Stomach dry food from PetCo on (b) (6) (receipt dated 9-8-10). The bag had some cuts in it and was labeled with a store sticker which said "Packaging may be damaged but the product is just fine". I put out food from new bag the evening of Friday, Sept 10. By the evening of Saturday, Sept. 11, both cats had become lethargic. (b) (6) withdrew to a hiding area which he only does when ill. He would not eat, move, drink or relieve himself. He was taken to the vet on Monday the 12th after no improvement. Blood tests showed low white count/neutrophils, low potassium. He was treated with subcutaneous fluids, antacid, and pain killers. He did not show any signs of improvement until this afternoon when he began to accept a small amount of food and move around a bit (Sept. 14). My other cat had the same symptoms plus some respiratory distress (grunting w/ breaths), but recovered more quickly. My cat's vet, Dr. (b) (6) with (b) (6) called the manufacturer and described this to their resident vet. The Hill's vet stated that the product should not have been sold to me with damage to the packaging and that there was risk of contamination. The cats are indoor only and had not been exposed to any other food, insecticides or household cleaners. Given this and the fact that both fell ill at the same time without other exposures, food contamination may be the cause.
EON-60422	9/14/2010 23:31	Fresh Catch refillable catnip toy	Upon looking at the catnip which is in a tube found small bugs in it.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60421	9/14/2010 23:26	Piggy Snouts (not labeled on package that's from their website)	I purchased an order of "pig snouts" (1 bag, 80 count) from a company called Pet Solutions (petsolutions.com) -- I ordered via amazon.com, from PetSolutions.com. The order came within a couple of days, and the bag the snouts were in was sealed, but not resealable once opened. I opened the bag in order to feed one each to my dogs, however, upon opening the bag, I noticed it was infested with worm-like bugs. The majority of the bugs were dead, however, there were a few that were still alive and moving. There were many worms in the bag with the pig snouts, both IN the bag (at the bottom of the bag) as well as on the pig snouts themselves -- some were crawling on the snouts, others had fallen off dead. I called the company and reported the issue and was first told to just wash them off, without them even knowing what type of bugs they were and if they could potentially be carrying diseases or parasites that could be transmitted to dogs. When I pointed that out, the company offered to ship me out a new order and instructed me to throw out the old order. I received the second order and it was sealed the same way as the first. Prior to opening the bag, I inspected it and found 1 of the same kind of bug (it was dead). I called the company and asked them to refund my money -- I didn't want to open the bag and search for more, I'd prefer they do it if they were so inclined. The customer service representative told me that it was only 1 bug, to just clean them off and it was just fine. However, I told them I was dissatisfied and wanted to return the product and get my money back. The second order came with a receipt inside that said "this is a re-ship as the first order was infested with bugs, please make sure there are no bugs in this bag." The company then issued a call tag to pick up the box of pig snouts, and because the first box had not been collected yet by our trash company (it was a holiday weekend so trash collection was delayed) they issued a call tag to pick up both boxes. I told the company I had photographs of the bugs and would be more than happy to show them. I asked the company what they planned on doing in order to resolve the problem, as obviously the bugs were in multiple bags, however, I was told they would inspect the bags I returned and most likely throw them out -- that further action may not be necessary. I explained I was concerned they may be shipping out other products infested with bugs, but the woman told me it was not possible, there must be some sort of mix up.
EON-60420	9/14/2010 21:31	Blue Wilderness Turkey	I opened a can of Blue Wilderness Turkey and there is a circular black clump that appears to be mold.
EON-60419	9/14/2010 18:40	Purina Veterinary Diets EN	(b) (6) started having diarrhea and vomiting about 28 hours after our other dog (b) (6) started to have the same problems. See report FDA ICSR ID 1020596. We immediately took her to the emergency vet clinic. She was treated for pancreatitis. The treatment was not as effective as with (b) (6) so the vet added plasma transfusion. (b) (6) apparently got a blood clot in her brain about 1/2 way through the treatment and had to be put down.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60418	9/14/2010 17:30	Purina Veterinary Diets EN	Approximately 30 hours after eating 3 OZ of a new can of dog food, (b) (6) got severe diarrhea and started vomiting. The vomiting continued on and off for 8 hours. We contacted our vet and was told to withhold food and water. About 10 hours after the initial diarrhea, (b) (6) started passing blood. We immediately drove her to an emergency vet clinic. They began tests and determined she had pancreatitis and started treatment. She was treated approximately 36 hours at the clinic and released.
EON-60401	9/13/2010 17:00	Blue Buffalo Salmon and Potato	Owners started feeding Blue Buffalo salmon and potato food to their two dogs. First pet presented to veterinarian two weeks later for increased water consumption and urination. Bloodwork was performed identifying increased levels of calcium in the blood. Further testing indicated that the problem was not due to a primary endocrine disorder but likely due to increased calcium absorption. Owners changed food and symptoms resolved within two days. Research identified several other veterinarians with similar cases all feeding a Blue Buffalo product.
EON-60389	9/12/2010 20:40	Prescription Diet u/d canine	Foreign objects, appearing like rodent droppings, were discovered in a can of food.
EON-60365	9/11/2010 10:02	Purina ProPlan Shredded Blend Chicken and Rice formula	2 days after feeding her this food, she began to have massive amounts of runny stool. She has not changed in her behavior other than the diarrhea. We have not changed anything else in her routine. This is the same brand and type of food we have been feeding her for about 6 months now and she has never had any issue.
EON-60341	9/10/2010 5:21	Alpo Chop House Originals Filet Mignon Flavor	I opened a can of Alpo Chop House Originals dog food (Filet Mignon) with this info on can bottom, Best by Jan2012, 00141157, L6Cu21812. The can had a pull tap type open. When opened can saw white furry bacterial or mold growth filling top of can. Can was either not sealed well or bad food put in. I did not feed this to my dog,so he isn't harmed. But maybe the company is not sealing cans properly and some other dog could get sick ! What if had I opened can sooner and growth of the patagen had not been advanced enough to see well and if I had fed to my dog it could and probably would have made him sick. I think this should be checked out. I have the can still if that is important.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60339	9/9/2010 23:26	iams vet formula weight control	P & G Pet Food Products sold tainted food and my dear dog is terribly sick due to this. He was in good health and a healthy weight prior to this event of salmonella. I reported the incident to IAMS on July 31, 2010 when the recall was announced. My dog has been terribly ill since eating this food & in fact all 4 of my dogs got sick. One isn't getting better and was hospitalized - the other 3 recovered! IAMS has the WORST customer service EVER, rude to say the very least not to mention the poor quality control and follow up. I want this company to have to be accountable and responsible for the damage they have done to so many families. As stated my dog has now been hospitalized for DAYS (3 days); now the complication developed of Aspiration Pneumonia due to the fact he was throwing up so much thanks to the distribution of salmonella within the food. IAMS distributed TAINTEd food to 1,000's of consumers. My pet was healthy prior to consuming this food. Now he is dehydrated, anemia, lethargic, diarrhea, anorexia just to name a few of the things that have happened since consuming this food - He has LOST OVER 11 pounds since consuming this tainted food and I am scared beyond belief what comes next. P & G claims this is a voluntary recall YET the FDA found salmonella within the plant for the prescriptions dogs food which our dear dog was on. P & G -- IAMS represents that it is voluntary -- what choice is there when the FDA FINDS IT and tells them of this and they can't even follow through on the matter? They act as though no pet has been affected through the customer service area. IAMS takes NO OWNERSHIP over the damage they have caused. I received a stinking check for the price of the food from IAMS. WHO CARES I want my dog HEALTHY. I have THOUSANDS of dollars spent in medical care since this happened, I DO NOT want a penny from them for it. I JUST WANT ACCOUNTABILITY and PROTECTION TO the consumer and our dear pets from such incidences. Our pets count on us, then to have these IDIOTS from this organization sell tainted food and be unaccountable? Unacceptable! As I said I am NOT looking for financial reimbursement -- All I want is my dog healthy again (how I am hoping for that and doing everything medically possible to achieve it). This is attributed to the GROSS INCOMPETENCE of P & G - IAMS. Are you aware this is the second time they did it. It was in 2007 they also had to "RECALL" on dog food. When I surfed the internet -- UNLIKE what IAMS states I see 1,000's of Pet owners are going through the identical problem I am with their loved pet who CONSUMED IAMS VET FORMULA since July 2010. Can you please help with STOPPING such incidence and create CONSEQUENCES for such gross incompetence from organizations such as these? I thank you for your time.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60298	9/9/2010 15:01	Beet Pulp Shreds	Please be aware that a company (b) (6) is selling their beet pulp for horse feed with plastic mixed in with the beet pulp. I have already had to put a horse down because of severe colic and intestinal blockage. I have another horse that I had been feeding their beet pulp to that is also ill. This is two horses in two days since I discovered the plastic in the beet pulp. Please see what you can do. It is costing me a lot of money beside the loss of valuable show horses. Thank you, (b) (6)
EON-60289	9/9/2010 13:56	Doctors Foster & Smith Joint Guard 300mg Treats Perna mussel/MSM Joint Supplement Item#24734	Began feeding glucosamine tablets on 8/27, let for trip and had pet sitter continue one tablet per day per dog. Pet sitter came to home to find bloody diarrhea accidents and (b) (6) seemed very lethargic. She would not eat. They took her to the vet the following day as the problem persisted, also took a stool sample. The veterinarian found large quantities of bacteria in stool and started antibiotic. (b) (6) s getting better. Other dog, (b) (6) 100 lbs, had soft stool and diarrhea as well, but was not as severely affected. Have not given him antibiotics, just stopped feeding the supplements. My major concern is that this brand of glucosamine is not specifically listed in the recall. All the symptoms were the identical to salmonella poisoning listed for the other recalled products. This should be added immediately as well as any others that may have been contaminated.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-60281	9/9/2010 11:41	Milk Bone LArge Dog Biscuits	I transfer her bisquits from the box that they come in to cleaned out plastic UTZ pretzel jars or zip lock bags. In the past I have noticed that a moth style flying insect end up in the food. These insects are not present in their hatched state when the food is transfered. I looked into the food and noticed more unhatched larvia. This is not the first time this has happened, I since that Purina has a infestation issue at their plant. The larvia is tagging along with the bisquits in by product that get's put in the box's durring packaging.
EON-59859	9/6/2010 22:10	Purina Beneful Original	Severe diarrhea and vomiting occurred after giving dog food from a new bag. Food was the same brand he'd eaten for four years. Symptoms went away after feeding dog a different brand.
EON-59825	9/5/2010 21:10	Dentley's Natural Flavor Meaty Whole Femur Bone	On 8/4/10 we purchased a Dentley's pork femur bone for our 9 year old schnauzer (b) (6). She chewed on this bone for approximately 2 hours. We took the bone away from her due to the mess that it made on our carpet. Later that evening (b) (6) began to act "out of character" for her. She is normally a very outgoing and high spirited dog. Earlier this summer (b) (6) was diagnosed with melanoma in the large pad of her right front leg. The recommendation of our vet was to remove the leg, which was completed mid June. (b) (6) has recovered from this ordeal superbly. SO when she retired to her bed early on the evening of the August 4th, we assumed she was tired or maybe sore from the surgery in June. On August 5th we proceeded with our normal routine. Once again (b) (6) behavior was out of character; she normally is very excited to go out for the first time in the morning and is ready to eat her breakfast. This morning I had to prompt her to leave her kennel to go outside and she showed no interest in her normal food. By this point I was extremely concerned with her behavior and turned on the lights to observe her better, at that time I noticed that she had vomited a great deal in the night and immediately left for the vet. (b) (6) continued to vomit on the way to the vet. I left her with the vet to be evaluated. The vet called me later in the morning to inform us that she needed surgery urgently; she had a substantial obstruction in her intestines. The surgery that was required to save her life was extremely intensive. The vet wanted to avoid dissecting her intestine, so he injected mineral oil into her small and large intestine and manual maneuvered the blockage through her intestine and out her anis. By the time he completed this complicated procedure, her stomach was extended and full of a toxic infection. Again the concern was opening her stomach and exposing the rest of her internal organs to the infection that was present. He made a small incision and siphoned all the toxic fluids from the stomach. He concocted a powerful antibiotic and filled her intestine and stomach with it as well IV fluids and antibiotics. After the surgery the vet again called with a report, (b) (6) had lived through the surgey; however the next 24 hours would be critical for her. He would be taking her home with him for the evening and would be monitoring her every 4 hours. He asked me to be sure and have my phone close to me through the night should he need to reach us to notify us of her death or to have us make a decision as to continuing her life. On 8/5 around 8 in the morning the vet contacted me with an update. (b) (6) had lived through the night as was doing well. He kept her with through the remainder of the day and allowed us to take her home that evening. She was prescribed anti nausea medication, antibiotics, as well as pain medication. She was to be on a puree diet until otherwise instructed by the vet. On 8/16 (b) (6) had her stitches removed by the vet and was released to normal activity and diet. On 8/5 I contacted the Pet Smart with our concerns regarding the safety of this product. I spoke to an assistant manager who said he would pass the information on to the store manager in the morning. I called on 8/6 and spoke with (b) (6) store manager of Pet Smart in (b) (6). He at that time told me he would forward all my information on to his corporate office and someone would be in contact with me. (b) (6) contacted me that evening. She asked me to provide her with all veterinary documentation, copy of the invoice from the vet and to return the product to the store. I provided all documentation and photos to her as well as the store. On 8/9 (b) (6) acknowledged receipt of all documentation and stated that she would be in the process of notifying the Buyer and the product manufacturer of (b) (6) incident and asking them to review the matter further and they should be in contact with us s

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-59824	9/5/2010 16:05	Nutro Max Adult Beef Meal & Rice Recipe Dry Dog Food	Two dachshunds became sick after eating Nutro Max Adult dog food. One recovered, one died. A third dog vomited the food back up and I discontinued feeding them the dog food.
EON-59823	9/4/2010 18:51	Stater Bros. Tasty Gourmet Mix	Key points <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) approx 8/15/10 began feeding my cat store brand dry food that she'd never had and didn't appear to like 2) six days ago my cat began unusual litterbox behavior, high frequency in and out of box 3) four days ago I conclude something is not right with my cat's urination 4) two days ago took cat to vet. vet takes temp of cat, temp is normal external exam doesn't indicate UTI, vet prescribes amoxicillin just in case. Also she suggests dietary change or stress causes idiopathic cystitis 5) Today 9/4 condition remains unchanged, feeding cat dry food she's eaten before a Friskies labelled product 6) noted symptoms of melamine poisoning in animals and reflected that the chain where the cat food was purchased regularly engages in questionable business practices and wouldn't be above sourcing pet food from china from an unvetted source 7) contact FDA safety reporting Narrative, product description and lot # follow Approx. 3 weeks ago I changed my cats dry food from primarily, Friskies Indoor Catfood, and occasionally Vons/Safeway Priority Dry Food to the store brand from Stater Bros. supermarket (a South California chain targeting blue collar working class customers). My cat did not like the food, but I considered that perhaps a silver bullet for her weight problem, as she is too fat. About six days ago she began exhibiting strange litterbox behavior, in and out of it with unusually high frequency, I didn't think anything was wrong at that point because she's always had strange behaviors in that regard. For example, if her poo smells she'll come back to the box and try to cover it more, leave the room, and if she can still smell it return and repeat that activity. Anyways, about four days ago changing her box I noticed that her urine wasn't producing clumps but little teaspoon sized dollops of clumped clay which struck me as "not right", so I started really watching her bathroom behavior and indeed consistently that's all the urine she was producing. A single urination by her is usually at least a half cup sized clump. She also started orally articulating much more than usual. So two days ago (sept 2) I've concluded something is definitely wrong and conduct a net search and come up with a) urinary tract infection b) cystitis and call the vet. my usual vet was on vacation but I told her office girl what the issue was and she said you'll need to get her to another vet pronto because a UTI couldn't wait until the vet returned from vacation. I did so. VCA the only other animal clinic in town took my cats temp and it was spot on normal. I explained that it was possible I had gotten the litter too high in her box for her fat body and her urethra had become exposed to dirty litter and that she had had a dietary change. The vet explained that without a urinalysis she couldn't concretely establish the cause of the problem, but, that often a dietary change will produce idiopathic cystitis and she could find no external signs from palpation or looking at my cat's urethra and that if my concern was that my cat be saved from organic damage (I am unemployed and have only the bare minimum resources for us to eat and pay utilities) she could prescribe some amoxicillin, it's been 1.5 days since she's started the amoxicillin and the dribbling pee behavior continues. I realize it takes a while to work but, on reflection, I recalled the chinese pet food contamination of 2007 and that my cat had eaten other brands of cat food other than the usual Friskies Indoor before and had had no ill effect. I also thought about the litter level forcing her to foul her urethra with dirty cat litter and it wasn't THAT high. I looked up on the CDC website symptoms of melamine poisoning and voila urinary stones and/or cystitis. Product Description and lot # Lot # 018D29BE03 best if used by 5/5/11 Label reads "Stater Bros. Tasty Gourmet Mix" purple package 3.5 lbs I have available and can send to you several ounces of the remai
EON-59812	9/3/2010 11:56	Ane-Sorb anesthesia absorbing canister	Product caused blockage in waste anesthetic gas outflow, causing dangerous overpressure of system to patient during anesthetic procedure.
EON-59808	9/2/2010 18:36	Premium USA Pig in a Blanket	we bought him the raw hide chew Pig in a blanket and we had not given him raw hide chews before. He started vomiting and had extreme diarrhea. He was eventually diagnosed with hemorrhagic gastritis and was hydrated by IV fluids and placed on antibiotics to resolve the situation.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-59654	8/30/2010 18:00	PetGuard Chicken & Wheat Germ Dinner	The cat was presented to the regular veterinarian (rDVM) on 2/19/10 for inappropriate urination in the house. A complete blood count, serum chemistry, T4 level and urinalysis were performed. Hyperglycemia, mild neutropenia and lymphopenia were noted along with proteinuria and trace occult blood in a hypersthenuric sample. Lower urinary tract inflammation was suspected and a 0.4 ml subcutaneous Convenia® injection was administered at this time. The cat was referred to the (b) (6) on 2/23/10 with continuation of inappropriate urination, a 2-week history of progressive anorexia and a 2 day history of ataxia. On presentation, the patient was disoriented and ataxic. He weighed 3.9 kg with a body condition score (BCS) of 5/9. His temperature was 98.8°F, respiratory rate was 36 rpm and pulse rate was 164 bpm. The neurology service classified the cat as depressed and disoriented with vestibular ataxia. Pupils were mydriatic with intact PLR and menace response. Visual following was present bilaterally and postural reactions were decreased in all limbs with no asymmetry. Muscle tone was normal; however with any stimulation the patient developed contraction of neck flexor muscles and limb extensors and vocalized. The patient's vision was determined to be intact and the clinical signs were deemed highly suspicious of thiamin deficiency. The neurology service recommended subcutaneous thiamin injections. If clinical signs did not improve within 24 hours magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) of the brain would be recommended as the next diagnostic step. Subcutaneous vitamin B1 injections were initiated every 8 hours along with intravenous Normosol R® with 20 mEq KCl per liter at 90ml/kg/day. The patient remained in the intensive care unit to monitor for potential seizure activity and food and water were withheld for the remainder of the day. By the next morning (2/24/10) the cat's clinical signs had improved. Although still ataxic, he was no longer having the neck flexor and limb extensor spasms and his mentation was improved. At this time, Science Diet® Adult Feline was started (1 3/4 cup per day). Aside from the Convenia® injection by the rDVM the cat was not receiving any other medications or supplements and had been fed a consistent diet of PetGuard Chicken & Wheat Germ Dinner canned food since the owner obtained him as a young adult. He was usually fed 1 can twice daily. At the onset of anorexia the owner began to offer a few ounces of unseasoned boiled chicken and turkey at least twice daily. The owner was unable to accurately estimate the amount of chicken or turkey the cat was consuming, however she was confident it was no more than a few ounces per day. To confirm the presumptive diagnosis of diet related thiamin deficiency we contacted the manufacturer of the patient's original diet. The owner was asked to provide samples of the food in its original packaging. She had purchased approximately 13 cans of food from a local grocery store 2-3 weeks prior and only had one intact can left (X254 08:23, best by 09/23/11). The food was shipped to the manufacturer for voluntary independent laboratory testing. The manufacturer submitted the owner's sample along with two different lot samples of the same variety. Based on results reported by the company, two of the three diet samples (including the one provided to our patient) were deficient according to AAFCO standards on a dry matter basis. Because the diet was "formulated to meet the nutritional levels established by AAFCO cat food nutrient profiles for all life stages" we determined our patient's diet was thiamin deficient. The patient's clinical signs continued to improve and he was discharged to his owner on 2/25/10. We recommended continuation of the feline adult maintenance diet he was fed while in the hospital and switching to oral thiamin supplementation (10mg/kg PO q24 hr) for the next 10 days. Over the next 2 weeks the patient's ataxia diminished and
EON-59522	8/29/2010 23:10	Go Natural Wholesome Feline Formation Grain Free Freshwater Trout Formula	I opened a new bag of the cat food & spilled it onto the floor. On top of the food was a piece of metal about 1/4". I have a picture of it. I have already contacted the manufacturer & the store where I bought it. The manufacturer wants me to send them the metal, but I won't do that until I know if you want it.
EON-59518	8/27/2010 16:47	Beneful dog food	After opening a new 30 lb bag of Beneful, my dogs were vomiting and had diarrhea for days until I realized it was the food and started feeding them chicken and rice. My oldest lab was taken to the vet, and tests were done to show he had no disease to cause the reaction. Vet believes it was the food

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-59429	8/26/2010 20:41	Blue Buffalo Large Breed Adult Chicken and Brown Rice	I purchased a 30lb bag of Large Breed Adult Chicken and Brown Rice food for my dogs in Petsmart in (b) (6) on 7-16-10. I have found other food in the bag which are 1 inch long tan noodle like that remind me of kibble and bits and have found kibble pieces that have a gray/green hue to them which were found after dogs started having loose bowel movements. A sample was sent to the manufacturer's quality control lab after I contacted them.
EON-59428	8/26/2010 20:06	Purina Veterinary Diets DM Dietetic Management	I give all six of my cats this food because one suffers from diabetes, (b) (6) who is 16 years and it is easier than policing her. At any rate, all six cats developed diarrhea and one began vomiting all over the house. I noticed these symptoms develop over the course of a week or so but didn't connect it to the food until one began vomiting all over the house directly after eating (b) (6) I stopped giving them that food then and the symptoms have begun clearing up (stool hardening, no more diarrhea).
EON-59338	8/26/2010 10:46	Diamond Dry Dog food Lamb and Rice Formula	Started feeding both dogs newly opened bag of Diamond brand dry dog food (Lamb & Rice formula). Both had increased and runny stools after 1st feeding and older dog starting spitting up. Didn't realize it was the dog food, so fed them same product next day. Both dogs were lethargic, drinking lots of water and had diarrhea. Still didn't realize it was the food and was going to try to get off work to take dogs to vet. At next day's feeding older dog would not eat, so I hand fed her bread and gave her water. By later in the evening she was feeling better. Younger dog ate contaminated dog food again and vomited her's up later that night. That is when I realized it must be the dog food. Older dog was fine the following day, but younger dog vomited and had diarrhea all day. Returned dog food to store and replaced it with Purina brand. Both dogs recovered that evening.
EON-57436	8/23/2010 12:15	Kingdom Pets Chicken Jerky	Both animals owned by this owner had routine annual blood work run and both had abnormal elevations of two kidney enzymes. Subsequent urinalysis was normal and after discontinuing treats , the bloodwork returned to normal levels. (the other dog was female, 6.5 years old, spayed and weighed 11.5 pounds.They wre fed Kingdom PetsChicken Jerky treats which were mentioned on several websites as suspected nephrotoxic agents.
EON-57405	8/23/2010 0:20	Merrick Lamb Filet Squares	After eating Merrick's Lamb Filet Squares (lot# 10123 - best by 5/3/12) yesterday, both of my dogs became ill with diarrhea and anorexia. They have eaten the treats in the past without incident. Merrick recently recalled other dog treats due to possible salmonella contamination. I am concerned that the treats I gave my dog might be contaminated even though they are not on any recall list. Since today is Sunday, my vet is not open. If my dogs are still having symptoms tomorrow, I will be taking them in for an exam and a stool culture.
EON-57400	8/22/2010 20:01	Priority Total Pet Care Chicken and Rice Entree Indoor Formula	Purchased a can of cat food. When I opened the can, it had a white and green mold-like growth in it. I have saved the can, please let me know if you need it for testing.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57378	8/20/2010 12:55	SophistaCat Sliced Chicken Cacciatore	August 15, 2010 between 4:00pm and 7:00pm. At around 1:30am on Monday morning, August 16, 2010 our cat woke us up vomiting. He continued to vomit until around 4:00am and then it seemed to pass so we thought he was OK. On Monday, August 16, 2010 as the day went on it seemed he was not eating or drinking or anything and he just didn't look right and his eyes were not right either. So we finally called our Vet at 5:00pm on Monday, August 16, 2010 but they had already closed for the day. We left a message on the Emergency Number and she called us back and we had to take him in immediately. When we got him to the Vet he had a temperature, blood in the stool, vomiting, diarrhea, dehydrated and was very sick. So they had to keep him. We picked him up on Tuesday, August 17, 2010 at 5:30am and he seemed to be OK they had started him on medications and everything, but when we got about 15 minutes from home he started vomiting, foaming at the mouth, diaherria and everything. So we called our Vet back when we got home and she told us to keep an eye on him for the night unless he continued and to call her the next day. He seemed to be OK on Wednesday, August 18, 2010 until the afternoon and he started the same again vomiting, etc., by Wednesday evening at around 10:00pm he started again with the same symptoms and still would not eat or drink, etc., so we had to get him back to the Vet on Thursday morning August 19, 2010 ASAP and he is till there and will be there for a while to see if they can get him over this or not. They are sure it is salmonella contamination from the cat food we purchased at Petsmart. Our vet bill right now is up to around $1,000.00 and it will continue to go up the longer he is there and the more medications they have to give him. They are now giving him injections and IV fluids because he will not eat or drink by himself and they are having to give him anticobtics by injection because he cannot keep anything down. Of course Petsmart is denying any wrong doing since we don't have the actual cans that the food came from but we have all our receipts and the other cans of the other flavors of food that we purchased.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57364	8/19/2010 16:29	BioComplete Frozen Line	There's a store in (b) (6) they have a store in an indoor flea market area where they make raw pet foods. The issue I'm concerned with is that how the food is made. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) They don't process it in a seperated ventilated area. 2) They don't have any type of Lot #'s on the food. 3) There is no Guarenteed Analysis on the label. 4) They don't have precise equipment to measure the amount of vitamins added and it's impossible to ascertain if it's always blended the same way. 5) They distribute to other stores to sell, in a non refridgerated vechile and without an insulated cooler. 6) The store it in non-air tight plastic deli containers I'm really concerned with the lack of controls in the environment, not having a recall mechanism, or a guarenteed analysis is alarming. It's their store brand they make called "Bio Complete". The other non-store brands they sell are properly labelled and stored. The named (b) (6) is misleading, deli often implies cooked food, this is raw food, uncooked.
EON-57354	8/19/2010 12:10	Purina Alpo Variety Snaps Treats	throwing up immediately after eating Alpo Variety Snaps recovering when I stopped giving him the Snaps
EON-57353	8/19/2010 12:09	purina alpo variety snaps treats	throwing up after eating Snaps recovering means I stopped giving the dogs snaps
EON-57277	8/18/2010 18:44	U TURKEY/GAMEBIRD STARTER KRUMBLE #50 BAG	I feed 100 plus turkeys Universal Turkey Starter. Turkeys ages ranged from a few weeks old to my adult breeders with the oldest being 5 years old. Only birds a year or more where effected. The average age was about 2 years old. They would be fine one minute and dead the next. A few I watched die. 20 adults died over a 5 day period. Nothing was ever sick and the rest of my flock is fine. The food does not look right. Out of 6 bags, two to three bags where darker and a different texture than a normal turkey starter. My feed store was notified the day after the first two turkeys died. The food was removed and a sample was given to my feed store. They said they notified the distributor (Kruse) and gave him the sample and the bag tag. I still have the dead birds, photos and the rest of the food. I have samples of the dark food and the normal looking food that was purchased at the same time.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57246	8/17/2010 22:24	Proactive Health Natural Chicken Flavor- Large Biscuits	The first time it happened he started sniffing the air and acted confused. He wanted to go outside so we let him out and he just walked around in circles for about a minute or two. He was having a seizure approximately once every 2 wks. The seizures got to the point that he would lay down and shiver and move his feet like he was trying to get up but couldn't. We thought at first it could be his heartworm medicine as collies can be sensitive to that. We decided to try giving him no dog treats at all for awhile since it seems to be treats that have been tainted the most. 1 week after we stopped giving him these lams treats, he had a real mild seizure where he sniffed the air and moved his back legs apart like he was bracing himself. It was over in about a minute. It's now been 2 wks and he has not had any seizures. I don't know if it's just a coincidence or not, but we won't be giving him anything from lams in the future.
EON-57197	8/17/2010 11:24	Waggin Train Wholesome Jerky Treats	See email i sent to makers of this product: Waggin Train Jerky Treats www.waggintrainbrand.com 866-283-2923. This product is like poison to dogs. I can't believe there are so many complaints out there and I wasn't aware. These need to be pulled off the market before anymore dogs get sick or die!! Email: I bought these treats as a special treat to my dogs as a reward for going outside to potty. Boy was it ever a special treat. I almost killed my dog. It made my other dogs sick too but one was really sick. I had to take her to the emergency pet clinic 40 miles from my house on the weekend around 3 a.m. She had thrown up so much that she was bleeding internally. My name is (b) (6) my dog is (b) (6) You can call them to confirm. I decided one day to research treats and discovered that there are many, many of the same type of complaints on multiple websites about the Waggin Train Jerky Tenders. You can find the complaints easily. I wished I had done my research. Many dogs are getting extremely sick after these treats. Why do you keep selling them? These are hurting dogs. WHY? I just want to know. This not only almost cost me my beloved dog but several hundred dollars in vet bills. I can understand if you are not aware but these complaints have been getting posted for a while now. Your company needs to be held accountable. (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57090	8/14/2010 18:02	Purina One Dog Food	Webs and worms in my Purina One Dry (beef and rice small bites) bag dog food. 4th time in less than a year. Just found a web with a worm in my Purina One Dry Cat cat food. Bag of Salmon. Advised Vet. Try to find an email for purina to complain. Wrote an email on their Questions page. Dates are from 10/2009 til 8/2010. Bought dog food 1 time at Walmart, 1 time at Target, and 2 times at Petsmart. Thought maybe a shipping and storage problem?! Now the cat food! Bought at Petsmart 7/2010. Always bring home and put in plastic containers or baggies. Keep in air conditioned home. Returned to stores for another purchase.
EON-57083	8/13/2010 12:06	IAMS Large Breed Proactive Health	Given new bag of IAMS ProActive Large Breed Dog food and he stold some of the IAMS smart puppy large breed puppy food that we had for our puppy.
EON-57077	8/13/2010 11:42	Smart Puppy Large Breed ProActive Health	Used up old bag of IAMS smart puppy food on about the 8th of August, switched to new bag on the 9th. (b) (6) noted to have diarrhea on the 10th with a loss of appetite and lethargy--then at 11AM on 11th noted to be bloody diarrhea so called vet. Put dog on small amts of boiled chicken and rice and saw vet at 0800 on the 12th. Tested for PARVO which was negative. Did Centrine Injection, Fecal, Parvo, Flagyl, strongid/cc and placed on Purina Canine EN dry 8#. On the 13th older dog (b) (6)also noted to have diarrhea.
EON-57076	8/13/2010 11:41	Chicken Soup for the Dog lovers Soul Senior Formula Dry food, Chicken Soup for the Dog Lover's Soul Senior Dog Formula	I started feeding my dogs Chicken Soup for the Dog Lover's Soul dog food about 10 days ago. I did a complete switch over to both the canned and dry formulas of this food at this time. Both of my dogs started with a lot of gas and stomach distress about 3 days ago and as of today both are listless , no energy and with full on diarrhea, they don't want to eat and are drinking large amounts of water. I was up all night with them both. I called Diamond Foods and the company vet said there is no recall on this product and that I am the only person to call about it. When I first started switching them over I had given them a few cans of the puppy formula but that was about 8 or 9 days ago. The canned food also smells strange when the can is opened but I thought that was just the way it was supposed to smell.
EON-57067	8/12/2010 16:51	Dick Van Pattens Natural Balance Dog Food Ultra Premium	I opened a new bag of Natural Balance Ultra Premium Dog Food (kibble). Of 4 dogs, all dogs vomited, but (b) (6)had a severe reaction and went into shock, several times. White gums, lethargic, non-responsive. Blood test came out 100% normal, EKG was done and doctor determined it was gastrointestinal. Conclusions: Canola oil in product caused heart rate to slow to 60 and below. Possible lesions in blood vessels. Canola oil possibly rancid. Dog almost died several times.
EON-57027	8/9/2010 22:20	Iams Weight Control ProActive Health	Have been feeding Stella Iams Less Active Dog food for 5 years. On Thursday, August 5th I purchased a new bag of food and she received her first meal from that bag that night. By Friday evening, 3 meals from this bag, she had diarrhea, horrible uncontrollable gas and was extremely uncomfortable. I quit feeding her from this bag on Sat. Aug 7th and began serving rice and broth formula for her meals. She is slowing returning to a normal digestive pattern.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57024	8/9/2010 20:00	Purina Friskies "Chef's Dinner Pate"	My cats were sickened by Purina Purina Friskies "Chef's Dinner Pate" canned cat food, lot # 01811157 L63851451, exp. date June 2012. I am gathering evidence to start a publicity and awareness campaign/class action lawsuit. Timeline:*Mid May 2010: I purchase multiple cans of aforementioned cat food from (b) (6) This was my regular 'treat' brand I feed my cats as an addition to their regular dry Acana Pacifica formula, without any previous concern or problem.*May 22,2010: both cats are sick, (b) (6)the Bengal with severe diarrhea, (b) (6) the black cat very lethargic, both refuse any of the Purina canned. (b) (6)has a big appetite and ate more of the food. *May 23, 2010: (b) (6) recovers, (b) (6)still not eating, drinking water but veeey lethargic. I admit him to Veterinary Emergency Clinic around 4pm, left him there for blood tests and put on IV fluids. At 1:00am, tired of waiting, I called to see how he was, dreading the worst. They said he made a spontaneous recovery, all blood tests & x-rays were normal, but he was 'angry' & traumatized after being parked above a barking dog...At 2am I arrived to take him home. I had to remove the IV as he was too vicious to be handled by anyone else at this point. Cost: $1,522, $40 taxi fare, pain & worry: priceless. The same evening, not totally sure of the cause, I acted on a hunch and put away all the canned Purina which was stacked according to date of purchase, but I missed one at the very bottom...*Aug. 3, 2010 After reaching the bottom of my Purina stack of cans, and unknowingly feeding them from the missed can bought in May. Again they got sick overnight...*Aug.4, 2010: I wake up at 9am to find my whole house littered with about 15 puddles of diarrhea, vomit, foam and clear gel like fluid. Both refuse to eat any more of the Purina. (b) (6) s lethargic, (b) (6) the big eater is worse: vomiting foam, and I witness him passing clear gel fluid anally at multiple places in the house. I call my vet and they suggest I take him in.I went to the top cupboard where I had stashed the old cans from April, and the recent can matched the serial # of the current can....I had missed it when I put them away, leaving it at the bottom of my current stack from where I fed them Aug.3.I called Purina twice, very angry, left 2 messages and recieved a return phone call a few hours later. Purina's response was to deny there was anything wrong with their food, and that they had received no other such complaints. Dreading another visit to the emergency clinic & hoping to avoid leaving (b) (6)with barking dogs, I waited for it to pass, but despite drinking water he continued to vomit it. Unable to watch him suffer any longer, and worried about the loss of fluids, I brought him to Veterinary Emergency Cinic around 4pm. They administered anti nausea and anti diarrhea medication, stabilized him and I took him home. Cost: $235.00/$40 taxi fare, pain & worry: priceless. I will be persuing a lawsuit as well as informing multiple media outlets about this incident, in an effort to implement a formal investigation and save others similar trauma. Below you will find multiple links to other such incidents... Please help me save other pets & their loving owners from similar nightmares & foreward this letter/collect similar feedback. After the death of my parents, my pets are my only family. I vow to seek answers & justice.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-57000	8/8/2010 19:20	Newman's Own Organics The Second Generation Organic Beef for Dogs	We recently bought a case (12-12 oz cans) of "Newman's Own Organics Organic Beef for Dogs" via Amazon. We opened the first can. The contents had the consistency of vomit, had a grayish tinge, and smelled absolutely vile, as though it had long since spoiled. We opened a second can, and it was exactly the same. We've been a customer of Newman's dog foods for at least a couple of years now and have never encountered anything like this. We're presuming there's something wrong. There's no way we'd feed what was in the two cans to our dog. Here the info on one of the remaining cans: 0016539 11/05/11 NC URUGUAY.N1.INSP Here's the info on the box: AO-WH-2205 N3 11/05/11 Please let us know whether you would like the remaining 10 cans in order to inspect them. Thank you.
EON-56937	8/6/2010 14:47	Chicken Soup for the Cat Lover's Soul Adult Light Cat Formula	Chicken Soup for the Cat Lovers Soul, Adult Light Formula, A0316209, 09:06, Best By 11JUN11 This product contains multiple pieces of thin, blue plastic film.
EON-56794	8/3/2010 18:41	Kibbles 'N Bits Brushing Bites	Dog vomited, refused any food or treats, had bloody diarrhea, and became lethargic, like an old dog (she is normally very high energy). Vet administered injections, prescribed anti-nausea and other drug, and ran tests. Could find no other explanation than the fact that we had tried Kibbles N Bits Brushing Bites food (DelMonte). Called manufacturer, and have since mailed sample to them.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56767	8/3/2010 12:41	Iams ProHealth Weight Control	I bought a 40lb bag of the Iams Prohealth weight control at Sams Club like I have done for the past year. The dogs stop eating the food after 2 days. (b) (6) became lethargic, having problems with walking and drinking large amounts of water. Off to the vet we went, another large bill, x-rays were taken and large gas bubbles were found, He was given some meds to help calm his tummy. (b) (6) seemed to not want to eat and his brother was acting the same. I then notice that both boys were not touching their food which is very unusual for them. (b) (6) eats no matter what. On 7/22/2010 (b) (6) would not take his meds in the cheese-not usual for him-or the peanut butter. I thought something is not right. On 7/23 he started vomiting and still would not touch any food. The vomiting continued through the weekend. Sunday we counted at least 12 vomit sites. Went to get him on (b) (6) to go to vet and could not find him anywhere. Late (b) (6) he showed up. He looked drained sick and had a hard time walking. The time since the 22nd he would not even eat his treats. (b) (6) we went to leave for the vet and again could not find Cody. Our son found him late (b) (6) dead. Our remaining dog is recovering. We don't think he ate as much food because he is not a big eater.
EON-56725	8/2/2010 12:55	Blue Wilderness Chicken Recipe	Patient is a 6 year old mix breed dog that presented with signs of drinking and urinating frequently. Bloodwork was run and the only abnormality was a high calcium. A second panel was sent to an outside lab for ionized calcium which also came back elevated. Patient was otherwise healthy and acting normal. Elected to check a third sample 5 days after the first sample taken and this time came back normal. Patient was eating Blue Buffalo Wilderness Chicken Flavor at the time first and second samples were taken. Owner changed food of own accord at some time after that and patient's signs resolved. This fits with vitamin D toxicosis possibly over supplemented in the food.
EON-56718	8/1/2010 22:00	Dick Van Pattens Natural Balance Limited Ingredient Diets Green Pea & Duck Formula Cat Food	I have 2 cats dealing with allergy issues, so when they started losing weight my vet assumed it was from their discomfort from the allergies. My over-weight cat lost more than 4 pounds. They took blood and it came back normal. My little one lost almost a pound but he's only 9lbs. I had been feeding them from a 10 lb bag of Natural Balance Green Pea and Duck Formula. Soon after their vet appointment I ran out of food and couldn't afford the 10lb bag I usually buy, so I bought them a 5lb bag of the same food and both kitties seemed to be getting better. The next time I ran out of food I got the 10lb bag again and my kitties started acting weird: the little one kept waking me up while I was sleeping and getting much more aggressive about stealing my food. My big girl just followed me around meowing. After a few days, kind of thinking I was crazy, I got a 5lb bag again and they ate it like they hadn't eaten in a week. They were starving themselves rather than eating the food from the 10lb bag. I live in (b) (6) and bought their food from Pet-Co. There is something wrong with the 10lb bag of food, and I need to make sure that this situation is looked into.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56717	8/1/2010 16:20	iams weight control proactive health	my dog has been vomiting and has a break out of bumps and breaths heavy and has no desire to eat his food and seems to be lazy
EON-56716	8/1/2010 13:55	Waggin' Train Yam Good Wholesome Chicken Wrapped Yams	One of my dogs broke into a rash after eating this product. My other dog began defecating very loose stools for several days.
EON-56715	7/31/2010 17:51	Blue Buffalo Wilderness Diet-chicken flavor	Presented for lethargy, anorexia and polyuria/polydipsia. Bloodwork revealed hypercalcemia and azotemia. Further diagnostics revealed elevated hydroxy-vitamin D levels consistent with oversupplementation of vitamin D or toxin. No exposure to toxin could be found. A similar case had been diagnosed by our clinic with the help of (b) (6) 2 weeks prior to this case presenting. Both dogs were being fed Blue Buffalo Wilderness Diet prior to diagnosis.
EON-56671	7/30/2010 11:01	Cesar canine cuisine Gourmet Filets in Sauce New York Strip Flavor	Gave (b) (6) Cesar Canine Cuisine Gourmet Filets in Sauce and an hour later he started vomiting Blood and had diarrhea. then later that night he then died.
EON-56650	7/29/2010 13:05	I don't have it here. Owner reports it is Pet's Pride	Started on Pet's Pride pouch food Tuesday. Presented flat out today. Had diarrhea at home and collapsed.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56606	7/28/2010 22:20	Iams Healthy Naturals Weight Control Formula	The German Shepherd named (b) (6) resided with owner, (b) (6) in her (b) (6) home. Upon hearing of the following ordeal and details via phonecon from my sister (b) (6) (the dog's owner in (b) (6)), I suspected the illness could have been brought about by something that the dog ingested. The dog's condition changed from feeling normal and good on Sunday, July 4 to suddenly ill the next day. Although the illness could have come about from a number of sources, stronger circumstantial evidence centers around the supply of Iams dry dog food which the dog ate. The dog's owner and I at least presently are not attributing the illness to the Iams dog food, but the dog food is a substantial suspect, especially due to the chain of events up to the death of the dog. My sister (b) (6) and I would like to see (b) (6) dog food tested for possible contamination to learn if there was an indicated possibility that he died from contaminated food...and, if so...to bring the knowledge to the attention of the Iams Co. and other pet suppliers and owners. Summary of events: prior to the incident explained herein, the dog was fed an initial feeding from a newly opened bag of (Iams Healthy Naturals - Weight Control formula) on Sunday, July 4, 2010 during the day. On Monday, July 5 the dog developed diarrhea through the day. There was no suspected cause of the diarrhea at the time and the dog was fed again, routinely, with the same food on Monday. (b) (6) the dog again ate the same food in the morning. A diarrhea continued along with the start of vomiting. The dog's activity appeared to gradually slow down with signs of weakness, but he continued to drink water...but would not eat anymore food. (b) (6) the dog's deteriorating condition and deteriorating responsiveness was observed and he was emergency rushed to local veterinarian. (b) (6) was so weak then that he had to be helped in and out of the vehicle for transport to and from the vet. The vet examined (b) (6) gave him 3 injections (one antibiotic, one for diarrhea, one vitamin for upset stomach) and other medication (1 oral med for pain and another oral antibiotic...both of which he never got to take before he died). He had fever of 104 degrees. Vet released dog and advised owner to observe and contact vet to report condition in 24 hrs. Dog was taken home and just wanted to lie down (could not stand), would not give much response to verbal communication. Breathing got very shallow about 2:00 p.m. and Buddy died shortly afterwards.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56604	7/28/2010 18:50	Nutro Natural Choice Small Bites Puppy Chicken Meal Rice and oatmeal	On July 2, 2010 I bought a puppy from Petland, in (b) (6). One of the conditions of buying the puppy was that the store REQUIRED that I purchase a 17.5 pound bag of Nutro Natural Choice Small Bite Puppy food Chicken meal, rice and oatmeal formula. Because the bag was so huge, and no where on the bag does it state that you should not give older dogs the food, all of my dogs were eating the same food. (I have changed my dogs food before and never had any problems). About three weeks later, I noticed blood spots all over the floor. and then within about an hour it began, my dog (b) (6) was uncontrollably pooing bright red blood. I made her as comfortable as I could, as it was late at night and in the morning I took her to the vet, because the bloody diareah was not getting any better, and she had begun to throw up a yellow bile as well. The doctor had to hydrate (b) (6) ran blood work (which came out normal) and she put (b) (6) on anti nausea medication, a pain killer, and anti diareah medication. I have removed the food from all of the dogs, but I still have the portion un eaten and the bag it came in. There has been no other change in our house, and (b) (6) was perfectly healthy before all of this. With that food taken away from her, she is on the mend, but still not 100%.
EON-56537	7/25/2010 13:10	Purina Beneful Healthy Weight	Vomiting of food within 1 hour of consumption of dry Beneful for two feedings. I changed (b) (6) diet to plain white rice thinking she had an upset stomach. Tried to feed her regular food after two days of rice meals. Vomiting occurred again. Continued with rice and added wet Beneful. Maintained rice and wet Beneful for 1 week. Introduced small amount of dry Beneful into rice/wet mixture, vomiting reoccurred. Disposed of original Beneful, 30 lb bag, and purchased new 15 lb bag thinking original bag was not good. Don't have lot number but the best by date was SEP 2010. Added small amount of new dry Beneful to rice/wet mixture, vomiting reoccurred. Each time I try to reintroduce dry Beneful (b) (6) refuses to eat any her food. Have not given dry Beneful to (b) (6) since, no vomiting with rice/wet mixture. Other dog (b) (6) female, spayed, 9 years old 85 lb) was eating dry Beneful with no problems. She now refuses to eat it. I'm not sure that there is a problem with the food, but the fact that each dog refuses to eat the dry Beneful makes me concerned. If there are other dogs and owners affected I hope this will be looked into.
EON-56518	7/24/2010 11:22	Meijer Main Choice Indoor Formula Cat Food	The cats couldn't seem to be able to digest this food. It would almost completely intact when they would throw it up. This began Memorial Day weekend and continued to occur for about three weeks until I took them off the food.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56416	7/20/2010 15:56	IAMS Weight Control Proactive Health	I, (b) (6) and my wife (b) (6) are the owners of a 9 year old German Sheppard named (b) (6) On 6/14/10, we purchased a 25lb bag of IAMS Weight Control Proactive Health at Pet Smart (b) (6) Lot number and UPC code unknown. Around 7pm that evening (b) (6) was fed approximately 3-4 cups of the IAMS Weight Control Proactive Health. I awoke around 3:00AM that morning and observed (b) (6) did not raise his head when I came into the room. On 6/15/10 around 7:00AM, I found (b) (6) outside in a corner very lethargic and unresponsive. I found three piles of vomited semi-digested dog food and yellowish fluids. Around 9:00AM the same morning, (b) (6) was taken downstairs to lie on a blanket in the basement. (b) (6) was later found in the corner of the basement vomiting, dry heaving and urine was observed with blood. (b) (6) at 10:15 through 10:45 (b) (6) remained unresponsive. Around 12:00PM, (b) (6) was taken to Brown Veterinary Hospital located at (b) (6) (b) (6) Blood samples were taken and (b) (6) was x-rayed to check for kidney stones. The results of the blood test were normal and the x-ray did not see any kidney stones. Around 5:00PM, I was allowed to see (b) (6) He was still urinating a thick blood and had saliva around his mouth. He was lethargic and weak. Around 6-6:30PM (b) (6) was put on an IV for fluid intake. (b) (6) around 7:30AM, I received a call from (b) (6) (b) (6) had passed away after they closed for the night. (b) (6) has been fed exclusively the IAMS Weight Control brand of dog food for the past three months. The only medication that (b) (6) was prescribed was Rimadyl (carprofen) 100mg, taken as an anti-inflammatory. One chewable tablet was last given to (b) (6) approximately a week prior. (b) (6) was given a clean bill of health just two months prior from (b) (6) (b) (6) on 4/19/2010. These statements are true and factual to the best of my knowledge.
EON-56410	7/19/2010 23:20	Waggin'Train wholesome Western Grill assorted dog treats; five varieties: Chicken jerky links chicken drumettes big blast pork skin twist chicken jerky tenders chicken kabobs	Approximately 3 weeks after I began giving my two house dogs Waggin'Train brand Western grill assorted dog treats she became ill. She started by vomiting, followed by lethargy, and diarrhea which was followed by very bloody diarrhea and signs of severe abdominal pain. After supportive care and two rounds of metronidazole, she has recovered. We have three dogs, all eating the same diet, but only the two house dogs received the treats. Those two dogs became very sick. The third dog has remained healthy. I suspect the treats because nothing else in the dogs' diet or routine was changed. This was the first time that I used this particular (chicken jerky) sort of treat.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56405	7/19/2010 11:05	Purina Friskies Classic Pate Variety Pack	After feeding my cat the Purina Friskie's classic pate he would vomit. I thought maybe he had a hairball or maybe his teeth were bothering him however when my younger cat vomited I contacted the company. Once I stopped feeding them the food the vomiting stopped.
EON-56404	7/17/2010 19:58	Pedigree Low-Fat tail-wagging Goodness Fewer Calories weight management beef and liver dinner in meaty juices meathy ground dinner 13.2 oz.	I purchased several cans of 13.2 oz. can of canned Pedigree dog food within the last two (2) weeks, I shop weekly for my dog food at this store located at (b) (6) (b) (6) The dog food was (weight management - beef & liver dinner in meaty juices - meaty ground dinner). The information on the bottom of the can is Best by 050412 21 3 01BE3KKCF 06580G. I have a picture of this information as well as a second unopened can with the same information. When I opened the can of food it made the usual vacuum sound however this time a light dusting of blue/gray powder (mold spores) escaped from the can. I pulled the lid off and the food was clearly thick with blue/gray mold. This was not just a few spots it clearly went down into the can. I immediately wrapped the can in a paper towel and sealed it in a plastic freezer bag, then washed by hands. I have a picture of the dog food. I proceeded to call the "Complete satisfaction guaranteed 1-800-525-5273" number on the back of the can. I attempted to call three (3) times. Each time the phone rang, after approximately ten (10) rings the ringing stopped and the phone went dead, there was no message. I then call 800 toll free information, I was informed that there was no 800 number available for Pedigree. I then went to the Pedigree website, I could find no phone number on the website. There was an opportunity on the website to send an email which I did, explaining the problem. I then took the can back to Petsmart and spoke to the store manager (b) (6) (07/17/2010 at 11:00 AM). I explained to him what occurred, showed him the can and expressed my concern that there could be other cans from this same lot, he agreed. I informed him that I had sent and email to Pedigree and would also be sending an email to the FDA do to my concerns. (b) (6) asked to keep the can so that he could forward it to his administrative offices, I conceded and gave him the can. (b) (6) did not take any information from me, he did refund me the .79 cents for the food.
EON-56401	7/16/2010 18:05	purina puppy chow	several of my neibors and myself have had our dogs get severly ill and the only common thing in all was they were fed purina puppy chow
EON-56396	7/15/2010 19:00	Paws & Claws Salmon Dinner Cat Food	I have 13 cats. Feed wet/dry food in a.m., only dry food in p.m.. Last 3 days, the cats have refused to eat the food, several are vomiting and eating grass. I have changed the wet food and everything seems find now. They are all eating.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56391	7/15/2010 10:39	IAMS MinChunks ProActive Health 1+ Years	Dog became extremely lethargic which was very unusual (border collie mix). Slept all of the time and was not interested in walking or even the comings and goings of people around him. Perhaps came on gradually but first was noticed on 7/3 and 7/4 Rear leg joint pain and unsteadiness. Seemed rather disoriented at times and uncomfortable...moved about the house looking for a place to lie down. Panted and smacked his mouth a lot. Hair loss seemed to increase. Continued to eat but would not drink. Elimination seemed normal. First vet visit was on 7/5. He was examined (including CBC Profile and X-Rays) and only noticeable problem was slight dehydration and perhaps indigestion. Was given Deramaxx and Famotidine for 5 days. After two days and no change returned to vet who rechecked, did thyroid test and administered subcutaneous fluids for dehydration. Vet suggested a bland diet so we gave him only cooked chicken and rice with lots of water. After about three days the dog was noticeably improved so we decided to wean him off of the bland diet and put him back on the IAMS Mini Chunks Proactive Health that he had been eating for the past four years. Almost immediately he was back to the lethargy, joint pain, and disorientation only this time he began to have vomiting and diarrhea accidents in the house. Some (not sure if vomit or feces) was bright yellow and foamy and other was very black and slimy. I could find no other reason for this downturn in his health other than the reintroduction of the IAMS so I immediately took it away. The vomiting and diarrhea immediately stopped and his energy is slowly returning. I can think of no other variables other than the dog food. I contacted the manufacturer and reported my experience. My 17.5 lb bag of dog food was purchased at a WalMart and was probably opened about the first of July. I am not sure if something has changed with this food and he's developed an intolerance for it, or if there was something that went bad with this particular bag. All I know is what I've experienced and don't want anyone else to go through it too.
EON-56389	7/14/2010 22:34	Proactive Large Breed	Dog has been eating Iams food for years with no problems. I recently purchased 48 lb bag of Proactive Large Breed dog food and he threw it all up. Then he refused to touch this food after that. He will eat all other food with no problem. I also found that many other people have had sick dogs after they have eaten this particular dog food.
EON-56330	7/11/2010 10:06	Iams Weight Control Proactive Health 1+ Years	I purchased a new, 8 lb. bag of Iams Weight Control, Proactive Health, 1+ years, for my dog. She has eaten this food since she was a year old. She wouldn't eat the food and typically gobbles it up. We were on vacation at the time, but I thought perhaps she was just upset about being away from home. We tried putting cheese in the food to get her to eat it and the success was limited. She clearly wanted nothing to do with the food. She has not gotten sick from the food yet, just wouldn't eat it. We got home yesterday and gave her some of her regular food (same food, from different bag) and she gobbled it up as usual. This morning we tried the "bad" food in her dish to see if she would eat it and she wouldn't touch it. I wanted to bring this to your attention because there is clearly something wrong with the food. I have retained the portion of the bag that we didn't feed her and will be contacting Iams and PetSmart as well.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56307	7/9/2010 14:51	Hill's Science Diet Nature's Best	I began giving our dog Science Diet Nature's Best Chicken or Lamb with brown rice dog food a year ago. At first he did well with no obvious changes to his disposition. After six months on the food, he began to have a problem holding urine through the night. Then he required multiple trips outdoors during the daytime. This progressed to urinating in the home. This was attributed to habit/age. At the same time he began exhibiting lesions in his ears. This progressed to lesions around his rectal area. This progressed to looser stools. Finally, last month, he had bloody stool. We took him to the vet. Our dog was running a fever and was generally distressed. He was put on Flagyl and an antibiotic, as well as ground beef and rice diet. His stool was tested for parasitic disease. All tests came back negative. He did well on the medication and diet regimen and was introduced to a new food of lamb, rice and vitamins only. California Natural. His condition has improved significantly. He does not require frequent trips outdoors. He does not have nocturia at this time.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56250	7/6/2010 9:55	Lams Small & Toy Proactive Health	We have two dogs in my parents household. (b) (6) who belongs to me and (b) (6) who belongs to my parents. (b) (6) is on another dog food (Chicken Soup for the Dog Lover's Soul) and (b) (6) is on Lams. Every now and then (b) (6) will sneak into (b) (6) food. He managed to get into the bag and ate quite a bit of it. We called the vet who said that he would be fine so long as he could still defecate. He could defecate no problem and showed no issues until a few days later when he started having bloody stool. We called the vet again and were told that it shouldn't be a result of the Lams incident, it was more likely something else and to call back if it got worse. It did get worse as (b) (6) started bleeding from his rectum. It was bright red fresh blood. We took him to the vet and they could feel nothing in his rectum. He was given an antibiotic. This didn't fix the problem and in fact at this point, a red piece of tissue started protruding from (b) (6) rectum after he defecates. (This is ongoing presently.) We took him to the vet and again they felt nothing. They ran some blood-work, which came back normal, and gave him another antibiotic and steroids. Through the week (b) (6) seemed to be getting better. Then he ate a little bit of Lams out of (b) (6) bowl. (b) (6) had a severe reaction. He had welts that looked like bites, his feet and rectum swelled up and stiff and sore he couldn't hardly walk or lay down. He would lift his leg off the ground when he stood. We had to carry him down stairs to get to the vet. The vet was very concerned about him and the amount of pain he was in and sent us to (b) (6) Veterinarian Hospital Emergency Clinic. There he was seen and was determined to have chronic hematochezia and hives. He was given a shot of histamine and Tramadol. This alleviated his swelling and pain, but did nothing for the little red mass protruding from his rectum. He was seen by (b) (6) Oncology Hospital the next day and was given an ultrasound and another rectal exam. Again they felt nothing in his rectum. They saw nothing on the ultrasound and his blood-work from the previous day again came back normal. They put him on another steroid, a prescription dog food and de-wormer just in case. As a result there was noit bright red fresh blood (it had a darker old blood appearance) and the protruding mass became an intermittent problem. The other morning, (b) (6) got into a (b) (6) bowl of food again. Later that evening he had quite a bit of fresh red blood and the protrusion again. I called the regular vet and was told that it may or may not be the Lams even still and that it could be a colitis. Really? After all the steroids and antibiotics this dog has been on??? The problem is is that Lams and some of these other less than stellar dog foods have these vets around their little fingers with their benefits for endorsing their products. Its corrupt and we have to suffer for it. Its wrong and should be regulated. I did some research online where I found multiple complaints (consumeraffairs.com) within our same timeline of some serious issues people have been having with their animals and this dog food. Some have even died!!! I've always known it is not good food for animals and therefore never fed it to my dog. Something seriously needs to be done and I would love to have my vet bills reimbursed at this point as we've spent over $1000. There has to be stricter rules and regulations on dog food. There's too many ways for them to cheap out on ingredients and naming things so that they sound wholesome when they are not. I have pictures of (b) (6) bloody rags, bloody rectum and the protrusion.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56247	7/6/2010 4:30	Iams Mini Chunks Proactive Health	In the last 20 to 30 days I noticed that my dog was a bit lethargic and would have occasional labored breathing and panting. I assumed it was from the summer heat/ humidity and/or exercise. Concurrently, I began to notice that (b) (6) was eating less and less of her Iams dog food. She has been eating the same Iams food- Mini Chunks Proactive Health in the green bag - for years. She has never been that fond of it, but it has been my understanding that dogs are not supposed to be terribly fond of their food, lest they overeat it. She was also begging for treats more. In the last week she would hardly eat the Iams at all. I finally figured out it was the Iams after my dog begged for treats almost non-stops the last two days. I had noticed when I opened the bag initially after purchase it smelled fouler than usual to me (a stronger ammonia smell that "mellowed" into a strong rendering plant smell) but I fed it anyway, assuming Iams wouldn't poison my dog. I am not going to feed my dog this, or any Iams from now on. I'm going to contact my Vet and Iams later today. I researched this issue on the internet and it appears that something is emerging with Iams in regards to pet safety.
EON-56220	7/2/2010 10:56	Iams Adult Cat Food - Pate Flavors	(b) (6) died on (b) (6) She was hospitalized at the Animal Medical Center in (b) (6) (b) (6) on (b) (6) That day, we noticed a sudden onset of breathing difficulties and an odd gait. Extensive testing at the Medical Center revealed inflammation of the gray matter in her brain, which is associated with thiamine deficiency. It emerged that (b) (6) had had a minor accident of some kind - possibly falling off a shelf in a closet - earlier on (b) (6) which triggered decompensation and multi-system failure. The vets said that the minor injury she suffered in the accident would normally have been easy to treat, and that she would have made a full recovery. They said that the thiamine deficiency-related neurological problem almost surely caused her to have the accident to begin with, and definitely resulted in her death following the accident. (b) (6) had been losing weight for several months prior to her death - a total of about 2 pounds - but our local vet said that since she was eating normally and not showing any other symptoms that we should just monitor her. It turned out, of course, that the weight loss was related to the problem with the food as well. So, we will give the date the problem started as January 1, 2010, though the acute event began on (b) (6) The only food (b) (6) ever ate was Iams adult cat pate flavors, which were recalled recently because of the thiamine deficiency. Our vets are certain that the food we gave her was the direct cause of the neurological problem that ultimately killed her.
EON-56211	7/2/2010 0:36	Iam mini chunks in the green bag	All three dogs had diarrhea and vomiting. In addition to the Bichon Frise, we also gave it to a 16 year old poodle and a 13 year old Lhasa Apso.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56210	7/1/2010 21:46	Ultra Natural Balance	I tried to contact FDA and Natural Balance company with all this info. I just got hom for having to put the 2nd cat (Powder) to sleep because she was having seisures from kidnay failure, her body is being sent to (b) (6) (b) (6) for autopsy since this is the 2nd cat in less than a week die or have to be put down. believe the cat food my cats ate was contaminated and I was wondering if I sent you some of the food if you would be able to test it? I want to make sure that the company does what is needed in case my theory is correct. My story is below, sorry it is so long but I wrote it last night to a site that had other customer complaints on the same cat or dog food. Please read and let me know if there is anything you might can do to help. I am able to send samples and information when needed. Thanks, (b) (6) bought a new bag of Natural Balance dry cat food from a local pet store on or around 6/18/2010. We added the new bag of food to the last few cups of the Natural Balance we had been feeding our cats. Both cats are approx 11 months old. We noticed on the night of the 21st one of our cats (b) (6) had thrown up and we thought it was a hairball or from the heat of the day. The next day we didn't see her (b) (6) until 8:30pm (which was very unusual for her) when we found her she was covered with 1000's of fly eggs and larvae and we rushed her to the vet. The vet explained she had to be completely unconscious for many hours to have as many fly eggs on her as there were, also it take 8 to 30 hours for fly eggs to hatch, ect.. He immediately said it looked as if she had gotten into something toxic. I left her for treatment and the next morning took her to another vet because the first didn't seem to want to provide the care I thought she needed, he acted as if he was giving up (this was 12 hours after I took her in for an emergency visit). The new vet immediately started her on IV fluids and done blood work. He said she had complete kidney failure and agreed she seemed to have eaten something toxic. On the morning of (b) (6) we visited her and despite the efforts of flushing the toxins from her body hoping her kidneys would improve, she ended of passing away that same night (b) (6) We had no idea what could have happened or what she ingested until 6/28/2010 when our other cat started having similar symptoms. We noticed both were not eating as well as they should have been but again we thought it was from the heat or summer. Today is 6/29/2010 and our other cat Powder is now on IV fluids because of dehydration, and not eating. I rushed her to the vet after noticing she was not eating or drinking and not able to stand up. After doing blood work the vet called and said Powder's kidneys were failing as well, the test results are close to t he same results as our other cat (b) (6) The only thing both cats ate in common or at all for that matter is the Natural Balance cat food. I emailed the company a few hours ago and told them this exact same information and am waiting for a response, I also plan to call them tomorrow on 6/30/2010 and am offering to send them a sample of the food since we have a whole bag left, so hopefully the will offer to test it. I also hope to find a local lab to test the food as well, this may be a little difficult in our area, I may have to look into other cites for testing. I may have lost 2 very important family members and honestly believe the food is the cause and that the food may be contaminated. I want the company to be aware of the problem and recall the food before more animals die. I also have a 7 year old Lab on the same brand food and I plan to have blood work done on him just in case it's not just the cat food contaminated.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56187	7/1/2010 12:06	Award Gourmet with Turkey in Gravy	Purchased With Turkey and Gravy 5.3oz dog food from PetsMart. Upon opening the product it was found to have "furry" growth and discolored product inside. I believe this is the same problem that this company Pacific Coast Distributing had in 2007. It says on the package best by Feb 23 12 UPC 4 00108 00771 8
EON-56169	6/30/2010 22:26	Waggin Train Wholesome Western Grill Assorted Dog Treats	After feeding my dogs Waggin Train Western Grill (chicken jerky dog treats) both my dogs fell very ill. First my male dog who is 13 fell ill with vomiting and severe diarrhea for days. Not knowing what caused the issues I continued feeding my female dog who is 9 the dog treats. Within days my other dog fell ill with the same symptoms. I took her to the vet to get blood work and stool sampled tested and the vet determined from the stool sample that the female had very high levels of clostridia. Thank goodness I took her to the vet because the clostridia keeps water from absorbing into the intestines and can cause dehydration and even death in some dogs. I am positive this was from these dog treats and the vet agreed that the timing and symptoms were in fact in relation to the dog treats. I am very concerned about these dog treats because they are in fact made in China. I just can't believe these are still available in stores all over (b) (6) and there is no warning label on the package. Please help save the lives of dogs by banning these products. I'm out two hundred dollars plus the cost of these treats but at least I still have my best friends!
EON-56047	6/27/2010 20:35	Purina Fancy Feast Seafood Feast Variety Grilled 24 can	In early June, I purchased a new box of Purina Fancy Feast Seafood Feast Variety (Grilled) and after feeding to all four of my cats, they vomited and began having watery, foul-smelling diarrhea. A couple responded immediately, then the other two followed. I had been feeding another variety of Fancy Feast prior to this with no ill effects. I stopped feeding the food immediately, but my youngest cat continued to have vomiting and diarrhea, became dehydrated and anorexic. We took him to the vet and his WBC count was high, but kidney values were normal. We brought him home for observation and gave him subcutaneous fluids to maintain hydration. It took ~ 2 weeks for him to begin eating much of anything and he's still very thin, but is recovering.
EON-56046	6/26/2010 18:48	Purina Cat Chow Complete	found green fuzzy kibble; appeared to be moldy

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-56011	6/25/2010 8:32	Natural Balance Original Ultra	Two weeks ago our dog, (b) (6) started experiencing intestinal distress and severe diarrhea. After two days of her not being able to control her bowel movements, we took her to our Veterinarian. She was treated with Amforal, put on a chicken and rice diet and immediately improved. After five days of this regimen, she was returned to her usual diet of Natural Balance Original Ultra. We have been feeding her this blend since she was a puppy and had recently purchased a new 33 lb. bag. Within twenty four hours the diarrhea returned. Again we contacted the vet and were told to have (b) (6) return to the medication and chicken and rice. Once her system stabilized, she should switch to a lamb and rice formula dog food. The veterinarian was attributing her illness to an issue with her food. Once we stopped feeding her the Natural Balance Food, the diarrhea stopped, A comment from a friend about a recent dog food recall prompted my Internet search where I discovered the voluntary recall of Natural Balance Sweet Potato and Chicken. Although I realize that this is not the variety we purchased and we do not live in one of the states mentioned in the recall, I cannot help but think that there may be a more wide spread concern of contamination than originally thought. My concern is not just for my own pet, but for others who may be sickened.
EON-55997	6/24/2010 10:47	Iams Large Breed Proactive Health	Our dog has always eaten Iams large breed dog food. The newest bag we purchased made her sick after the first bowl of this bag. After searching the web for information, we discovered others had the same problem recently. We put her on a two day bland diet and have switched to another food recommended by our veterinarian. Her vomiting stopped and we will be returning the bag of food to the Costco it was purchased at.
EON-55991	6/23/2010 18:42	IAMS Large Breed proactive Health	I switched back to IAMS large breed adult approx 2 weeks. After 3 days of eating this food I started having dogs in different areas having anything from occasionally vomiting, diarrhea, not wanting to eat the food and persistent vomiting. 2 dogs have been seen by the vet with one currently on meds to stop vomiting and blood work has been sent in. I am now going to switch food to see if this helps after seeing many of the same complaints by consumers recently.
EON-55990	6/23/2010 17:57	The Honest Kitchen Embark 100% natural dehydrated food for dogs	I purchased a box of The Honest Kitchen "Embark" dehydrated dog food from Tomlinson's Pet Store in (b) (6) in approximately April, 2010. It is a powdery food which you add water to before feeding to your dogs. About 3 weeks ago I discovered a small piece of pliable blue plastic in the food, about 1 1/2 inches long and about 3 millimeters wide. Not 100% sure at the time where the plastic originated I removed it from the mixture, inspected the quantity I was using, and proceeded to use the product. Now a few days ago on June 18 I found another piece of that same blue plastic further down in the box of food. I'm now 100% sure that the plastic originated from within the box as there has been no cross contamination of other substances with this box of food (ie, nothing could have falling in or been set in the box). I have not yet inspected the box further for more foreign substances.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55964	6/22/2010 23:47	Natural Balance Original Ultra- Ultra Premium Dog Food with fresh chicken brown rice lamb meal oatmeal pearled barley salmon meal fresh potatoes and fresh carrots.	Hello, I am the proud owner of two English bulldog puppies. My boys are now 10 months and they have been eating natural balance food since we brought them home. My dogs were sick last month (for about three weeks). I had no idea what was causing it. They were vomiting, had severe diarrhea, loss of appetite and they were lethargic. I contacted my vet many times and even had the dogs tested for giardia. We would give the dogs boiled chicken and rice and they would get better after about 1 week. Then we would feed them dry food and it would start all over. When I saw the news on the recall- it all clicked. They became sick after they began eating this particular bag of food. Once we took them off of it- they would get better. Once we began feeding them the food from this bag- it would start all over. My dogs finished the bag in three weeks and we purchased another bag. Since then (about 1 week- no stomach problems). I know that bag was not on the recall list- but I think it could be contaminated. My dogs showed all the signs of salmonella poisoning. I have saved some food from the bag. The bag is blue and it is the original ultra best by Sept 19, 2011. The proof of purchase on the bag reads- Natural Balance Ultra Dog 33lb. The bar code is 23633 80085 . I see another number above the best before date. It reads NBD0302d2sl DT 01:40. Please let me know if you need additional information. Thank you (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55963	6/22/2010 21:37	Royal canin renal lp modified [canned (not pouch) wet food puree (not chunks)] 6 oz.	Several weeks ago I noticed odd pieces of tiny whitish material in Royal Canin 6 oz patee canned cat food, Renal LP. They were too small to determine what they were, and I simply assumed they were cartilage and discarded those pieces when feeding the cat, but continued to use the cans of food from that case. On 6/5/10 the cat began having seizures. On 6/14/10 I found a relatively large of piece of what is undeniably plastic, whitish in appearance, in a can of the same case. On 6/15 I contacted the manufacturer and sent them photos of the plastic. I requested a call back regarding any information they have re seizures related to plastic ingestion/antidotes to plastic toxicity in cats. I was told someone would get back to me immediately, but to date I have not been contacted. Photos are available. I have taken the cat to the vet for blood work and am feeding her from a different case of food by the same manufacturer. (As she has kidney disease, there are a limited number of manufacturers of the diet she requires.) I tried submitting this report earlier, but was unable to access the portal without the system freezing, and so I submitted the information and photos via email to SRPSupport@fda.hhs.gov, on 6/16/ 2010.
EON-55870	6/21/2010 12:41	Beneful	(b) (6) and (b) (6) will normally go through a 31.1 lb bag of beneful, we bough a new bag last week and neither (b) (6) or (b) (6) will eat. (b) (6) we tease, is a piggy. She will eat 2 bowl fulls of food on a daily bases, but now wont eat at all. I am concerned that the food may have something wrong with it.
EON-55766	6/17/2010 21:56	Pedigree Lamb and Vegetable	On Monday evening (6/14) I fed my dog a can of Pedigree Lamb and Vegetables. Within approximately 1 - 2 hours she showed signs of food poisoning (cramping, vomiting, and diarrhea) which lasted all through the night. I took her to the vet on Tuesday where she was diagnosed with pancreatitis.
EON-55675	6/14/2010 20:10	Nutro Natural Choice Lamb Meal and Rice	She broke out with hives every time she ate. Accompanied with occasional vomiting. Started about a month ago. Hadn't made any changes to anything. She has eaten this food for 6 yrs. since she was a puppy. Took her to vet and confirmed through testing that it is an allergic reaction. Gave her Benedryl. Improves for a short period of time then when she eats it happens agin. Just 3 days ago I switched to another brand of food and the hives have stopped. She has been using Nutro Natural Choice Lamb Mela and Rice Formula for the last 6 yrs
EON-55632	6/14/2010 12:20	Nutro Ultra Holistic Large Breed Dog Food	We got a new bag of our same dog food. My dog (b) (6) has thrown up large quantites since last night. She has probably thrown up 10 times and her food is the only thing she has eaten. My other dog (b) (6) only ate half her bowl and she will not go near the food. (b) (6) ate a lot more of it than her because she finished (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55628	6/14/2010 12:10	Nutro Ultra Holistic Large Breed Dog Food	We got a new bag of our same dog food and (b) (6) only ate half the bowl. She is very lethargic. This morning she would not go near her food but she would eat other things I offered her. My other dog has been throwing up non stop which I will also submit a report on.
EON-55608	6/12/2010 9:42	Diamond Naturals Beef Meal and Rice	I bought this food in April. I fed the dogs the food at that time. They had maybe 2 meals with it and after the second meal he started vomiting and had bloody diarrhea. He was fed the last meal at around 6 p.m. and by midnight he was sick and the vomiting and diarrhea lasted approximately 3 days. I thought it was possibly the food so I did not feed any of the dogs this food again but saved the bag. I have 8 dogs total and they all got sick. On June 4th I thought I would try the food again. (I had run out of Science Diet and all the dogs were feeling good. No vomiting or Diarrhea. I fed them supper and by 8 p.m. every dog was vomiting. They are still sick. Vomiting and bloody diarrhea. This time they only got one meal with the food. I was unable to take them to the vet because I have recently moved and did not have the money to take all 8 dogs to the vet. I am a nurse so I just treated them at home....with over the counter antidiarrhea and antacid medication along with yogurt and a bland home made diet. I have 6 Dachshunds, an English Mastiff and a Great Dane. Everyone got sick and everyone is in excellent health usually. The big boys were not as ill as the little ones.
EON-55585	6/11/2010 12:57	Beefeaters Sweet Potato Snacks for Dogs	Owner reported PU/PD going into weekend on 6/4/10 an was unable to bring dog for appointment. Told to stop Temaril-P (had not had dose in 2 days) prescribed clavamox and requested urine sample at annual exam sceduled for 6/8/10. Lab work: UA: ph=7.0, glucose=50mg/dl, protein=500mg/dl. Bld=25/ul, leuk=100/ul. SG=1.015, Sediment showed rare RBC & WBC, transiyional epithelial cells. Chemistry: lipase=756, CK=210, glucose 96 (normal), Fructosamine=222 (low in light of ++ hemolysis). CBC and T4 WNL. Discussed acquired Fancomi's and asked owner about any new treats or diet change. She reported new Sweet Potato Treat made in China were started shortly before clinical signs began. Treats were stopped.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55569	6/10/2010 17:46	Authority Adult Traditional Loaf Lamb & Rice Formula	I have been feeding a few of my cats Authority Brand Adult Traditional Loaf Lamb & Rice Formula Canned Cat Food since early to mid-May 2010. Normally I only heat the food for a few seconds (5 - 8) in the microwave once it's been refrigerated when it is time to feed the cats. I heat the food in a paper bowl. Last week, sometime between Wednesday, June 2 and Sunday, June 6 I decided to heat up more than usual so I heated food for 12 -15 seconds and head and saw a spark from the food as it heated. There should not have been a spark since the food was heated in a paper bowl. So I decided to heat it longer to see what happened. As it heated for a few more seconds there were multiple visible/audible sparks coming from the bowl and the microwave filled with smoke. Enough smoke that I could no longer see the food bowl, I could however still see the sparks. I stopped the microwave and left it open to air out. I bagged the food still in the bowl and put it and the small amount that remained in the can in the refrigerator. I immediately contacted the number on the can of food and a representative took my name, address, phone number, store location and UPC code on label and said someone will get back to me in 3-5 business days. It is June 10, 2010 and I have heard nothing back. I just called the company again and the representative said he can't find any record of my call but that may mean that the report has been submitted and if no one calls me back today (it was a few minutes to 5PM ET when I called) then to call back and they will re-issue my complaint. Meanwhile, i don't have any information as to whether the cats that ate this food are in danger. The quicker I get information the quicker I can act to prevent any permanent damage the food could have caused. The representative apologized for not having any information for me, thanked me for calling Petsmart and ended the call.
EON-55511	6/9/2010 0:21	Pet Pride Savorful	Both pets consumed food and have been violently vomiting and shaking, after consumption.
EON-55510	6/8/2010 20:51	Vitakraft Drops With ChocoMilk	I purchased Vitakraft Yogurt Dog Treats at Petco in (b) (6) These treats are labeled "ChocoMilk" and I didn't think much about it at the time of purchase but thought maybe they had some kind of malt in them or something. Later, after feeding half the pouch, I woke up and realized that these probably contain chocolate and I know that it is well-documented that theobroma is toxic to dogs. Sure enough, cocoa powder is listed right on the package as an ingredient. I went back to Petco and informed the manager and said that I did not see how these could even be authorized for sale in the US and that they certainly should not be selling them. I took the last package off the shelf and gave it to him. Within a couple of days, it was back on the shelf. An internet search reveals that Petco has already been complained to by other customers and a vet at one of their own stores advised a customer that they would not give the treats to a dog. I have not followed up further with them but I cannot understand how these treats can be sold in the US with a well-documented toxic product inside.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55476	6/8/2010 13:55	lams mini chunks Proactive health	I've been feeding my 14 year old beagle and 3 year old lab lams since last October. Everything was fine until we left for our house in (b) (6) May 2nd. We had about a gallon of left over food to get us to our house. We bought a new bag when we got to (b) (6) In about 2 weeks the beagle started shunning the lam's. Being so old, I thought it was just her teeth. We started added warm water and she started eating it again. The lab continued to eat it dry. Then on about (b) (6) the beagle started getting very lethargic. Then she started not eating her food again. Within two days, she threw up blood and blood was in her stool. The next morning at about 1am, she woke us up crying. When we went upstairs there was blood everywhere from throwing up. We rushed her to emergency pet care. We talked with them and they thought at her age of 14 years, it was probably cancer. She had lived a full life and we always said we wouldn't let her suffer. So, at 4:15am. we put her down. It was so hard after so many years. One week later to the date, the lab quit eating and the afternoon after that he threw up blood, alot!. We were going to wait until the next morning to take him to the vet. That night later, he had a bowl movement that was all blood no food. He hadn't eaten in about 2 1/2 days now. When we got up the next morning, he seemed a little better, so we held off on the vet. We were still not connecting the two dogs sickness because of age. That day, I was able to get the lab to eat a dog bisquit but it took awhile. He then ate 3 more during the day each time very slowly. He still would not touch the lams. This morning June 3rd, he seemed alot better after about 3 1/2 days without lams dog food. Again this morning he wouldn't touch the lams. I broke up a dog bisquit in his lams and he sorted thru it and ate only the bisquit. That's when I had an Ah ha moment. I got some of our cat food and he ate it like he hadn't eaten in a week. Well, he almost hadn't. That's when my wife found all these other reports of the same kind of illness. Bought Bil-Jac dog food today and this afternoon he ate it like crazy. I am having testing done by an independent lab tomorrow. I contacted lams and they acted like they had never heard of this problem. I felt totally insulted. Please don't let your dogs eat this food. It was the lams in the green back, small chunks. We will see what lams will do about this. We probably put our beloved (b) (6) down last week for nothing. If lam's would have reported this, it could have been prevented! Do you love your dog, no more lams!
EON-55452	6/7/2010 20:45	California Natural Pure & Simple Chicken and Brown Rice Formula Cat & Kitten Food	Cat developed diarrhea, lose stools and flatulence, vomiting of food, and bilious vomiting, after switching from previous food California Natural to I am s (both chicken and rice formula - hard kibble in 2 days stools became regular, no vomiting and weight went from 8 lbs to 10 lbs. When the food ran out and retried California Natural chicken and rice same symptoms returned within a couple days, and than resolved after putting him back on lams chicken and rice.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55439	6/7/2010 14:00	Nutro Natural Choice Lite	I have two dogs - both are sick from Nutro brand Natural Choice Lite dog food. One has been eating it for over a year. I bought a bag at a Petsmart in (b) (6) and he threw up within a day. Because he had been outside more than normal I didn't think anything about the food. A week went by and he didn't throw up again but then started throwing up daily. I took him to the vet...several tests later no clue what was wrong but they recommended a prescription diet but wanted me to mix it for a week or two with the old food. Not wanting to waste food I not only mixed his food but mixed my perfectly healthy (then) labs food with a little bit of the product. She has started throwing up as well and he continued. Obviously I am not feeding them this product anymore but you need to be aware of this. I have seen soem reports on the internet about this and that you are not recalling any product. Feel free to contact me about this.
EON-55428	6/5/2010 19:05	Dick Van Patten's Natural Balance® L.I.D. Limited Ingredient Diets® Potato & Duck Dry Dog Food	She initially refused to eat the food and we assumed she was being picky- although that is very out of character. She is hungry and will eat other food but she refuses to eat the Natural Balance. After she was coaxed to eat it, she had spells of vomiting and diarrhea. She has lost roughly five pounds and is very lethargic.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55366	6/2/2010 19:55	DELI FRESH	(b) (6) our beloved dog (b) (6) died a horrific death. Within 48 hours he went from being an extremely healthy, vital, vibrant incredible 7 year old lab to a dead dog lying in a pool of blood. He became sick on (b) (6) starting with diarrhea. At 4:15pm that same day he was taken to the vet because he has blood in his diarrhea. Upon arrival at the vet's he began vomiting blood. He was given an IV with fluids, had X-rays plus blood and fecal tests taken. He continued to vomit blood and have bloody diarrhea. He was kept overnight in the Emergency Animal Hospital where I witnessed my poor (b) (6) in unbelievable distress. I booked into the hotel next to the hospital and checked him every 2 hours. At 4am he had heavy bleeding diarrhea. He was given a drug to try and stop the bleeding. He exploded blood all over the floor and he was taken away again and given more anti nausea medication. At 4pm I was told to come and pick him up as he was starting to seem "better". We rushed to the vet. In the car I received the phone call that he was dead. When we reached the vet (b) (6) was lying on a stretcher with a black plastic bag over his whole lower half. His intestines had come away from his stomach. My beautiful dog died like this. Ever since that time we have been trying to determine how a such a healthy vibrant dog could become so violently ill so quickly and all indicators pointed towards the ingestion of something. I had his food tested by the Animal Disease and Food Safety Lab and lab technicians have indicated that 3 types of bacteria were found in his food: Eggerethella lenta, Prevotella intermedia and Clostridium species most consistent with Clostridium botulinum/sporogenes. I have contacted the pet food manufacturer who immediately hired a team of 3 experts to investigate. I am waiting to hear back from them regarding their findings-they immediately told me that the bacteria is "irrelevant" in this case. I contacted Petco where I purchased the food and they offered me a refund and said they would investigate-I have not heard anything back from them. I am concern is that the resolution of this potentially dangerous problem is being diluted and I need help in making sure this never happens to another dog. I feel noone is listening to me and I don't know how be heard. Please can you help? I am writing to tell you that I will do everything within my power to stop this happening to any more dogs and have filed a complaint with the FDA who called me back this evening asking for all records to be sent. The food is still refrigerated and I am waiting to see if i should send it to a second lab for testing and I still have another unopened tube from the same batch in the refrigerator-the due date is July 10, 2010. I have copied Petco where I purchased the 4 tubes on April 12th at their (b) (6) (b) (6)

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55232	5/30/2010 10:20	Iams ProActive Health Adult Pate	The week of 4/19/10, The owner has noticed that (b) (6) had been vocalizing more than normally for the a few days. 4/23/10, (b) (6) was more lethargic and not jumping. In the evening, (b) (6) was able to walk, but was very incoordinated. He presented to the emergency hospital for evaluation. On examination (performed by (b) (6)) was dehydrated, had dental disease, decreased pupillary light reflexes, absent menace OU, ataxia, mild right head tilt and was turning to the right. Blood pressure and bloodwork was obtained. Hospitalization for supportive therapy, monitoring and transfer for a neurological consultation was recommended, but declined. (b) (6) was given SQ fluids and an injection of anzemet (dolasetron) for nausea. On 4/24/10, was much weaker and when the owner put him down he would go down head first. He continued to be incoordinated/ataxic. (b) (6) presented to our hospital in the evening for evaluation. Diet history: (b) (6) was only fed Iams canned cat food. The owner noted that about 1 month prior there was a formulation change, with the addition of probiotics to the cat food. On general physical examination, we found the following: Bright, alert, anxious and significantly dehydrated on examination. Severe dental disease with resorptive lesions and halitosis. Normal thoracic auscultation, abdominal palpation, and lymph node size. Two symmetric testicles. BCS = 4/9. Neurologic evaluation revealed the following: Alert and appropriate mentation. Ventroflexion of the head and neck, when placed on a surface (after being moved), wide based stance in all four limbs. Significant tetrapaxia and dysmetria in all four limbs with tendency to circle in both directions and list to one side or the other, will fall over after taking about 5-6 steps. Absent placing reactions in all four limbs. Normal reflexes and muscle tone. Cranial Nerve function: Mydriatic pupils OU, with decreased PLRs OU, decreased menace OU, positional vertical nystagmus OU when quickly moved head in a dorsoflexion. No pain on palpation of the head, neck, or spine. Diagnostics: - Magnetic resonance imaging of the brain was performed pre and post gadolinium contrast in three planes. The following images were obtained: T2W sagittal and axial, FLAIR axial, T1W pre contrast coronal, T1W post contrast axial, sagittal and coronal. A total of 96 images were reviewed. The MRI showed a contrast enhancing intraaxial area bilaterally in the caudal colliculus (measuring 0.4 x 0.4 x 0.2 cm) and lateral geniculate (measuring 0.3 x 0.2 x 0.1 cm). This area is hyperintense on the T2W images and FLAIR images and isointense on the T1W pre contrast images. There is no evidence of a mass effect associated with these areas. Interpretation: Highly suspect metabolic disease (due to symmetry of the lesions), such as a thiamine deficiency. Cannot rule out inflammatory disease. Recommend a cerebrospinal fluid analysis to differentiate between inflammatory disease versus metabolic. Cerebrospinal fluid tap was performed in the cisterna. The CSF analysis was within normal limits. Nucleated cell count showed 0 leukocytes/uL and 0 erythrocytes/uL. The protein was <30mg/dL. The cytology showed 3 cells (2 monocytes and 1 lymphocyte). Interpretation: Normal cerebrospinal fluid analysis. Diagnosis: Metabolic encephalopathy; highly suspect thiamine deficiency based on the classic MRI lesions and response to thiamine supplement Outcome: (b) (6) was admitted to the hospital and started on IVF and a thiamine supplement (50mg IM q12h). He started to eat again and his neurologic examination improved dramatically over a 48 hour period. The owner continued thiamine supplementation with 50mg intramuscularly q12h x3 days and then transitioned to 50mg PO q12h. He continued to improve at home and was back to normal by 5/1/10. I contacted the lam's company and spoke with (b) (6) one of the Iams company's veterinarians, about (b) (6) case. I sent her all of
EON-55074	5/27/2010 10:01	Iams Proactive Health premium cat food Pate with Country Style Turkey and Giblets or Pate with gourmet chicken	Feline developed Thiamin deficiency. Testing at Midwest laboratories of the product that the cat was eating showed a thiamin level of 0.56 mg/Kg. The diet has a moisture content of 78%. This converts to 2.5 mg/Kg DM which is 50% less than the AAFCO minimum. The cat has been eating this diet (Iams proactive health pate - chicken or turkey) for its entire life. Became very acutely ill with initial anorexia then neurologic signs. MRI consistent with thiamin deficiency. Responded to thiamin injections.
EON-55073	5/26/2010 20:26	Fancy Feast seafood feast in gravy grilled	Serious diarrhea, vomiting, dehydration and lethargy.

Key	Created	Product Name	Description
EON-55015	5/26/2010 16:31	Science Diet Adult hairball control savory chicken entree	2 out of 3 cats had multiple bouts of vomiting and diarrhea after consuming Science Diet Adult Hairball Control Savory Chicken Entree. When The food was changed to a different brand, symptoms disappeared. Best before date: 04/2012. T0431557B 4526
EON-54975	5/26/2010 3:46	Frontline	I heard you were working on regulating flea medications ~ I have a couple of suggestions that should help; I have a poodle mix, 2 cockatoos, and a cockateil. About 2 years ago my dog was about 7 1/2 and I've been using the same product to treat him for about 5 years, however about an hour after treating him this time he started shaking so I turned the shower back on to rinse/dilute the product, fortunately it fixed the problem. I also don't let my birds near my dog for 48 hours and only after I brush him to make sure there is no concentration of the product in his fur as it could be fatal to my dog as well as my birds as they like to preen him. I still use the product, I'm not sure why he had a reaction to the product that one time, I'm just glad I'm the type of caregiver that pays attention. It's common since to me if you apply something and it causes an adverse effect you rinse it off before it causes any damage. Thank you.
EON-54849	5/24/2010 15:40	ACME DOG TREATS	LEG PAIN

Generated at Fri Jun 10 08:33:42 EDT 2022 by Palmer, Lee Anne using JIRA 6.1.3#6158-sha1:unknown.

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog
		Rottweiler	Dog

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Maltese	Dog	7	Pound
10	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	104	Pound
8	Hours	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	124	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
15	Years	Other Canine/dog	Dog	4.8	Pound
5	Years	Akita	Dog	55	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Poodle - Miniature	Dog	23.5	Pound
5	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	14	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Mixed (Cat)	Cat	18	Pound
4	Years	Alaskan Malamute	Dog	102	Pound
9	Years	Alaskan Malamute	Dog	110	Pound
1	Years	Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog	14.4	Pound

Disclaimer: This record contains information submitted to FDA through FDA's established reporting systems. The existence of a report does not, itself, mean the product listed was defective or the cause of an adverse event.

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	Other Canine/dog	Dog	65	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
14	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	159	Pound
8	Years	Pointer - English Pointer	Dog	56	Pound
5	Years	Unknown	Dog	75	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog
11	Years	RagaMuffin	Cat	11	Pound
10	Months	Shar Pei	Dog	40	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Sheepdog - Shetland	Dog	36	Pound
		Domestic (unspecified)	Cat
9	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	8	Pound
7	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	72	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
3	Years	Terrier - West Highland White	Dog	28	Pound
5	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	19	Pound
4	Years	Collie - Border	Dog	30	Pound
16	Months	Collie - Border	Dog	30	Pound
6	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	100	Kilogram

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Pointer - English Pointer	Dog	56	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Pointer - English Pointer	Dog	65	Pound
1.5	Years	Brittany	Dog	60	Pound
1.5	Years	Terrier - Boston	Dog	25	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Weeks		Other Rodents	150	Gram

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Akita	Dog	100	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Siberian Husky	Dog	68	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Poodle - Miniature	Dog	20	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	15	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
16	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	95	Pound
2	Years	American Shorthair	Cat

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	20	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Maine Coon	Cat	13	Pound
18	Months	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
16	Years	Somali cat	Cat	5	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	15.5	Pound
3	Years	Spaniel - King Charles Cavalier	Dog	23	Pound
		Poodle - Toy	Dog

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Mixed (Dog)	Dog
15		Cattle Dog - Australian (blue heeler, red heeler, Queensland cattledog)	Dog	30

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	9.2	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Unknown	Cat	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
1	Years	Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog	5	Pound
14	Years	Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	14	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Basset - Fawn Brittany	Dog	11.5	Pound
3	Years	Terrier (unspecified)	Dog	17	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
3	Years	Poodle - Toy	Dog	9	Pound
7		Domestic Shorthair	Cat

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Spaniel - Cocker English	Dog	29	Pound
4	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	16	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10		Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	22
4	Years	Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog	15	Pound
5	Years	Spaniel - King Charles Cavalier	Dog	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	10	Pound
	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog		Pound
12	Years	Alaskan Malamute	Dog	110	Pound
1	Years	Whippet	Dog	26
7	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	16	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	50	Pound
6	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	15	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	10	Pound
8	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	53	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Unknown	Cat	19	Pound
7	Years	Pinscher - Miniature	Dog	20	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
1	Years	Persian	Cat	7	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
16	Months	Chihuahua	Dog	13	Pound
12	Years	Terrier - Scottish	Dog	20	Pound
18	Years	Unknown	Cat	8	Ounce
18	Years	Unknown	Cat	8	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	85	Pound
1	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	7	Pound
6	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	94	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	8	Pound
9	Years	Terrier - Irish Soft-coated Wheaten	Dog	52	Pound
8	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	23	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Poodle - Miniature	Dog	12	Pound
5	Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	10	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Terrier - Jack Russell	Dog	17	Pound
6	Years	Domestic Longhair	Cat	10	Pound
3	Years	Spaniel (unspecified)	Dog	11	Kilogram
4	Years	Terrier - Boston	Dog	30	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Spaniel - Cocker American	Dog	45	Pound
5	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	65	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	145	Pound
17	Years	Spaniel - Cocker English	Dog	25	Pound
1	Years	Mastiff	Dog	135	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Domestic Longhair	Cat	10	Pound

Disclaimer: This record contains information submitted to FDA through FDA's established reporting systems. The existence of a report does not, itself, mean the product listed was defective or the cause of an adverse event.

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Sheepdog - Shetland	Dog	18	Pound
14		Chihuahua	Dog	6
3	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	8
7	Years	Ragdoll	Cat	13	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	9	Pound
9	Years	Spitz - American Eskimo Dog	Dog	17	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
1	Years	Maltese	Dog	6	Pound
12	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	24	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	40	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Terrier - Bull - Staffordshire	Dog
	3 Years	Shepherd Dog - Australian	Dog	22	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Months	Akita	Dog	54	Pound
12	Years	Spaniel - Springer English	Dog	45	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Terrier - Rat	Dog
7	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	13	Pound
8	Years	Collie - Border	Dog	45	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
	4 Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	5	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Days	Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	17	Gram
11	Years	Dalmatian	Dog	66	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
14		Pinscher - Miniature	Dog	9	Pound
20	Months	Domestic Longhair	Cat	9	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	9	Pound
4	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	17	Pound
		Mixed (Cat)	Cat
8	Years	Spaniel - Cocker American	Dog	128	Pound
8	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	3	Kilogram
6	Weeks	Domestic (unspecified)	Cat

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	40	Kilogram
3	Years	Pug	Dog	18	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
14	Months	Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog	6	Pound
		Mixed (Dog)	Dog
8	Years	Greyhound	Dog	79	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Australian Kelpie	Dog	42	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	American Pit Bull Terrier	Dog	60	Pound
8	Years	Siamese	Cat	16	Pound
3	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	18	Pound
3	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	14	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Bengal	Cat	10	Pound
2	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	110	Pound
7	Years	Pointing Dog - German Short-haired	Dog	70	Pound
8	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	65	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	11	Pound
9	Years	Great Dane	Dog	125	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Poodle (unspecified)	Dog	10	Pound
4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	85	Pound
20	Months	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	45	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Months	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	45	Pound
6	Months	Terrier - Fox Wire	Dog	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Spitz - German Pomeranian	Dog	11	Pound
7	Years	Terrier - West Highland White	Dog	19	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Saint Bernard Dog	Dog	115	Pound
3	Weeks	Wild cat	Cat

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	American Shorthair	Cat

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
13	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	15	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
13	Years	Domestic Longhair	Cat	13	Pound
8	Years	Collie - Rough-haired	Dog	70	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	18	Pound
4	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	15	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Pit Bull	Dog	56	Pound
3	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	65	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	12	Pound
9	Months	Tonkinese	Cat	8	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Terrier - Fox (unspecified)	Dog	20	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Spaniel - Cocker American	Dog	30	Pound
8	Years	Pointing Dog - Hungarian Short-haired (Vizsla)	Dog	70	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Collie - Rough-haired	Dog	70	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Bichon Frise	Dog	15	Pound
7	Months	Beagle	Dog	20	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
3	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	70	Pound
22	Months	Alaskan Malamute	Dog	62	Pound
		Dachshund - Miniature	Dog

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	7	Pound
7	Months	Retriever - Labrador	Dog		Pound
1	Years	Rottweiler	Dog	70	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	65	Pound
2	Years	Pekingese	Dog	12	Pound
8	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	34	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Bengal	Cat	9	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
13	Years	Spitz - American Eskimo Dog	Dog	17	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Spitz - American Eskimo Dog	Dog	38	Pound
7	Years	Spaniel - Cocker American	Dog	29	Pound
1	Years	Pointing Dog - German Short-haired	Dog	60	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Weeks	Shepherd Dog - Belgian Malinois	Dog	10	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Collie - Rough-haired	Dog	78

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
20	Years		Other Mammals	1000	Pound
9	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	65	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	88	Pound
6	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	55	Pound
9		Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	17	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Dachshund (unspecified)	Dog
7	Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	16	Pound
4	Years	Terrier - Silky	Dog	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
14	Years	Colorpoint Shorthair	Cat	3	Kilogram
12	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	70	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	86	Pound
5	Years	Domestic (unspecified)	Cat	15	Pound
4	Years	Terrier - Boston	Dog	12	Pound
3	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	9	Pound
8	Months	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	60	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	26	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Great Pyrenees	Dog	95	Pound
1	Years	Schnauzer - Miniature	Dog	17	Pound
2	Years		Other	25	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5		Collie - Rough-haired	Dog	65
2	Years	Chihuahua	Dog	3	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Portuguese Water Dog	Dog	65	Pound
23	Weeks	Crossbred Canine/dog	Dog	29	Pound
10	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	70	Pound
11	Years	Shih Tzu	Dog	20
8	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	92	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Bengal	Cat	10	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
	3 Years	Poodle - Standard	Dog	35	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Beagle	Dog	60	Pound
6	Years	Domestic (unspecified)	Cat	18	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	84	Pound
3	Years	Pug	Dog	13	Pound
5	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	61	Pound
3	Years	Other Canine/dog	Dog
2	Years	Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog	9	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog	86	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
12	Years	Terrier (unspecified)	Dog	37	Pound
10	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	85	Pound
4	Years	Maine Coon	Cat	8	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	Shepherd Dog - German	Dog
4	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	9	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Domestic Longhair	Cat	12	Pound
5	Months	Pit Bull	Dog	16	Pound
	Years	Unknown	Cat		Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Collie (unspecified)	Dog	40	Pound
8	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	108	Pound
4	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	55	Pound

Disclaimer: This record contains information submitted to FDA through FDA's established reporting systems. The existence of a report does not, itself, mean the product listed was defective or the cause of an adverse event.

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
8	Years	Crossbred Canine/dog	Dog	25	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
4	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	60	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	43	Pound
6	Years	Persian	Cat	6	Pound
4	Years	Bichon Frise	Dog	18

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
11	Months	Domestic Shorthair	Cat	4	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
9	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	90	Pound
3	Years	Unknown	Cat	8	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
2	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	58	Pound
5	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	100	Pound
4	Years	Saint Bernard Dog	Dog	125	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Months	Bulldog	Dog	60	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
		Unknown	Cat
3	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	60	Pound
5	Years	Pointing Dog - Hungarian Short-haired (Vizsla)	Dog	68	Pound
6	Years	Boxer (German Boxer)	Dog	65	Pound
2	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	48	Pound

Disclaimer: This record contains information submitted to FDA through FDA's established reporting systems. The existence of a report does not, itself, mean the product listed was defective or the cause of an adverse event.

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
6	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	60	Pound
3	Years	Dachshund - Miniature	Dog	12	Pound
10	Years	Terrier - Yorkshire	Dog	12	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
5	Years	Terrier - West Highland White	Dog	21	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
14		Basset - Fawn Brittany	Dog	24
6	Years	Domestic Mediumhair	Cat	11	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Mixed (Dog)	Dog	40	Pound
6	Years	Retriever - Golden	Dog	70

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Retriever - Labrador	Dog	163	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
10	Years	Siamese	Cat	2	Kilogram
12	Years	Siamese	Cat	10	Pound
11	Years	American Shorthair	Cat	24	Pound

Age	Age UOM	Breed	Species	Weight	Weight UOM
7	Years	Unknown	Cat	8	Pound
7	Years	Poodle (unspecified)	Dog	15	Pound
		Mixed (Dog)	Dog		